Note.—The delay in making this Return has been occasioned by the illness and death of the late Clerk of the Peace and the appointment of his successor, the latter having received duplicate copy of the order after his appointment.

Where blanks occur, the records do not enable the Town Clerk to fill them up.

24 March 1838.

David Legg, Town Clerk and Clerk of the Peace.

D U N G A N N O N.

Sir,
In reply to your communication of the 20th ult., requiring a return of the number of freemen elected in the borough of Dungannon since May 1831, I have to state that no freemen have been elected in that borough since that date.

I have, &c.

T. Drummond, Esq.

Robert Kingsmore.

This Return is made partly from a Return made by the late clerk of the peace to the Select Committee on Fictitious Votes, Ireland, on 1st March 1837, and partly from the documents that came to my hands from the office of the late clerk of the peace; which, however, do not enable me to complete this Return in every respect.

Note.—The delay in making this Return has been occasioned by the illness and death of the late clerk of the peace' and the appointment of his successor, the latter having received a duplicate copy of the Order on the 5th March instant'

8 March 1838.

David Legg, Clerk of the Peace.

There are numbers of appeals marked at the time when rejected at the registry sessions, but not more than six or seven were brought before the judges for trial; of those few I have no account of the grounds of appeal in all, but a few were for insufficiency of value; some few for want of form in notices, and insufficiency of stamps on leases.

Ballinrobe, 1 January 1838.

Thos. Gildea, Clerk of the Peace.

I have altered the residences of the above-named persons as they appear registered as householders; but I doubt the identity of some of the names returned in the above list, as their residences do not correspond with the registry; and I do not think that Edward Dowling, of Coal-market, and Denis O'Neill, of Staplestown-road, are publicans; and William Whelan, of Borlum, is not resident within the borough of Carlow, and is registered as a freeholder for the county, out of lands and houses at Borlum.

are or hereafter shall be growing, standing or being in or upon the said demised premises, with free liberty to and for the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs and assigns, and her and their servants and workmen, and such other person or persons as the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs or assigns, shall authorize for that purpose, with horses, carts, cars or other carriages, from time to time to enter upon the said demised premises, and to dig, quarry, search for, raise, cut, break, manufacture and carry away the same respectively, or any part thereof; and also excepting and always reserving unto the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs and assigns, and her and their servants and attendants, at all times full and free liberty of hunting, hawking, fishing, fowling and sporting in and upon the said demised premises; To have and to hold all and singular the said demised premises, with their appurtenances (except as before excepted), unto the said Robert Cody, his heirs, executors and administrators (and assigns, in case any alienation shall be consented to in manner hereinafter mentioned), for and during the natural life of the said Robert Cody, the lessee; he the said Robert Cody, his heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, yielding and paying unto the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs and assigns, yearly and every year during this demise, the rent or sum of 23 l. 14 s. sterling, clear, over and above all and all manner of taxes, charges, subsidies, assessments and impositions whatever, ordinary or extraordinary, charged or imposed, or to be charged or imposed, upon the said demised premises in any manner whatsoever (quit-rent and crown-rent only excepted), the said reserved yearly rent to be paid and payable by two even and equal half-yearly payments; that is to say, on every 1st day of November and 1st day of May in each and every year during the said demise, the first payment thereof to be made on the 1st day of November next ensuing the day of the date of these presents. And if it shall happen that the said reserved yearly rent, or any part thereof, shall be behind or unpaid after either of the said days appointed for the payment thereof, that then and as often as it shall so happen it shall and may be lawful to and for the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs and assigns, into the said demised premises, or any part thereof, to enter and distrain, and the distress and distresses then and there found, to take, lead, drive, reap, mow, dig, rear, carry away, impound and remove from off the said premises to some other place for safe keeping, and to place a keeper or keepers thereon, and also to adjourn the sale or sales thereof from time to time, for a convenient and reasonable period, and the same to sell or dispose of for payment and satisfaction of said rent and all arrears thereof, and all costs and charges attending the same; but if no sufficient distress shall be found on the said demised premises, then and in that case it shall and may be lawful to and for the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs and assigns, into the said demised premises, or any part thereof, in the name of the whole, to re-enter, and have again, occupy and repossess and enjoy, as her and their former estate and possession, anything contained in these presents to the contrary notwithstanding. And the said Robert Cody doth hereby, for himself, his heirs, executors, administrators (and assigns, in case any alienation shall be consented to in manner hereinafter mentioned), covenant, promise, grant and agree, to and with the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs and assigns, that he the said Robert Cody, his heirs, executors and administrators (and assigns, in case any alienation shall be consented to in manner hereinafter mentioned), shall and will from time to time, and at all times hereafter during the continuance of this demise, well and truly pay, or cause to be paid, to the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs and assigns, the said reserved yearly rent or sum of 23 l. 14 s. on the days and times and in manner hereinbefore appointed for the payment thereof, fully and clear, over and above all taxes, charges and impositions as aforesaid. And the said Robert Cody doth hereby, for himself, his heirs, executors and administrators (and assigns, if any alienation shall be consented to in manner hereinafter mentioned), further covenant, promise, grant and agree, to and with the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs and assigns, that he the said Robert Cody, his heirs, executors and administrators (and assigns, if any alienation shall be so consented to in manner hereinafter mentioned), shall and will from time to time during this demise grind all such wheat, barley, bere, oats, peas, malt or other grain as shall be upon the said demised premises, or that he or they shall grind for sale, at the mill of Barry, in said county of Longford, and pay the accustomed toll for grinding; and in default thereof, that the said Robert Cody, his heirs, executors and administrators (and assigns, if any alienation shall be so consented to in manner hereinafter mentioned), shall well and truly thereupon pay or cause to be paid unto the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs and assigns, the sum of 10 s. for every barrel of wheat, barley, bere, oats, peas, malt or other grain, which shall be ground elsewhere, contrary to said covenant, and so in proportion for a smaller or greater quantity or measure, as often as the same shall happen. And further, that the said Robert Cody, his heirs, executors or administrators (or assigns, if any alienation shall be consented to as hereinafter mentioned), shall and will during the continuance of this demise, at all times use and manage the said demised premises, and every part thereof, in a good husbandlike manner in all respects, and shall and will lay down with clover, trefoil and grass all and every part of the said demised premises, which now is or hereafter during the continuance of this demise shall be broken up or in tillage, immediately after successive crops shall be grown thereon, and shall not nor will not in any one year, or at any one time, break up, plough or till, or permit to be or have broken up or ploughed in or for tillage more than        acres in the whole of the said demised premises, or grow or permit to be grown more than        successive crops of corn, grain or pulse on any part of the said demised demised premises, under the penalty of 5 l. sterling by the year for each and every acre, and so in proportion for any lesser quantity which shall be broken up, ploughed or tilled, or on which more than successive crops shall be grown contrary to the aforesaid stipulation or covenant, or which shall not so be laid down as aforesaid, in addition to and over and above the said reserved yearly rent, and the other sums herein specified, the said sum and sums, as the case may be, of 5 l. sterling per acre per year, and in so proportion for any lesser quantity, to be paid and recovered, from time to time, for each and every of the breach and breaches of said stipulation or covenant respecting the same, in like manner as the said reserved yearly rent, and with the like powers of distress for the same. And it is hereby declared and agreed upon by and between the parties to these presents, that if the said Robert Cody, his heirs, executors or administrators (or assigns, if any alienation shall be permitted in manner hereinafter mentioned), shall or do, during the continuance of this demise, live or reside in any other place save in and upon the said demised premises, or shall or do in any manner demise, let, sell, assign or mortgage, or in any manner alienate or dispose of his or their right, title, term, estate or interest, or any part thereof, in the said demised premises, or any part thereof, to any person or persons whatsoever, without the leave or consent of the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs or assigns, first had and obtained, in writing under her or their hand and seal, attested by two witnesses, that then the term hereby granted shall from thenceforth cease and determine and become void, as fully and effectually as if the same had expired in the usual way, but at the option or election nevertheless of the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs or assigns, anything herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding; and further, that if the said Robert Cody, his heirs, executors or administrators (or assigns, if any alienation should be consented to as aforesaid), shall happen to be convicted upon any indictment under any law or statute for that purpose then in force in Ireland, to prevent illicit distillation, or upon any indictment for felony or treasonable offence, that thereupon the term hereby granted shall from thenceforth cease, determine and become void, as fully and effectually as if the same had expired in the usual way, but at the option or election nevertheless of the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs or assigns, anything herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding. And the said Robert Cody, for himself, his heirs, executors, administrators (and assigns, if any alienation shall be consented to as aforesaid), doth hereby covenant, promise, grant and agree, to and with the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs and assigns, that he the said Robert Cody, his heirs, executors and administrators (and assigns, if any alienation shall be consented to as aforesaid), shall and will, from time to time, and at all times hereafter during the continuance of this demise, whenever and so often as the said penal sums, or any of them, which are hereinbefore mentioned to be paid in default of grinding at the said manor mill of Barry, as aforesaid, shall become due and payable, shall and will well and truly pay, or cause to be paid, unto the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs and assigns, all and every such sum and sums in respect thereof as shall so become due and payable, without fraud or delay; and that in case any of said last-mentioned sum or sums, or any part thereof, shall be behind or unpaid for the space of 21 days next after the same shall so become due and payable, that it shall and may be lawful to and for the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs and assigns, into the said demised premises to enter and distrain, and the distress or distresses then and there found to take and dispose of, in like manner as hereinbefore mentioned with respect to the said reserved yearly rent, for the payment and satisfaction of all and every such penal sum or sums as shall be then due and payable, together with the costs and expenses attending such distresses. And the said Robert Cody, his heirs, executors and administrators (and assigns, if any alienation shall be consented to as aforesaid), shall and will, during the continuance of this demise, well and sufficiently uphold, preserve, maintain and keep all houses, buildings, barns, offices, gardens, orchards, water-courses, hedges, ditches, walls, drains, trees, plantations, and other improvements whatsoever, which now are or shall at any time during the continuance of this demise be made on the said demised premises, in good and sufficient tenantable order, repair and condition, according to the true intent and meaning of these presents, and shall and will, upon the expiration or other sooner determination of this demise or the term hereby granted, whichever shall first happen, peaceably and quietly leave and deliver up the full and actual possession of the said demised premises, with the appurtenances, and all improvements thereon, in the like order, repair and condition. And the said Robert Cody doth hereby, for himself, his heirs, executors, administrators (and assigns, in case of alienation as aforesaid), covenant, promise and agree, to and with the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs and assigns, that he the said Robert Cody, his heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, shall and will, at all times during this demise, on customary summons to him, her or them given, do suit and service to and at the courts leet and baron that shall from time to time be held in and for the manor of Mosstown, in said county of Longford. Provided always, and it is hereby further declared and agreed upon, that the acceptance or receiving of the said reserved yearly rent, or any gale, or part thereof, by the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs or assigns, or her or their agents or receiver, after any breach or breaches of the covenants, conditions or agreements hereinbefore mentioned, or any of them, shall not (unless by express agreement in writing for that purpose, signed and delivered by the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs or assigns,) be deemed taken or considered as any acquiescence or permission of the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs or assigns, in or for such breach or breaches, or any waiver or abandonment of the right of the said Jane Countess Dowager of Rosse, her heirs or assigns,

PAPERS delivered in by Mr. Edward Rooney, and referred to in his Evidence of 25 May 1838, Question 11730.

THIS Indenture, made the 12th day of February, in the year 1831, between Anthony Lefroy, of Newcastle, in the county of Longford, but now residing in London, esquire, of the one part, and Thomas Cunningham, of , in the county of Longford, farmer, of the other part, witnesseth, That in consideration of the rent and covenants hereby reserved, and hereinafter contained, he, the said Anthony Lefroy, hath granted, bargained, sold, and released, and by these presents doth grant, bargain, sell, release, and confirm, unto the said Thomas Cunningham, in his actual possession thereof now being by virtue of a bargain and sale to him made by the said Anthony Lefroy, for one year, by indenture, bearing date the day next before the day of the date of these presents, in consideration of 5*s.* sterling, and by force of the statute for transferring uses into possession, all that and those that part of the lands of Driminacreeher, situate in the barony of Granard and county of Longford, containing 28 acres, one rood, and 15 perches, and all buildings, houses, and outhouses on the same, now standing or being, together with all and singular the rights, members, and appurtenances thereunto belonging, to have and to hold the said hereby demised premises and every part thereof, unto the said Thomas Cunningham and his assigns, for and during the term of his natural life, yielding and paying therefore and thereout yearly and every year unto the said Anthony Lefroy, his heirs and assigns, the yearly rent or sum of 17*l.* 17*s.* sterling, by two half-yearly payments, on every 25th day of March and 29th day of September, the first payment thereof to be made on the 25th day of March next ensuing the date of these presents. And the said Thomas Cunningham doth hereby for himself, his executors, administrators, and assigns, covenant, promise and agree, to and with the said Anthony Lefroy, his heirs and assigns, that he the said Thomas Cunningham and his assigns, shall and will yearly and every year, during the life of the said Thomas Cunningham, well and truly pay or cause to be paid unto the said Anthony Lefroy, his heirs or assigns, the said yearly rent hereby reserved, on or at the days or times, and in the manner and portions hereinbefore expressed, clear of all taxes, rates, and charges whatsoever, taxed or charged, or hereafter to be taxed, charged or imposed on the said lands and premises, or any part thereof, during the said estate hereby granted. And also that the said Thomas Cunningham, his heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, shall and will from time to time, and at all times during the said estate hereby granted, at his and their own proper costs and charges, uphold, maintain, and keep in good and sufficient tenantable repair all and singular singular the lands, premises, and buildings hereby granted or released, and every part thereof, with the appurtenances, and at the end or other sooner determination of the said estate peaceably and quietly leave and yield up the same unto the said Anthony Lefroy, his heirs or assigns, in such good and sufficient tenantable repair, together with all the fixtures, materials, and things which now are or shall at any time during the said estate be set or affixed within, upon or about the said hereditaments and premises, or any part thereof. And further that he, the said Thomas Cunningham, and his assigns, shall and will, during the said estate hereby granted or released, farm and cultivate the said lands, hereditaments and premises, in a proper and husbandlike manner, and shall not and will not injure or impoverish the same by the want of sufficient limeing or manure to be expended thereon from time to time. And also that he, the said Thomas Cunningham, or his assigns, shall not nor will not, nor will, during the said estate hereby granted or released, assign, convey, dispose of, set, let, underlet, or part with, the possession of the said hereditaments and premises, or any part thereof, or this present indenture, for the whole or any part of the said estate hereby granted or released, without the special licence and consent of the said Anthony Lefroy, his heirs or assigns, in writing first had and obtained for that purpose, under his and their hand and seal respectively; and in case the said Thomas Cunningham, or his assigns, should part with the possession of the said demised premises, or any part thereof, contrary to this covenant, then and in every such case he and they shall pay a rent of 5 l. per acre for every acre, and so in proportion for a less quantity so parted with contrary to the provisions of these presents, to be payable and recoverable from that time in like manner as the original rent hereby reserved. And these presents are on the express condition, that if it shall happen that the said yearly rent hereby reserved, or any part thereof, shall be behind and unpaid for the space of 30 days next after either of the said days appointed for payment thereof, or if the said Thomas Cunningham, his heirs, executors, administrators or assigns, shall fail or neglect to perform, fulfil and keep, all and every the covenants, clauses, provisoes and agreements, by him and them to be observed, performed, fulfilled and kept, according to the true intent and meaning of these presents, then and from thenceforth, in either of the said cases, it shall and may be lawful for the said Anthony Lefroy, his heirs or assigns, to enter into and upon the said messuages, hereditaments and premises, or any part thereof in the name of the whole, and the same to have again, re-possess, retain and enjoy, as his and their former estate and estates, and to evict and expel therefrom the said Thomas Cunningham, his heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, and all other occupiers, if any, of the said hereditaments and premises or any part thereof, anything herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding. And the said Anthony Lefroy, for himself, his heirs, executors and administrators, doth hereby covenant and agree to and with the said Thomas Cunningham, his executors, administrators and assigns, that he the said Thomas Cunningham, and his assigns, paying the said yearly rent hereby reserved in manner aforesaid, and observing, performing and keeping all and singular the covenants and agreements on his and their part and behalf to be performed and kept, shall and may, lawfully and peaceably, have, hold, occupy, possess and enjoy, the said lands, hereditaments and premises, hereby granted or released, with their and every of their appurtenances, for and during the life of the said Thomas Cunningham (determinable, nevertheless, as hereafter mentioned), without any lawful let, trouble or interruption of or by him the said Anthony Lefroy, his heirs or assigns, or any other person or persons, lawfully claiming, or to claim, by, from, or under him, them or any of them. Provided always, and it is hereby agreed and declared by and between the said Anthony Lefroy and the said Thomas Cunningham, that if the said Anthony Lefroy, his heirs or assigns, or other persons entitled to the reversion thereof, shall at any time hereafter be desirous to determine the grant or release hereby made, and shall give notice of such his or their desire unto the said Thomas Cunningham, or his assigns, by any writing to be signed by the said Anthony Lefroy, his heirs or assigns, or other person or persons then entitled to the rent and reversion of the said hereby demised premises, and sent or delivered to the said Thomas Cunningham, or his assigns, or left at the dwelling-house or usual place of residence of the said Thomas Cunningham, or of his family, or of his assigns, at least six calendar months immediately prior to either of the said half-yearly days on which the rent hereby reserved is made payable, then and in such case the estate hereby granted or released shall, upon and from such one of the said half-yearly days as shall next ensue after the expiration of six calendar months from the giving or leaving of such notice in writing, absolutely cease and determine; and it shall in such case be lawful for the said Anthony Lefroy, his heirs or assigns, or other person entitled to the reversion at any time hereafter, to re-enter upon, re-possess and enjoy said lands, hereditaments and premises hereby granted or released accordingly, and as if the estate hereby granted or created had determined by the death of the said Thomas Cunningham, or as if these presents had never been executed. And in case the said Thomas Cunningham, his executors, administrators or assigns, shall be desirous on his or their part to determine the grant or release hereby made, and shall give notice of such his or their desire unto the said Anthony Lefroy, his heirs or assigns, by any writing to be signed by the said Thomas Cunningham or his assigns, and sent or delivered to the said Anthony Lefroy, his heirs or assigns, or left at the dwelling-house of or usual place of residence of the said Anthony Lefroy, his heirs or assigns, at least six calendar months immediately before either of the said half-yearly days on which the said rent is hereby made payable, and shall at the same time pay or tender to the said Anthony Lefroy, his heirs or assigns, or leave at his or their usual place of abode, all rent then due, and also the half-year's rent which would become due on the half-yearly day on which the said Thomas Cunningham, or his assigns, shall so wish to determine the grant or release hereby made, for or in respect of the said messuage, hereditaments, and premises hereby granted in by T. Lefroy, Esq., M.P.

TWO LETTERS delivered in by Thomas Lefroy, Esq., M.P., relating to the Evidence given by the Rev. E. M'Gaver.

My dear Sir,

Lissglassick, 5 June 1838.

I THIS day received your letter of the 2d instant, and am much surprised at the unfounded assertions made by Mr. M'Gaver. Possession of the lands of Curmaglogher, &c., in the Callows, was of course regularly taken under the habere, by the sheriff turning out the inhabitants; but Mr. M'Gaver would, I suppose, have it understood that they were so treated in the month of November, and not allowed to return into their houses. Every one of them did return, and remained till the following spring, when any that removed did so willingly, taking with them at least a year's rent, and whatever they were allowed, from 4*l.* downwards, according to their families. The woman in labour (as stated by Mr. M'Gaver) was walking about when the sheriff and Plant went in; she went out as any other person; and William Plant, of Barry, who was with the sub-sheriff, says he saw her go into the house again; he also says she did not complain to him of being ill, and does not think it possible she could be confined while out. On those lands there were introduced eight Protestant tenants, and nine Roman-catholics were retained; many of those who went away had no land, but merely bog-gardens and cabins. As to the rents of the estate being enforced when they became due, I believe one half-year's rent was generally paid before the other became due in Lord Newcomen's time, as there was no hanging gale on the estate; and it was in the late Lady Rosse's time so expected they should be paid, but how they were enforced you may see, when I tell you as follows: on the townland of Abbeyderig, which is in Mr. M'Gaver's parish, there is due by Roman-catholic tenants at will, viz. by Patrick M'Garl, 42*l.* 15*s.* 2*d.*, being three half-years' rent; by James Ward, 31*l.* 9*s.*, also three half-years' rent; by Thomas York, 74*l.* 19*s.* 2*d.*, being more than three half-years' rent; by John Ratigan, 15*l.* 12*s.* 10*d.*, one year's rent; by James Kenny, 32*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*, being more than two years' rent; by James Reilly and Daniel York, 4*l.* 18*s.* 10*d.*, being one year's rent. I give you the particulars of this townland, as it is in Mr. M'Gaver's parish; he of course knows it to be the fact, and knows as well how true his assertions were. As to the tenants turned out being wealthier and more intelligent than the Protestants, they may be so in Mr. M'Gaver's opinion, but to judge from appearances they were quite the reverse; if they were wealthy they were not honest, for they did not pay their legal debts. I never stated to John Finneran, or any other person, that "not one of his profession should ever get a sod of land from Lady Rosse." How could I; when on the very lands in question Roman-catholics did get farms, and are in possession of them? Of 160 holdings on this estate, near 70 are occupied by Roman-catholics, which the late Countess Dowager of Rosse could have got rid of, was she so disposed; but she never disturbed the honest, industrious man, let him be Roman-catholic or otherwise.

I am, &amp;c.

My dear Sir,

Lissglassick, 14 June 1838.

IN my present state of health sea-sickness would be most injurious to me. At this time I have material business to attend to at the quarter sessions and assizes, and at this time also in getting in rents. If it pleased God to recruit me before the middle of July, nothing could give me greater satisfaction than to be able to attend the Committee.

I remain, &amp;c.

ABSOLUTION. See Illegal Societies. Secret Societies.

Admission of Freeman. See Freemen. Marriage.

Advances to Voters. The money advanced to voters in the Conservative interest of Longford was advanced by way of loan, for the purpose of repairing damages sustained by them, Courtenay 7376-7386.

Affidavits of Registry. Those made by 50 l. freeholders, out of which they register, when sworn before the judge of assize, &c., are administered in the common way in which all affidavits taken before those persons are administered, Daly 15496, 15497—They omit all allusion whatever to possession, Daly 15496-15498—There is no recital of the deed, lease or instrument, in the case of a 50 l. claimant, Daly 15499, 15501.

AGENTS:

1. In Cork.
2. In Longford.

1. In Cork:

The agents of landlords use great exertions to prevent tenants from coming up to vote, Meagher 3883-3891—The decision of the registering barristers at Cork, that they would not receive the evidence of a paid agent, was to exclude the evidence of the whole of the 12 agents employed by the Conservative party to investigate the claims, Barber 6029-6035—All the agents of the Conservative party were respectable and worthy of credit, and of most competent judgment, Barber 6057-6060.

2. In Longford:

A practice prevails amongst them of taking money from tenants by way of bonus for leases, Kelly 14473-14476. 14487-14492—Whether the agents of landlords are in the habit of receiving sums of money over and above the expenses of the lease for setting land, Kelly 14473-14492.

See also Certificates of Registration. Lease Money. Leases.

Agriculture. The Irish farmers have a better knowledge of agriculture now than formerly; they are improving in their knowledge and industry every day, M'Gaver 12081-12088—The system of farming amongst the cotters in Ireland is not very judicious; it is difficult to make them alter their system, M'Gaver 12644-12651—With the exception of the neighbourhood of Dublin, Irish farmers do not spend the same money or take so much trouble in farming as persons in England, M'Gaver 12645.

See also Cultivation. Farms.

Ahern, John. Gardener, Grattan-hill, Cork; registered as a 10 l. householder in 1832; his name appeared in the supplementary valuation; he appealed against it, and his appeal was allowed, Lane 671-675. 681, 682.

Ahern, John. Yeoman, Evergreen-street, Cork; registered as a 10 l. householder in 1832; appealed against the supplementary valuation, and appeal allowed, Lane 683-689.

Ahern, John. Wine and spirit dealer, Dominick-street, Cork; registered as 10 l. householder for Cork in 1832; he was valued at 5 l. in 1828, Lane 897-901. 912, 913—His name was placed on the register because paid agents were not examined, and the barrister would not re-consider his case when other evidence was offered, Barber 6121-6129.

Ahern, Joseph. Victualler at Fair-lane, Cork; his name appears on the register, but not in the valuation; he registered in October 1832 as a 10 l. householder, Lane 637-639—His premises considered as "good value for 10 l.," Gould 3955-3959, 3963-3969—He ought to be valued at 6 l. or 7 l. for local purposes, Gould 4021—Objected to at the first registration for Cork, by the Conservative party; grounds of objection, Barber 6010-6015.

Allen, Mr. Aylmer. His evidence was admitted by Mr. Martley at the registry for Cork, in September 1835; he was a paid agent, and no objection was made to his evidence, Barber 6180-6184.

Allen, Captain William Henry. At the first registration for Cork, the registering barristers refused to receive his evidence because he was a paid agent, Barber 6016-6028.

Andrews, Thomas. Cattle-lane, Cork; registered in 1832 as a 10 l. householder; his name does not appear in the valuation, Lane 647, 648.

Anglesea, Marquis of. No doubt that, either from motives of friendship or some others, he made appointments that are injurious to his friends, Nicholls 10749-10764.—He was not desirous that Lord Forbes should represent Longford in 1832; on the contrary, so far as the Government was concerned, he threw his interest into the other scale, Courtenay 13600-13605.

Anglin, Samuel. Great Britain-street, Cork; 10 l. householder; registered in November 1832; appealed against the supplementary valuation; his appeal allowed, Lane 690-695.

Ann's, St., Shandon Parish, Cork. Amount of rates remitted by the churchwardens of this parish, Casey 6229.—Number of persons excused from rates, Casey 6234, 6235.—List of "waste" and "poor" in this parish, App. i. p. 327, 328.

APPEALS:

1. Generally.
2. Whether Appeals should be allowed against the Decision of the Registering Barrister.
3. In King's County.
4. In Longford.
5. Papers laid before the Committee.

1. Generally:

There is an appeal by the Irish Reform Act in favour of claims rejected, but none against improper admissions, Besnard 118-121.—Circumstances connected with the argument before Baron Pennefather, on appeal relative to the rights of non-resident freemen, Barber 6139-6171.—There is no appeal allowed under the Reform Act against the decision of the assistant-barrister, Courtenay 6843, 6844, 6849, 6852.

2. Whether Appeals should be allowed against the Decision of the Registering Barrister:

Should be allowed from the revising barrister to a judge; very little inconvenience in attending the assizes on appeals, by reason of the distance, Besnard 6275-6282, 6363-6374.—There should be a right of appeal against improper admissions to the register, as well as against improper rejections, Meagher 3781, Barber 6192-6197, Besnard 6275-6282, Fosbery 13218-13221, Battersby 14225.—There should be a power of appeal on both sides, if the present system of registration is to continue, Barber 6192-6197.—There is no difference of opinion amongst the registering barristers, as to the propriety of having an appeal upon admission as well as rejection, Fosbery 13218-13221.—It would be an improvement of the present system of registration, if a right of appeal against the admission of persons improperly registered was allowed, Battersby 14225.

3. In King's County:

Number of appeal cases at the summer assizes for King's County in 1836; in nearly all the cases it was on the ground of value, and result thereof, Battersby 14172-14179.

4. In Longford:

At the first registry great numbers were rejected, and appealed to the judges, but only two cases were tried; one succeeded, the other rejected, Flood 9610-9656.—The judges did not order all the persons of the same class to be admitted; supposed number that registered by reason of that decision, Flood 9618-9638, 9644-9647.—There were a great number of appeals against the decisions of Mr. Fosbery in Longford; only two of them tried, Ternan 10894-10903.—There were 24 appeals against witness's decision, and the judges reversed only one, Fosbery 13019, 13020, 13117-13120.

In appeals on points of law, the registering barrister drew up the case, and submitted it to the barristers on both sides, who agreed to it, if, upon value, it was entered as such, and they made their own selection, Fosbery 13021, 13022.—Appeals entered for the purpose of obtaining the opinion of the judges on the words "beneficial interest;" on the decision of the first case the others were given up, Courtenay 13368-13373.

5. Papers

APPEALS—continued.

5. Papers laid before the Committee :

There were several notices of appeal given in the county of Kerry against the decision of the registering barrister, but none of them were tried, App. iii. p. 509—No appeals from the barrister's decisions in Kilkenny, App. iii. p. 510; in Westmeath, App. iii. p. 521; in Wexford, App. iii. p. 522.

Applotments. In Cork they are made before the warrant to levy the assessment is made, and placed in the vestry-room for inspection; the inhabitants scarcely ever look at them, Lane 563-575.—See also Rates, 1.

Apprentice Boys of Derry. They are said to entertain strong opinions on one side of the questions which agitate Ireland, Battersby 14197. 14205-14208.

See also Schoales, Mr.

Apprentices. See Freemen.

Ardagh, Dean of. Was registered for Longford out of his turn, on the consent of both parties being obtained, Fosbery 12974.

Arley, Peter. Of Kilfenton; registered in 1835; was opposed, and admitted; his vote was objected to before the Committee of 1837, and struck off, Flood 8493-8502. 8505-8517—His beneficial interest was worth from 40*l.* to 50*l.*, Flood 8503, 8504.

Armagh County. Is one of the great linen counties of Ireland, and contains a large Catholic population, Courtenay 7321.—See also Lime.

Arms. Many of the Conservative party, at the election for Cork, in 1835, carried arms, &c.; they were disarmed in open court, Meagher 3892-3898.

See also Cane Swords. Daggers.

Arrears of Rent. The general custom in Ireland, when there is a year's rent due, is for the tenant to go and pay half a year; sometimes there is more due, Flood, 8937, 8938—There were very large arrears of rent due on the Greville estate in 1833, but in consequence of the tenants voting as they did, the agents made them pay up the arrears, Flood 8868-8878. 8883-8887. 8922-8940—In 1833, there was no tenant that did not owe two years' rent, Flood 8922-8926—It was the general practice on that estate to owe two years' rent, and then pay one, Flood 8871-8873—Amount of rent that was allowed to be in arrear on Lady Ross's property in Cashel, M'Gaver 12587-12592—There was a part of Lord Lorton's estate, in Longford, upon which three half-years' rent was due, M'Gaver 12596.

Assassination. Some persons in the employ of Lord Lorton have been assassinated; causes to which attributed; no person has been executed for the murders, M'Gaver 12442-12453.

Assaults. See Cole. Longford. Nolan, Mr., and another.

Assistant Barrister (Longford). At the registering sessions in 1836, the assistant barrister (Mr. French) refused to hear evidence against parties claiming to register, Courtenay 6646-6652—Very great dissatisfaction expressed at his conduct, Courtenay 6653-6657.

Assistant Barristers. See Appeals, 1. Elective Franchise. French, Mr. Inspection of Deeds, &c., 1, 2. Justice, Administration of. King's County. Parol Evidence. Registering Barristers. Tighe, Mr. Witnesses.

Atkins, George. Victualler, Temple Acre, Cork; registered as a ten pound householder; there is no such denomination as Temple Acre in the county, Deeble 5454-5458.

B.

Baker, John Welsh. Wheelwright, Leitrin-street, Cork; registered as a ten pound householder; his name does not appear in any of the valuations of the county, Lane 896.

Baldwin, John William. Nicholas-street, Cork; registered out of premises in Nicholas-street; in 1832 he was valued at 8*l.*, Lane 920.

Baldwin, Mr. Voted at the last election for Cork out of a house he did not reside in; he was one of those called "bucks," Meagher 5018, 5019.

Ballard, Mr. Owner of all the houses in Ballard's-lane; the houses are valued in his name in the supplementary valuation, Young 2340-2346.

Ballinamuck Estate. The property of Lord Lorton; a Protestant placed on this estate was murdered after a month's residence; several Roman-catholic tenants had been put off the estate, though not without remuneration, Courtenay 7270-7274. 7284.

See also Brock, Mr. Cathcart. Cole. Dymond. Moorcroft.

Ballinamuck Parish. List of persons noticed to quit, and served with ejectment process in April 1838, in the town of Ballinamuck, M'Gaver, Ev. p. 272, 273.

Ballyboy (King's County). Lands at Ballyboy are frequently let at 3*l.* and 4*l.* an acre, Daly 15298, 15299.

Ballymahon. Means taken at the sessions held in Ballymahon (for Longford) to prevent the Liberal side coming up to register, Nicholls 10377-10382—The court-house there is very small, and very bad accommodation in it, Fosbery 12972, 12973.

Barber, Osborne Edward. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Has been practising as an attorney in Cork since 1801, 5970-5973—Previous to the passing of the Reform Bill was appointed secretary to the Conservative association for securing a bonâ fide constituency, 5974-5979—It consisted of noblemen and gentlemen, and had agents to attend the registering sessions, 5980, 5981—Number of notices to register at the first sessions; there were only ten days to investigate the claims of the parties, 5982-5989—There were 12 agents of the society; districts and parishes into which they were distributed, 5990-5994—They met with obstructions in the execution of their duty, 5995—Names of the registering barristers, 5997—Difficulties connected with the investigation of claims; arrangements made by the agents, 5998-6005.

On the first day of the sessions the three registering barristers sat together, and then in separate courts, 6006-6009—The first person objected to was Joseph Ahern, of Fair-lane; grounds of objection, 6010-6015—The registering barristers refused to receive the evidence of Captain Allen, because he was a paid agent, 6016-6028—The effect of this decision was to exclude the evidence of the whole 12 agents who had been employed to investigate the claims, 6029-6035—In many cases the Conservatives were unable to make any resistance to the registration, 6036-6039—Case of John Bingham, of Ballinrea, a mere conacre tenant, holding a small cabin, who registered out of house and land, 6040-6049—Three agents for the district to which he belonged were able to give evidence to this effect, but were precluded, 6050-6054.

There was no check upon persons who swore to the value of their property, 6055, 6056—All the agents were respectable, and worthy of credit, and of most competent judgment, 6057-6060—John O'Keefe, a portrait painter, of Cook-street, was admitted by Mr. Gahan to register out of a drawing-room and bed-chamber; he had not the sole use of the hall door, 6061-6072—Mr. Gahan was said to have decided that a lease of 999 years gave the fee, 6074—Forty-shilling freeholders were admitted on the production of affidavits of their former registry, without any questions as to value; reasons assigned for this rule, 6075-6081. 6088-6092—No objections were made by either party to persons of undoubted respectability, 6082-6087—Classes of persons who subscribed to the Cork Conservative Club, 6088-6101—Inquiry was not permitted to be made into the qualifications of forty-shilling freeholders, 6102-6104—Mr. Meagher's statement that very particular evidence was tendered for all parties who claimed to register, is incorrect, 6105-6107—Great pains were not taken to ascertain value before persons were registered, as affirmed by Mr. Meagher, 6108, 6109—Incorrectness of Mr. Gould's statement that the necessary examination was entered into, 6110-6115.

Many persons were put upon the register who had no right to vote, 6116-6120—Joseph Ahern was put on the register because paid agents were not examined, and the barrister would not reconsider his case when other evidence was offered, 6121-6129—Mr. Martley, the assistant barrister, has declared that a person producing his certificate within eight years will be entitled to register for another period of eight years, 6130-6138—Circumstances connected with the argument before Baron Pennefather on appeal relative to the rights of non-resident freemen, 6139-6171—The registering barristers rejected the evidence of the agents without hearing any argument, 6172-6179. 6185-6190—Mr. Martley, at a subsequent registration, admitted the evidence of agents, 6180-6184.

The notices of claims to register should be classified, 6192—An annual revision, and a right of appeal, should be adopted, 6192-6197—A power of giving costs should exist to prevent frivolous objections, 6198-6200—Large places should be divided into districts, and the names arranged alphabetically, 6201-6204—Registering barristers should be appointed by the judges, and the duty of registering separated from the judicial office of assistant barrister, 6205-6214—Mr. Martley, notwithstanding his high character, has not escaped all suspicion of partiality, 6210-6213.

Barrett, Edmund. Merchant, Dominick-street, Cork; registered as a 10*l.* householder; is valued at 8*l.*, Lane 920.

Barrett, Joseph. Wellington-road, Cork; the house out of which he registered is worth about 6*l.*; it is let out to lodgers; he does not reside there, Young 2172-2193—Registered in 1837, Colburn 2185, Meagher 3491—Has never been valued for city purposes, Lane 2193.

Barry, Edward. Spirit-dealer, Church-street, Cork; registered in 1832; he was valued in the supplementary valuation for a store and shop at 5*l.*; he appealed, and his appeal was not granted, Lane 918.

Barry,

Barry, Henry. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Farmer, at Barry's Lodge, within eight miles of Cork, 5595, 5596—Employed in the spring of 1835, by Mr. Callaghan, M.P., to ascertain whether certain parties who had voted at the election had paid their rates, &c., 5597-5599—Evidence on the lists produced by Mr. Lane and Mr. Young of persons not appearing on the rates, those valued under 10 l., and registered as voters for the city of Cork, 5600-5613. 5709-5783. 5802-5810. 5821-5855. 5866-5910—Has always taken an active part in the election of Mr. Callaghan, 5616-5620—Visited several houses in Cork, accompanied by Mr. Meagher and Mr. Gould, since he received his present summons, 5623-5628—Length of time witness was occupied in 1835 in making inquiries as to the value of certain houses, 5629-5641—Formerly resided in the city of Cork as a ship agent; registered out of an office and stores, 5646-5652. 5696-5708—Sources from which witness derived his information as regarded the value of property, 5653-5695.

Instances in which voters have produced their receipts for rates which had been paid immediately previous to their voting, 5785-5791—Cost of building houses in Rawbuck's-lane; they are more valuable than they otherwise would be from its contiguity to the weigh-house; houses ought to realize 10 to 12 per cent. on capital expended, 5855-5865—There can be very little doubt as to the value, generally speaking, of the liberty voters; they are a substantial class, 5911, 5912—The 10 l. household voters in the liberties of the city of Cork are superior to the freemen and 40 s. freeholders as to the value of their premises and general character, 5913-5919—The great body of the freemen resident in the city are a class equally respectable with the country farmers, 5920-5923—Very difficult to register without possessing a bonâ fide qualification from the activity of persons attending the registry, 5924-5929—The only check against persons voting who have ceased to be qualified is the oath that may be administered at the time of voting, 5932-5940.

Barry, John. Ballivo-lane, Cork; his house, &c. is worth about 3 l. a year, including the land, Young 2483-2490—It never was worth 10 l., Young 2492—Registered in 1832, and voted at the three last elections, Colburn 2491.

Barry, Richard. Shoemaker, John-street; registered in 1832 out of a house in John-street; his name does not appear upon any of the valuations, Lane 696, 697.

Barry, Thomas. Paul's-street, Cork; house worth about 6 l. 10 s. a year; he pays 2 s. 6 d. per week for it, Young 2194-2197. 2200-2207—Part of the house occupied by him was taken by the Wide Street Commissioners, for which they paid compensation, Meagher 3492—Registered in October 1832; voted in 1832, 1835, and 1837, Colburn 2198—His name does not appear in the valuation, Lane 2202.

Barry, William. Shoemaker; registered out of a house in George-street, Cork, in November 1832; is valued at 5 l. in 1828, Lane 920.

Barry, William. Dublin-street, Cork; rent paid by him, 5 l. 12 s. 6 d.; value of the house, 6 l.; has not been built since 1833, Young 2129-2131. 2135-2139—He pays 6 l. rent; his house is of doubtful value, Meagher 3457, 3458—Registered in 1836, voted 1837, Colburn 2132—Is not in the valuation, Lane 2134.

Battersby, George. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Barrister, residing in Leeson-street, Dublin; attended the registration of voters in King's County in 1836, as counsel for the Conservative side, 13647-13654—Was engaged by the Liberal party in Wicklow, 13654—Principle on which Mr. Gibson admitted persons to register in King's County, 13666-13674—A great number of persons were put upon the registry in King's County who did not possess a beneficial interest of 10 l. in their farms, 13673-13684—Case of Hugh Carroll, 13684-13721—The greater number of persons who hold small quantities of land generally make out their subsistence otherwise than from the farms they occupy; manner in which it is done in that part of Meath adjoining Cavan, 13717-13732—In King's County, 13733-13735.

Further evidence respecting the value attached by Hugh Carroll to his farm, 13739-13746—Average rent of good land in Meath, 13747-13751—Land in grazing districts, and used for grazing, will produce best; it is not worn out by frequent tillage, 13750, 13751—Value of an acre of oats, 13752—Evidence respecting the quantity of land held by Michael Cassell; produce thereof; expense of cultivation, &c., 13764-13810. 13835-13843—Case of Patrick Dehan, and evidence produced to show the value of his farm, 13844-13866—The registering barrister would not act upon the evidence of persons competent to judge of the value of land in opposition to the oath of the claimant, 13867-13871. 13876-13880—Opinion of the Judges in Ireland on the words "beneficial interest," was such an interest as a solvent tenant could afford to pay 10 l. for, over and above the rent, 13883-13891—In witness's opinion beneficial interest should be an interest of 10 l. over and above the outlay to produce the crop and rent, 13892-13905.

[Second Examination.]—Principle on which different assistant barristers have decided the right to register in Ireland, 13907*-13909*. 14336-14339—Effect of burning land on cultivation, 13909*-13920—Claimants are not precluded from going into evidence to prove that the land was worth more in one year than another, 13924-13932—Case of James Derrivan; quantity of land held by him, 13933-13936. 13967-13969—Of James Gill, 13939-13956. 13976-13982. 13990—Quantity of land held by Mr. Dwyer, one of the witnesses to value in the case of James Derrivan, 13970-13975—Mr. Gibson's opinion that the franchise ought to be very much extended, and that such was the intention of the Legislature in passing the Reform Bill, 13998-14001.

Mr. Gibson's views as regards the extension of the franchise; he invariably applied the same rule in his decisions to both parties, 13997-14011—The refusal of assistant barristers to allow the inspection of leases, &c. prevents counsel from making many objections, and allows the introduction of fictitious votes which would otherwise be detected, 14014-14027—Witness considers that he had as much right to inquire into the title of a person claiming to register as he would have in cases of ejectment, 14030-14045—Registering of small landholders without inspection of their leases would have the effect of increasing the number of the Roman-catholic constituency in the midland counties; evidence thereupon, 14046-14062—No part of the judicial investigation at the registry to inquire whether a man was a Protestant or a Roman-catholic, 14051-14053. 14060-14062.

Case of Thomas Murray, 14063-14087—Of James Mackins, 14088-14120. 14130-14138—Case of Mr. Burke, who was rejected; the same objection being urged against another person, he was admitted, 14142-14165—Further evidence respecting the case of James Mackins, 14166-14171—Number of appeal cases at the summer assizes of 1836 at Maryborough; grounds thereof, and result of them, 14172-14192—Examination as to the politics of Mr. Schoales, the registering barrister of King's County, 14196-14211—Orange papist is a term much more accurately ascertained than the general term Orangeman, 14212-14221—Present system of registration encourages perjury, and brings the administration of justice into disrepute and contempt, 14422-14424. 14233-14235—It would be an improvement of the present system if a right of appeal against the admission of persons improperly registered were allowed, 14225—A revision of the list would have the effect of removing a vast number of persons who ought never to have been placed on the register, 14226-14228.

Great expense is thrown upon the Conservative party under the present system if they wish to have a fair inquiry, because they must always appeal to the House of Commons, 14229-14234—The whole elective franchise depends upon the discretion of the assistant barrister; nothing can be more undefined than the present franchise by the present law, 14236—The opportunity for litigation and perjury would be taken away to a considerable extent if the franchise were clearly defined, 14241-14251—Defining it at 20*l.* would be unreasonable, and exclude many who ought to have a right to vote; 10*l.* would be a fair amount, 14246-14252—Under the present system, if a landlord compels his tenants to vote with him he is in some instances shot, 14256-14264—Many cases in which landlords would make their tenants vote for them were it not on that account, 14263, 14264.

In many parts of Ireland labour is plentiful but employment scarce, 14268-14270—The Roman-catholic clergy of Munster, Leinster, and Connaught exercise a considerable elective influence over the members of their flocks, 14272-14275—Further evidence respecting the encouragement given to perjury, &c., from the present system of registration, 14279-14302—Repeated instances in which persons offer 10*l.* profit to a claimant without any intention of ever completing it, merely for the purpose of enabling him to swear that he has been offered that sum, 14281-14290—No point on which surveyors differ so much as in valuing land; a surveyor brought up generally goes further than he ought to do for the party producing him, 14290-14295—Any investigation of value must be open to difficulty; the least objectionable is what it would let for in the market between landlord and tenant, 14295—The rating standard would be the best, 14296-14315—Total amount of tithe composition in Ireland, 14315—Amount of tithe composition in Kilkenny; average rent of land on which it was paid, 14316-14321—The office of assistant barrister is a very important office in the administration of justice in Ireland, 14322-14325—Investing him with the functions of registering votes, &c., has destroyed all confidence in the administration of justice as administered by him, 14326-14330—Great advantage to divest a person holding a judicial office from that political duty, 14331-14335.

Belfast, Borough of. Return of the number of applications made to the Excise-office by parties appearing as electors on the registries, desirous of obtaining spirit licences, and stating their premises to be under the value of 10*l.* yearly, specifying the names of the parties, and whether or no their requests have been complied with, App. iii. p. 618.

Belgin, James, of Rencoula (Longford). Quantity of land held by him, and rent thereof; was placed on the register of Longford in 1832, and struck off by the Committee in 1837, Flood 8624-8632*—It is some of the best land in the barony; quantity of stock kept by him; he has since sold his interest in it for 75 l., Flood 8634-8643.

“ BENEFICIAL INTEREST : ”

1. Generally.

2. Opinions relative to the construction of the words Beneficial Interest.

1. Generally:

These words were introduced into the Reform Bill at the suggestion of Mr. Lefroy, Courtenay 6743, 6744—An industrious tenant holding a farm under 30*l.* rent in Longford could support his family and lay by 40*l.* a year, Clogher 9865-9872—On most of the farms which witness estimated the tenants had a beneficial interest of above 10*l.*, Clogher 9958-9961—Witness has never been called on to value beneficial interests in land till since the Reform Bill, Clogher 10274-10300—There is not the same means of ascertaining the beneficial interest in a lease as there is in the case of land, Daly 15465.

2. Opinions relative to the construction of the words Beneficial Interest:

Opinion of Mr. Tighe, that a tenant having a beneficial interest in premises to the amount of 10*l.* has a proper qualification to place him on the register, Courtenay 6740-6742—In consequence of this decision many persons gave notice to register who would not have done so before, Courtenay 6745-6747—Mr. Tighe's principle was to make it depend upon the opinion of the individual occupant, and not upon the market value of the commodity, Courtenay 6990*-6999*. 7007.

Witness's construction of the term “ beneficial interest,” as occurring in the Reform Act, that the person has a real interest of 10*l.* a year above the rent paid, Courtenay 6983-6999. 7010-7020. 7032-7050—What the land would produce by being properly tilled, Flood 8416—The amount of a man's beneficial interest in Longford depends in some degree upon his age and strength, and the number of his family capable of assisting him in his labour, Courtenay 6988-6992, Flood 9090-9092—The beneficial interest of a tenant depends upon the quality of the land as well as the rent paid, Flood 9353, 9354.

Beneficial interest in a farm is what the farm is able to produce, deducting from it the expense of labour, price of seed, &c., Clogher, 9850-9862. 9872-9883—The legal meaning of the term is what would be given as an additional rent, not what would support a family, after paying the expense of cultivation, &c., Fosbery 13140-13155—The opinion of the judges on these words was, such an interest as a solvent tenant could afford to pay 10*l.* for, over and above the rent, Battersby 13883-13891—It should be such an interest of 10*l.* over and above the outlay as would produce the crop and rent, Battersby 13892-13905.

Persons possessed of five acres of good land at three guineas an acre would have a 10*l.* beneficial interest, Flood 8646-8652. 8662-8666—A man with ten acres of good ground may support his family upon its produce; every thing will depend upon the land and the rent, Flood 9456-9465—Persons might have a beneficial interest of 10*l.* upon two acres of land under cultivation of either potatoes or oats, Flood 9508-9523. 9529-9535—Any person holding a certain amount of land, paying rent and taxes, and supporting himself and family therefrom, has a beneficial interest, such as is contemplated by the Reform Act, Nicholls 10681-10688—In witness's calculation of the beneficial interest of a tenant he has adopted the principle of conacre, Flood 9128-9132—By taking land in conacre instead of in crop the beneficial interest is diminished; proportionate difference 1*l.* to 1*l.* 10*s.* an acre, Flood 9382-9389.

Berwick, Mr. See Fosbery, Mr.

Besnard, J. C. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Town-clerk of Cork, 1-6—Attends every registry sessions to produce documents for authenticating the right of freemen, 7—Classes of the Cork constituency, 7-10—The grand panel is now considered conclusive of a person being a freeman, 12—The first registration was held in October 1832; Mr. Moody, Mr. Willis, and Mr. Gahagan presided, 16-18—They first sat together to lay down certain principles, and then each took a portion of the alphabetical list of claimants, 19-24—Parliamentary boundaries of the city, 25-31—Area; number of townlands, 32-37—Number of notices given; the list published ten days before the registration; impossibility of investigating the rights of claimants, 38-42—The names of freemen, freeholders, and householders were promiscuously inserted in this list; the townlands not always specified, 43-47—Complaints were made of the confused nature of the list, 48-51—Names were called without reference to their place of residence, 52, 53.

There is no annual revision of the register even to strike off the names of dead persons; penalties on persons voting who have parted with their qualification, 54-62—Some persons register as householders, freeholders, and leaseholders, 63, 64—Persons of the same name further embarrass the list, 65-67—Number of claimants, and number registered, 68, 69—The having three booths increased the difficulty of objecting to votes, 70-80—Registrations in the city and county of Cork; some persons have had to go to

Kanturk to register, 86-92—There is a recorder's court at Cork which sits weekly, with civil and criminal jurisdiction to any extent, 93-104—It gives great satisfaction, 105-110—The registry should be made there, 111—The expense of going to Kanturk to register is unnecessary, and greatly complained of, 112-117—There is an appeal by the Irish Reform Act in favour of claims rejected, but none against those admitted, 118-121—Many persons are on the register who are not included in the city valuation as having 5*l.* houses, 122-134—Mode in which the premises outside the line separating the liberties from the suburbs are assessed; effect of the Grand Jury Act upon the Local Act, 135-143.

Duties of the treasurer in the applotment, 144-146—In the city and suburbs the taxation is upon houses; in the liberties the taxation is by ploughlands, 147, 148—The last valuation before the Reform Act was in 1828, 149-151—The next was taken in 1832, immediately after the first registration, by order of the grand jury, 152-156—Houses are exempted from taxation if let out in tenements to poor persons, or if waste or unoccupied, 157-161—The oath as to the payment of rates required by the Reform Act may be taken by persons whose taxes have been remitted by the grand jury, 162-171—Many so circumstanced have exercised the elective franchise, 172-181—Houses are generally assessed below their value, 182—Certificates of registry are produced by persons coming to vote, 183-185—There are many freemen; several country voters cannot sign their name, nor speak English, 186-196—The same oath is taken on voting as at the registration, with respect to the payment of rates, 197-201—Mode in which the grand jury examine claims to exemption from municipal taxes, 202-208—Circumstances under which appeals may be made to the grand jury against the valuation, 211-218.

The confusion of the register occasions great expense and vexation to the candidates, 219-222—The number of booths adds to the expense, 223-225—There were 10 booths at the last Cork election; at a former election the voters at one of the booths were not all polled, 226-234—The arrangement at the election is subject to the same confusion as the registration, for want of district classification, 235—The English law respecting the registration and election should be adopted, 236-247—The list should be revised annually as respects deaths and parting with qualifications, 248-251—The names should be furnished, as in England, by a public officer, and written notices of objection required, 253—The register remaining in force for eight years, this check is the more necessary, 254-257—Opinions as to raising or lowering the franchise; ignorance of some of the Cork constituency, 258-275—Many forty-shilling freeholders have been improperly admitted to the register, not being possessed of 40*s.* above their rent, 276-282.

Freedom is obtained by birth and servitude; no property qualification is required, 285-291—Roman-catholics are sometimes admitted to the freedom, but not at all in proportion to the Catholic population, 292-297—Very few freemen have been admitted by special favour since the Reform Act, 298-301—The grand juries are nominated by the sheriff; there never has been a Roman-catholic sheriff, 302, 303—Influence of the Friendly Club in the nomination of the sheriff, 310-317—Construction of the charter; whether the mayor must have been sheriff, 318-323—No Roman-catholic has ever been a member of the Friendly Club, 324-330—The sheriff is elected by the court of D'Oyer Hundred; the freemen might out-vote the Friendly Club, but never have, 331-341—Applications have been made to the King's Bench to set aside election of mayor; the legality of the bye-law has been maintained, 342-352—Origin of the Friendly Club, 353—Common council, how constituted; election and functions of the common speaker, 354-367—Salary of the mayor; persons are desirous of being sheriffs in order to become eligible to the mayoralty, 368-373.

The valuers may not have assessed all houses at 5*l.* which are worth as much, but they would not have omitted in their list any so high as 10*l.*, 374-383—Imperfect specification of residence by claimants in the liberties of Cork, 384-394, 449, 450—They are not required by any section of the Reform Act to specify the townland or parish, 395-403—The schedule is not referred to in the Act, and the form there prescribed is disregarded, 404-417—The recorder is elected for life by the freemen, 418, 419—Number of freemen resident and non-resident; none are considered non-resident within seven miles, 420-430—Freemen are not admitted to the grand panel until they are sworn, 431-439—Further examination as to the reference made in the Reform Act to the schedules; it applies to registrations subsequent to 1832, 440-445—Number of parishes, or parts of parishes, in the city and liberties of Cork, 446-448.

[Second Examination.]—Explanation relative to the valuation and assessment of his own house, 5008, 5009.

[Third Examination.]—The principle of the English law should be adopted in all cases in the Irish registry, 6246—Difference in the two countries with respect to the constituencies of counties; of cities, 6247-6257—The liberties should either be transferred to the counties, or the voters should vote for the city on a county qualification, 6258-6261—The inhabitants of the city and liberties of Cork are anxious for such a measure, measure, 6262-6264—The registration should be severed from the functions of assistant barristers, and revising barristers should be appointed by the judges, 6265-6270. Frauds that may be committed in the registration at Cork, 6271-6274—Species of revision that should be established; an appeal to the judge of assize should be allowed against improper admissions, 6275-6282—Suggestions forwarded to the Government by the corporation of Cork during the progress of the Reform Bill, 6284-6294—Officers in cities and towns who might perform the same duties as overseers in England in making out the lists of voters, 6295-6302. 6332.

Rating should be the test of value, 6303-6307—The register and polling should both be parochial, and not, as at present, according to initials, 6308-6310. 6313-6322—In towns where there are no officers to furnish lists of persons who pay rates, the revising barrister should take the 60th section of the Poor Law Bill as the standard of value, 6311, 6312—Each man should have a right to vote immediately after the registry, but should have been 12 months in possession before he registered, 6324—The rates should be required to be paid on a particular day, as in England; inconveniences that would be removed, 6325—Time would be saved at the registry by not hearing barristers, but no other persons are capable of eliciting the facts, 6326-6329—The establishment of county gazettes would be desirable, 6333, 6334.

Many persons in the liberties of Cork have not a county qualification, and would be disfranchised if that were made necessary, 6335-6349—This class are not a desirable constituency, 6350-6355—There would be inconvenience in attending the assizes on appeals from distant parts of the county, 6362-6374—Freemen should be required to pay rates, 6377—Marks should be made to show such persons as have registered more than once for different qualifications, 6380-6383.

The revising barrister should be enabled to reserve special points of law for the decision of the Court of Queen's Bench in Dublin; this would produce uniformity, 6384-6392—The power given to fifty-pound freeholders to make affidavits without question as to value, may lead to the registry of improper persons, 6393, 6394—The polling both for counties and towns should be limited to one day, 6395-6398—There would be less excitement, and rioting, and bribery, 6399-6402—A Sunday should never intervene between the nomination and day of polling, 6403, 6404.

Bingham, John. Of Ballinrea (Cork); registered in 1832 out of house and land; he is a mere conacre tenant holding a small cabin, Barber 6040-6049, Colburn 6045.

Birr. The population of Birr is equal in number to that of Tullamore; it is the property of Lord Rosse, Daly 15196.

Blarney Lane, Cork. Is remarkable for being the dwelling-place of the men that work in the merchant cellars, and they are much better off than the people in most other neighbourhoods, Meagher 3013-3015.

Boland, Patrick, Shaw's Dock. House occupied by him is worth about 6*l.* per year; in very bad condition, Young 2208, 2209. 2211-2218—He registered in 1837, Colburn 2210.

Booths. The number of booths add to the expense of elections; there were ten booths at the last Cork election; at a former election the voters at one of the booths were not all polled, Besnard 223-234—Advantage that would arise from having those letters in which there are a very large number of electors divided and arranged in districts, Meagher 3914-3922—At all elections a sufficient number of booths ought to be erected, so as to enable the whole constituency to be polled, Deeble 5522-5526—Should be provided for every 200 electors, Lane 4606.

See also Registration, I. 1.

Boucher, Mr. Deputy clerk of the peace for Longford; he admitted to witness that there were duplicate certificates taken out at the registration in 1832; examination thereon, Flood 8232-8255.

Boyce's Street, Cork. Was not included in the valuation of 1828; it consists of newly-built houses, several of which were brought into the supplementary valuation, Lane 884.

Bradshaw, Mr. See Dooner, Hugh.

Brady, John. Registered for Cork out of house in Nicholas-street in 1832; he was valued at 5*l.*, Lane 920.

Brady, Philip. Of Langhill; his name was struck out of the register for Longford by the Committee of 1837, Clogher 9893-9895—Quantity of land held by him; value thereof about 2*l.* 8*s.* per acre; he could pay 15*s.* an acre more rent, and get a very handsome profit, Clogher 10043-10078.

Bremacombe, Stephen H. Accountant (Watercourse, Cork); registered in November 1832; he was valued at 9*l.*, Lane 920.

Bribery (Longford). Evidence respecting the bribery supposed to have taken place at the last Longford election, Courtenay 7364-7398—Neither of the candidates (Conservative) at Longford were aware of the money being advanced to voters, Courtenay 7387, 7388—Witness had two or three good cases of bribery against the sitting members for Longford if the Conservatives had thought it worth while to go on with their petition, Courtenay 7391-7398.

Quantity of land held by Roarke; average value thereof, 9802-9816—Beneficial interest possessed by him in this farm, and manner in which calculated, 9817-9825—Mode of valuing a farm between landlord and tenant, and evidence thereon, 9826-9846—Beneficial interest in a farm is what the farm is able to produce, deducting from it the expense of labour, price of seed, &c., 9850-9862—An industrious tenant, holding a farm under 30 l. rent in Longford, could support his family, and lay by 40 l. a year, 9865-9872—Further evidence respecting the beneficial interest of persons in the farms valued by witness, 9872-9883—A farm of 22 acres would fully occupy the time of three persons during the whole year, 9884-9892.

[Second Examination.]—Delivers in a list of the names of persons who were struck off the register for Longford by the Committee of 1837, and whose holdings are marked in the maps produced by him, 9893-9898—Particulars respecting the holding of John Farrell, and examination thereon, 9901-9949—Has attended the registry on one occasion, for the purpose of giving evidence as to the value of property; cannot say whether it is the practice of claimants to put the value of their premises high or low, 9950-9955—In the maps produced witness only sketched round, and showed the position of the boundaries, and the part where the tillage was situated, 9956—In most of

of the farms which witness estimated the tenants had a beneficial interest of above 10*l.*, 9958-9961—Case of Daniel Cunningham, and examination thereon, 9962-9991—Wages paid for labour per day in the country parts of Ireland, with and without diet, 9993-10000—Case of Michael Reynolds, 10001-10042; of Philip Brady, 10043-10078—Further examination respecting the land occupied by Gellacy, and the buildings erected thereon, 10086-10102.

[Third Examination.]—Number of days a person cultivating a farm of 21 acres must necessarily, without having other assistance, be employed, 10103-10125—There is no labour required in attending grazing cattle; it is usual, on 20 acres, to have a herd to look after them, generally a child, 10126-10129—The lands in the barony of Granard are a very fine description of land; average value per acre, 10140-10153—Amount of Brady's beneficial interest in his farm, 10154-10166—Examination as respects the difference between the beneficial interest possessed by Roarke and Brady in their respective farms, the one being very good, and the other not so good land; mode of calculation, and deductions made therefrom, 10167-10267—In valuing farms, witness generally allows five per cent. for the wear and tear of stock of any description, 10268-10273.

Has never been called on to value beneficial interests in land till the present time, 10274-10300—Further calculation as to the beneficial interest possessed by Brady in his farm, 10301-10316—In calculating the beneficial interests of Brady and Roarke, witness has allowed a very low average for the produce per acre, 10323-10325—There is not much difference in the tillage land of both; poor land will produce two barrels of oats, and very good land will produce very little more, 10326-10330—The cultivation of bad land is the most expensive, 10331-10336—Further evidence as regards the calculation of the beneficial interest of Roarke, 10337-10353.

Clonmel, Borough of. Return of the number of applications made to the Excise-office by parties appearing as electors on the registries, desirous of obtaining spirit licences, and stating their premises to be under the value of 10*l.* yearly, specifying the names of the parties, and whether or no their requests have been complied with, for this borough, App. iii. p. 617.

Closhmartle, Cork. Several of the persons who register as of Closhmartle live at Carri-grohan, Deeble 5475-5477.

Cody, John. His qualification was impeached as insufficient before the Longford Committee of 1837, and was given up by the counsel as not being sustainable, Gardiner 8020-8022. 8030-8033—He voted at the last election for Longford, Gardiner 8024-8026.

Coffee, John. Mason, Stephen-street; registered for Cork in November 1832; he is valued on the supplementary valuation at 6*l.*, Lane 922.

Coghlan, Patrick. He was admitted to the register for King's County on swearing that he had a beneficial interest of 10*l.* above his rent, Kelly 15050-15053.

Colburn, John. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Clerk of the peace for the city of Cork since 1831, 1174, 1175—Number of persons appearing on the registry, including non-resident freemen, 1184-1188—Non-resident freemen voted at the last election, and also at the elections in 1832 and 1835, 1189-1192—Names struck from the register by order of the House of Commons in 1836, were reinstated under the authority of Mr. Martley, the revising barrister, 1193-1201—Witness struck the names out of the list without consulting Mr. Martley, who approved of what he had done, 1205-1216—Number of persons on the register that have signed their affidavits as marksmen, 1218-1233—Impossible to distinguish from the original documents how many persons have registered more than once, 1234-1247—Different places at which persons can register for Cork, 1234—Persons are frequently registered as freemen, freeholders, and householders, 1246.

[Second Examination.]—Instructions received by witness from Dublin Castle relative to certain returns required by the Committee on Fictitious Votes, Ireland, and of his answer thereto, p. 66, 67.

Great inconvenience arises from the way in which the registries are at present effected, 1262-1271—A shilling should be paid on giving notice to register; at present there are always a larger number of notices than registries, 1272-1277—The non-resident freemen of Cork are a highly respectable class, 1278, 1279—Some of them may have a local interest in the city, 1280, 1281—If the lists of claimants were made out with reference to parishes or districts, the labour of identifying parties would be diminished, 1282-1290.

Difficulty and expense of preventing personation or fraud at the polling-booths by reason of the alphabetical arrangement of the names, 1291-1303—It would be convenient to witnesses on all sides if the claimants were classed as to the locality, 1304-1307—Mr. Gahan was one of the registering barristers in 1832, 1308-1312—Circumstances connected with an alteration, made by his sanction, in the affidavit of a forty-shilling freeholder, named William Sheehan, 1313-1353—Witness believes that some persons who could write appear in their affidavits as marksmen, not with a view to commit fraud, but to expedite the registry, 1354-1380—There are well-informed country persons who cannot write, 1381-1383.

[Third Examination.]—Number of non-resident freemen appearing on the register; number who polled at the last election, 3926-3930—The great majority of them have no connexion with the city of Cork, so as to have any local interest in it, 3933-3942.

Cole, —. A tenant on the Ballinamuck estate; he was beaten in a most cruel manner; his life was placed in jeopardy in consequence of that maltreatment, Courtenay, 13510-13511.

Coleman, Jeremiah. Shoemaker, Blarney-lane; registered for Cork, in November 1832, as a ten-pound householder; was valued at 8*l.* in 1828, Lane 922.

Coleman, John. Farmer, Ballygarvin, Cork; registered out of house and land in November 1832; there is no such denomination of land as Ballygarvin in the city or liberties of Cork, Deeble 5286-5289.

Coleman, Patrick. Farmer, Ballinrin, Cork; registered out of house and land in November 1832, Colburn 5303—Witness never heard of such a denomination of land either in the city or suburbs, Deeble 5302. 5304-5307.

Collins, Cornelius. Accountant, Dominick-street; registered for Cork in October 1832; he was valued at 5*l.* in 1828, Lane 920—His house stated in the valuation of 1828 as "ruins, office and stores," Lane 920.

Collins, Cornelius. Shopkeeper, Blarney-lane; registered for Cork in 1832; he was valued at 5*l.* in 1828, Lane 920.

Collins, John. Glassblower, Douglas-street; registered for Cork in November 1832; his name is not in any of the valuations, Lane 748—The house at present occupied by him appears in the valuation of 1828 in the name of James Coveney, White-street, it being at the corner of both streets, Gould 4290.

"Collops." Explanation of the term "collops," as used in King's County; number of sheep considered as equivalent to one "collop," Battersby 13766-13772. 13775.

Colquhoun, Mr. Circumstances connected with the charge of partiality made against the revising barrister for Longford by him; explanation thereof, Fosbery 12951-12953—He threw up his brief, and left the registry court; he afterwards resumed it, Nicholls 10695-10709—He did not throw up his brief at Ballymahon; he left the registry court there for a day or two; he was very strong in his language on one or two occasions, Fosbery 13067-13070. 13127-13129.

See also Longford County. Registering Barrister.

Commonage, Right of. In King's County the right of commonage is never taken into consideration in calculating the qualification of a claimant to register unless it is particularly mentioned in his lease, Daly 15220-15224.

Compensation. See Cashel.

Competition. See Land.

Conacre, Longford. Very general practice in Longford to let the land in conacre, Flood 9136-9140.—See also "Beneficial Interest." Potatoes.

Conby, Michael. Of Killmanika; he voted as a ten-pound freeholder for Longford in 1835 and 1837; he voted out of lands in the neighbourhood of Rusky; his qualification ceased previous to 1832; it depended upon the life of his father, Ternan 10826-10834—He voted on both occasions for the Conservative candidates, Ternan 10834. 10864. 10866—Further evidence thereon, Ternan 10935*-10943.

Connaught. See Roman Catholic Clergy.

Connell, Denis. Blarney-lane, Cork; he was valued in 1828 at 10*l.*; registered in 1832, although not returned as "rateable" till the summer of 1836, Lane 1104-1107.

Connell, Patrick. Brogue-maker; registered out of house and yard in Barrack-street, Cork; his name is not in any valuation, Lane 747.

Connell, Patrick. Musical-string maker, Hanover-street; registered for Cork in November 1832; he is valued at 8*l.* in 1828, Lane 922.

Connor, John. Publican, Blarney-lane; registered for Cork in 1832; he stands at 7*l.* in the valuation of 1828, Lane 922.

Connor, Peter. Of Cashel; he was dispossessed in 1833 of property which he held under Lady Ross; amount of compensation allowed him, McGaver 12414.

Conroy,

Conroy, Bartholomew. Harness-maker, Tuckey-street; registered for Cork in 1832; he is valued at 6*l.* in 1828, Lane 921.

Conry, James, of Cashel. Was dispossessed in 1833 of property which he held under Lady Ross; amount of compensation allowed him, M'Gaver 12414.

Constituencies. See Cork. Electors, 1.

Conway, Heren. He was admitted to the register for King's County, though objected to for want of value; he swore he had a beneficial interest of 10*l.* above the rent paid by him, Kelly 15050-15053.

Cook, Amos. Was apprenticed in October 1830; admitted a freeman in May 1837, consequently he had not been seven years an apprentice, Meagher 4900—His indenture was enrolled in April 1830, therefore it must have been dated in October 1829, and not 1830, as appears on the roll, Besnard 4901.

Cooke, Edmund. Gentleman, Sunday's-well; registered for Cork in 1832; he is valued at 5*l.* in 1828, Lane 922.

Cooney, John. Cabinet-maker, Dingle-lane, Cork; registered in October 1832; does not appear in the valuation, Lane 741—He pays 8*l.* a year rent; has occupied his house ten years, and it is worth 20*l.* to him, Gould 4272-4274.

Cooney, Michael. Cooper, Douglas-street; registered for Cork in 1832; he was valued at 8*l.* in 1828, Lane 921.

Copyholders. They must be in possession of property of 10*l.* value; but very little is known of copyholders in counties in Ireland, Courtenay 6414, 6417, 6418.

See also Longford County.

Corban, William. Shoemaker, Peter's Church-lane, Cork; registered in 1832; does not appear in any of the valuations, Lane 751.

Corcoran, John. He was rejected in October 1826 for non-production of his lease; he had not applied to his landlord to produce the counterpart, Daly 15136-15140.

Corcoran, Thomas. Corn-broker, Blarney-lane; registered for Cork in 1832; he stands at 5*l.* in the valuation of 1828, Lane 922.

CORK CITY, AND COUNTY OF THE CITY:

1. Generally.
2. Constituency of Cork, their Character, &c.
3. Valuation of, for the purposes of Taxation.
4. Papers laid before the Committee.

1. Generally:

There is a recorder's court at Cork, which sits weekly, with civil and criminal jurisdiction to any extent; it gives great satisfaction, Besnard 93-110—Number of parishes or parts of parishes in the city and liberties of Cork, Besnard 446-448—No city throughout Ireland in which improvements have been so great as those of Cork, Meagher 4668-9—Parliamentary boundaries of the city of Cork; area; number of townlands, Besnard, 25-37—Number of different denominations of land in the north and south liberties of Cork, Deeble 5236, 5237—Population of the rural districts of Cork are mostly farmers, and those that are within the liberties are generally traders, gentlemen, and professional men, Deeble 5542—Very few persons in the adjacent parts of the county to the city that do not speak English, Deeble 5546—Statement of the number of the respective initial letters of the names of voters of the county of the city of Cork appearing on the registry, up to January 1838, Ev. p. 252.

2. Constituency of Cork, their Character, &c.

Number of claimants to register above 8,000, Besnard 25. 68, 69, Barber, 5982-5989—Number registered, Besnard 68, 69, Lane 623-631, Colburn 1184-1188—There were only ten days to investigate the claims of the parties, Barber 5982-5989—Constituency of Cork varies from 4,300 to 4,700, Meagher 2825, 2826—The poor freemen in Cork are a very depraved order of the community; they ought to be disfranchised, Meagher 3808-3825—Persons registering in the liberties out of land are decidedly the best class of voters, Meagher 3830—The number of freemen must always control the freeholders, the latter being a divided while the former are a concentrated force, Meagher 4617-4619—Voters should be classed as householders, respectable freemen, forty-shilling freeholders, and the working portion of the freemen, Meagher 4651-4654.

3. Valuation of Cork, for the purposes of Taxation:

Great number of houses in Cork above 10*l.* value that are not paying rates, Lane 949. 954-965, 976—Evidence respecting the value of certain houses belonging to individuals who had registered as 10*l.* householders, Young 1414-1473. 1477-1586—Further evidence thereon, Young 1597-1622. 1631-1681. 1688-1978. 1983-2285. 2325-643.

2517, Meagher 2898-2950. 2971-3018. 3056-3517—In valuing these houses, witness has placed the outside value that any landlord could get for them, Young 1587-1596—Valuation, as compared with the rent, is no criterion of the value, Meagher 2810-2815—Great difference of opinion prevails as to the effect of the last Grand Jury Act in Cork, Young 2700-2711—The most liberal construction was always given by grand juries, valuers, and parish constables to the local Act in Cork in exempting houses let to poor tenants from taxation, Gould 4022-4078.

Complaints have been made to the grand jury of Cork of the negligence of the constables, and in many instances alterations have been made in the valuation, Lane 979-1000.—Very few houses are valued in the outparts of the town, Lane 4208, 4209—Great many houses bringing a rent of 10*l.*, or thereabouts, which are not in the valuation books, Lane 4603, 4604—The shopkeeping interest of Cork is reducing, from the heavy amount of taxation to which it is subject, Meagher, 4668-9—Circumstances under which appeals may be made to the grand jury against the valuation, Besnard 211-218—After 1828 appeals were not made to the grand jury against the valuation, but for the remittance of taxes imposed under that valuation, Meagher 3601-3647.

4. Papers laid before the Committee:

Return of the number of dwelling-houses in the city of Cork which are valued in the city rate-books, App. i. p. 320, 321—List of registered voters of the city of Cork referred to in the evidence of Mr. Young, with a statement of their value, according to his judgment; the valuation on the city books of such of them as appear thereon; date of registry, and the several elections at which they voted, App. i. p. 320-321—Mr. Gould's observations thereon, App. i. p. 318.

Return of the number of claimants who gave notice to register at the special sessions for the city of Cork, held in October 1832, as resided in the liberties and in the city and suburbs of Cork, App. ii. p. 4—Return of the number of notices given by persons claiming to register at the special sessions for the city of Cork, held in October 1832, under the Reform Act, specifying the number of claimants whose names commenced with each letter of the alphabet, App. ii. p. 4—List of voters who are marksmen, and registered under the following heads: Freeholders, freemen, and householders, App. ii. p. 5-14—List of voters who are marksmen, and registered under the following heads: Fifty-pound freeholders, twenty-pound freeholders and leaseholders, ten-pound freeholders and leaseholders, App. ii. p. 15—Recapitulation, App. ii. p. 15—Return of persons who have made application or received Excise licences for the sale of spirits in premises under the annual value of 10*l.* since 1st October 1832, App. ii. p. 16-20.

Return of the names, in alphabetical order, of all persons registered as householders in the city of Cork, and who voted at any election since the passing of the Reform Act for Ireland, whose houses in respect of which they have registered were charged with rates in the treasurers' warrants imposed at any assizes, from the year 1830 to the year 1837, and from which rates such persons were at the succeeding assizes released upon the ground of poverty, or of their houses being let out in tenements to poor persons; distinguishing which of such persons were released for each of such causes, and specifying at how many and at which of such elections such persons respectively voted, App. iii. 554-558.

Return of the number of applications made to the Excise-office, by parties appearing as electors on the registries, desirous of obtaining spirit licences, and stating their premises to be under the value of 10*l.* yearly; specifying the names of the parties, and whether or no their requests have been complied with, for the city of Cork, App. iii. p. 619.

Corkery, John. Broker, Kyril's-street; registered for Cork in 1832; he was valued at 5*l.* in 1828, Lane 921—Registered in January 1836; voted at the last election; he was excused the rates laid on in spring assizes 1837, Meagher 5215.

Corkoran, Hugh. Of Rabbit's Park, Longford; claimed to register in January 1836 on a lease for three lives, two of which were dead, and the third had not been heard of for some time, and was rejected; he produced the same lease in October 1836, and was admitted, Gardiner 7904-7913.

Corkoran, John. His name was struck off the register for Longford in 1833; he was readmitted in 1837, Gardiner 8035, 8036.

Cosgreave, Mr. He did not allow the opposing parties to inspect the title-deeds of the claimant, Daly 15093-15095, Deehan 15573—Principle adopted by him with respect to the test of value; he took the value of the produce, and deducted all expenses incidental to the cultivation of the farm, and if there was a balance in favour of the tenant of 10*l.* he registered him, Daly 15098-15102. 15279-15290. 15465-15470, Deehan 15602-15606—In all his decisions he had a decided leaning to Conservatism, and to construe the Reform Act very strictly, Deehan 15570-15572.

See also Inspection of Deeds, 1. Occupation.

Costello, Daniel. Pine-street, Cork; valued in 1828 at 10*l.*; returned as "poor" 1830-1832; he has been returned "rateable" ever since, Lane 1024-1028.

Costello, Daniel. Servant, Leitrim-street; registered for Cork in 1832; he was valued at 8*l.*, Lane 921. 1029.

Costs at Registration Courts. A power of giving costs should exist, to prevent frivolous objections being made to claimants for registration, Barber 6198-6200—Persons objecting to names appearing on the register without a reasonable cause for so doing should be subject to the payment of costs, Besnard 6275-6277—Persons taking frivolous and vexatious objections to votes, as also those supporting claims of the same description, should be subject to costs, Nicholls 10689-10692—Very few voters would be objected to if the attorney employed were made liable to the costs if the objection was not sustained, Fosbery 13210-13213.

Cotter, William. Baker; registered for Cork, out of house and shop in Blarney-lane, in November 1832; does not appear in any valuation, Lane 746.

Cotters. See Agriculture.

COUNSEL:

In Cork.—Time would be saved at the registry by not hearing counsel, but no other persons are capable of eliciting the facts, Besnard 6326-6329.

In Longford.—Names of the counsel attending the different registries for both parties, Courtenay 6609-6612, Nicholls 10373-10376.

See also Colquhoun, Mr. Curran, Mr.

Counties. See Electors, 1.

County Gazettes. The publication of county gazettes containing lists of persons claiming to register, and other county proceedings, very desirable, Besnard 6333, 6334.

County Treasurers. See Treasurers of Counties:

Courtenay, Thomas. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Solicitor, residing in Dublin, 6408, 6409—Has attended the registration sessions of Longford from the passing the Reform Bill up to the present period, 6410—Was also concerned in the petition against the return of Mr. White during the last Session, 6411-6413—Statement of the various rights or qualifications by which persons can vote for members of counties in Ireland, 6414-6418—Number of the constituency of Longford previous to the Reform Act, and at the present time, 6435, 6436. 6440—Causes to which the increase may be attributed, 6437-6439—No doubt there are many bad votes upon the register for Longford, and a great many who have lost their qualification since the registration, 6441—Number of notices served for the first registry, 6442—The names of many persons were served on that occasion who did not themselves wish to come forward; any person may serve notice of registration, 6444-6451—The notices of registration were served by the directions, in most instances, of the Roman-catholic clergy, 6454, 6455. 6459.

Case of James Duffey, registered under the influence of the Roman-catholic clergy; manner in which he voted at the different elections, 6460-6495—Further evidence respecting parties being registered against their wishes, 6496-6504—Course of examination adopted by the Conservatives of Longford in 1832, for the purpose of sifting the qualification of parties coming up to register; how defeated, 6505-6512—Petition against the return of Messrs. White and Roarke in 1832; objections delivered in to the Committee, and how disposed of, 6513-6531—Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Roarke have been the conducting agents at the registry in the Liberal interest, 6532-6540—Great number of the votes objected to in 1832 remain on the register; those examined into and decided against by the Committee were taken off the register by a warrant of the then Speaker, 6541-6557—Description of the register, 6546. 6551-6556.

Supposed number of votes that might be struck off the register as bad on both sides, 6558-6569. 6586-6590—Number of electors polled at the last election, 4570-6573—Very desirable that the registry should be reviewed; the present is a bad working system, 6591—Number registered in 1832; manner in which the registry was conducted, 6592-6596—Great delay and confusion caused from the mode in which the list of claimants was made out, 6595-6605—At the first registry the Liberal party objected to as many as they could, 6606-6608—Names of the counsel attending the different registries for both parties, 6609-6612—There is nothing in the Reform Act which will obviate the inconveniences that took place at the first registration, 6614*-6623.

Very desirable to divide the registry of Granard and Longford, 6622, 6623—After the first registry the registration devolved upon the assistant barrister of the county, who refused to admit the parties who had been struck off the register by the Committee of 1832; they were, however, subsequently admitted by him without any additional evidence being produced of their qualification, 6624-6645—He refused to hear evidence against the claimants, 6646-6652—Very great dissatisfaction expressed at his conduct, 6653-6657—Evidence respecting the character and political opinions of the present chairman of the county, 6664-6673—He has admitted persons who were struck out by the Committee of 1832, as well as others who had been rejected by his predecessor, 6675-6703—Case of Christopher Cahill, who was taken off by the Committee of 1832 as a bad vote, but was subsequently allowed to register, 6687-6701—Mr. Tighe considered the claimant to be the best judge of the value of his land, 6707. 6732—Class of persons who were called as witnesses on the part of the Conservatives, 6708-6718.

Mr. Tighe did not refuse to hear evidence against the claim, but decided against such evidence, 6719-6728. 6733—The effect of Mr. Tighe's decision has been that respectable persons will not come forward as witnesses, 6734-6737—Mr. Tighe's opinion that a tenant having a beneficial interest in premises to the amount of 10 l. was a proper qualification to place them on the register, 6740-6742—In consequence of this decision many persons give notice to register who would not have done so before, 6745-6747—Evidence respecting the petition against the return of Mr. White in 1837; number of persons objected to on that occasion, and decisions of the Committee thereon, 6757-6795—Decision of that Committee that one of the witnesses for the sitting member was not entitled to credit, 6779-6781—Number of votes struck out, and how many of them voted at the last election, 6782, 6783. 6793. 6795—The system of creating fictitious votes has been increasing of late years, and under the present system of registration the evil will extend itself, 6796, 6797.

Repeated instances of persons coming forward to claim out of the same holding, and being admitted, 6798-6806—Instances have been known of persons taking the qualification oath who have parted with every perch of land, 6806-6808—Great difficulty in sustaining an indictment for perjury, 6809, 6810—Persons have been admitted to the register on the production of pieces of paper pasted on bits of newspapers, in which neither the name of the lessor nor lessee, rent, tenure nor execution appeared, 6811-6816—An oath as a test of qualification is not a good or politic system; suggestions for doing away with it, 6817, 6818—Claimants frequently resort to the evidence of one another, for the purpose of upholding their qualifications, 6819-6822—Present system of registry tends to an awful demoralization of the population, by accustoming them to the taking of false oaths, 6823-6837—The Conservative party have the majority amongst the rentchargers, 6838-6840—Great improvement if the lists were made out not only alphabetically, but also with reference to the parishes or other sub-divisions, so that all of the same neighbourhood should be called on together, 6841, 6842.

No appeal allowed under the Reform Act, 6843, 6844. 6849-6852.—An annual revision of the registry recommended, 6845, 6846—Instances of persons who have become insolvent after the registry who have voted at the elections in Longford, 6846—In no case can the county cess be made a criterion of the real value of property, 6853-6859—No necessity to wait the expiration of eight years previous to re-registering individuals registered in 1832, 6860, 6861—Mr. Tighe has re-registered several persons upon production of the certificate granted to them at the Reform registry, 6861-6891—There is considerable difficulty in ascertaining the claimant from the alphabetical lists published, 6878-6882—By the decision of Mr. Tighe, to admit persons on production of certificates, the onus of proving any disqualification on the part of the claimants is thrown upon the person objecting, 6874-6882.

[Second Examination.]—Evidence respecting the opinion expressed by Mr. French, that he had no power to replace persons on the register whose claims had been disallowed by a Committee of the House of Commons, and his subsequent admission of them, 6892-6916—Also as regards the re-registration of parties on production of certificates only by Mr. Tighe, 6918. 6937-6941—As to the difficulty in ascertaining who who the claimant is from the present alphabetical list, 6921.—The name of the parish is not indispensable, but the barony is indispensable, 6923-6928.—In notices of claims, the name of the townland and barony are inserted, but not the parish, 6929-6933.—Difference in the qualification oath to be taken by the 10 Geo. 4, and that attached to the Reform Act, 6942-6958.

The present 10 l. qualification, if properly viewed and acted upon, is a fair standard to go by, 6959-6965.—Great number of the persons upon the register have not a bonâ fide qualification of 10 l.; grounds for that opinion, 6966-6976.—Witness's construction of the term "beneficial interest" as occurring in the Reform Act, 6983-6999. 7010-7020.—Mr. Tighe's principle was to make it depend upon the opinion of the individual occupant, and not upon the market value, 6990*-7007.—Persons claiming the franchise frequently overstate the value of their holdings; they do not think that by that means they subject themselves to an increased rent, 7008, 7009.—Many persons holding 15 acres of land who have not a beneficial interest of 10 l., 7026-7031.—Further examination respecting the meaning of the term beneficial interest, 7032-7050.—Case of Michael Gilleesy, who voted at the last election, not being duly qualified, 7051-7139.—The politics of Mr. Sherrard are rather Conservative; by whom he is to be paid for the survey, 7140-7168.

The tithe valuations in Longford valued according to the full value of the property, 7173-7181.—There is much party spirit in Longford, 7184-7187.—No persecution of tenants for voting against the inclination of their landlords, 7188-7192.—Witness has cautioned the tenants on certain estates, that if they voted against their landlord, they might be sorry for it, 7192*-7204.—In some instances ejectments have been served on tenants who voted against their landlords, and others have been made to pay their rents sooner than they otherwise would have been, 7205-7215.—Nature of the influence used to induce tenants to vote against their landlords, and by whom exercised, 7216-7221.—Treatment of tenants who voted with their landlords, 7225-7230.—Natural feeling of the Irish freeholders and Roman-catholic tenants that the landlord has the first claim to their vote, 7231-7235. 7248-7252.

Estates upon which Roman-catholics have been dispossessed of their holding, and Protestants introduced, though not to the exclusion of other Roman-catholics, 7257-7265.—Whether, in cases where a Protestant tenantry has been substituted for the former Roman-catholic tenantry, the property has or has not benefited by the change, 7270.—In no case did Lord Lorton or Mr. Lefroy dispossess a Roman-catholic tenant without remunerating him, 7274-7291.—How far the experiment has been successful of substituting Protestant for Roman-catholic tenants, 7292-7311.—On estates where the holdings of Roman-catholics have been enlarged, and they are treated in the same way as Protestants, they are just as good tenants; they have not the same ideas of cultivating their farms with neatness, 7312-7317.

Opinion amongst the lower order of Protestants that unless a man is an Orangeman he is not a thorough-going Protestant, 7326-7329.—Number of rentcharges prepared by witness, and nature of the consideration, 7330-7346.—Objection taken by Mr. Tighe to the registration of certain leaseholders upon Lady Ross's estate, and nature thereof, 7348-7360.—Evidence respecting the bribery supposed to have taken place at the last Longford election, 7364-7398.—The money advanced to voters in the Conservative interest was advanced for the purpose of repairing damages sustained by them, and by way of loans, 7376-7386.—Neither of the candidates were aware of the money being paid, 7387-7388.—Witness had two or three good cases of bribery for the last petition, if they had thought it worth while to go on with it, 7391-7398.

[Third Examination.]—Has only written for the particular leases that Judge Torrens had admitted upon appeals; there is no clause enabling the landlord to resume possession by giving a particular notice, 8170-8177.—Has been twice successful, and once unsuccessful, before Election Committees, 8178-8189.

[Fourth Examination.]—Produces a lease between Mr. Anthony Lefroy and one of his tenants; they all contain the same covenants, 12840-12847.—Leases contain a covenant that the landlord may determine the tenancy upon giving six months' notice, 12847.—Number of persons who have registered under similar covenants on Mr. Lefroy's estate, 12860-12868.—No ejectment brought against Cunningham for voting against his landlord, though notice to quit has been given, 12870-12879.—A tenant of the name of Burne has also been served with notice; reason assigned by him for voting against his landlord, that his life would be in danger if he did not, 12880-12885. 12882*-12890*.—Whether any demand of possession made from the persons served with notices, 12891-12897.—On the townland of Driminacreeher leases were granted to 10 Roman-catholic tenants; the covenant in those leases was introduced for the protection of the tenants against any intimidation that might be used to force them to vote against their landlord, 12898-12903.

No doubt that these tenants would have voted with their landlords had they been left to their free choice; from having been in an impoverished state, they are now as comfortable as any tenants to be met with, 12904-12909.—Nature of the injury sustained by the voters in the townland of Derrihelin for voting with their landlord; refusal of labourers to work for them, &c.; graves being dug opposite their houses; their windows and doors broken, 12912-12919. 12921-12924.—The covenant objected to in Lady Ross's leases was that creating a forfeiture in case the tenant did not reside upon the premises, 12925-12936.—Some of Lady Ross's tenants voted against her wishes, 12937-12939.

[Fifth Examination.]—Evidence, in answer to that given by Mr. Flood, as regards duplicate certificates being taken out by the Conservative party in Longford; cases of M'Keon and Mills explained, 13222-13251.—Particulars of the cases of James and William Vance, 13259-13273.—At the registration the names are called alphabetically, and no person whose name does not appear in the list can register, 13274-13283.—The Committee of 1837 expressed an opinion that Daly, who was brought up to support certain votes that were impeached, was not worthy of credit, 13286-13292.—It is not true that the Conservative party could get their friends registered whilst the Liberal party were obstructed in their endeavours to register, 13293-13295. 13341-13349.—Never heard of a man having his skull fractured during the election, 13297-13302.—Means of intimidation and excitement used by the Liberal party during the registration, and evidence thereon, 13303-13320.

Purport of the addresses delivered to the people in the street at the adjournment of the registry court, 13317-13320.—The police acted with impartiality; there was no arrangement made with the police or any other party to obstruct the Liberal party in their way to the registering court, 13321-13332.—There was no necessity for sending another registering barrister to Longford; Mr. Fosbery could have completed the registration within the time, 13350-13355.—The Conservatives complained of Mr. Doherty affording the other side more facility for registration, 13356-13360.—Mode of dividing the claimants between the two courts, 13361-13367.—Appeals were entered for the purpose of obtaining the opinion of the judges on the words "beneficial interest;" on the decision of the first case the others were given up, 13368-13373.

Evidence respecting the case of John Sodan, who was stated to have voted on his father's certificate; they are a very respectable family, and would not come forward in any case of personation, 13374-13393.—There are more Roman-catholic rent payers on the lands of Lisnane than Protestants; the rent has been received for some years back at an abated rate, 13394-13406.—The speeches uttered by the Rev. Mr. M'Gaver were not of a temperate description, 13408-13417.—The conduct of the Roman-catholic clergy as regards interference at elections is the cause of the ill-will that prevails to a great extent between the tenants and their landlords, 13418, 13419.—No doubt there were a great many Orangemen in the county of Longford, but since the will of the late King and the Government was made known they have given it up in a great measure, 13421-13431.—There is a Ribbon society now in Longford, 13432, 13433.

No disposition on the part of proprietors of land to get rid of Roman-catholic tenants previous to their turning against them from the interference of the clergy, 13434.—Longford, from being the most quiet county in Ireland, is become one of the most disturbed, 13435-13447.—Nature of the outrages committed there, and supposed causes thereof, 13448-13520.—Murders are very common there, 13444-13453.—No clearance of tenants on Lord Lorton's estate since 1835, except a small holding, where a middleman's tenants were cleared off, 13460-13463.—There was a man shot in Longford during the election in 1836; the person tried for the murder was acquitted, and the woman upon whose evidence he was tried was afterwards convicted of perjury, 13519-13521.—It is too much the case in Ireland for persons who are dispossessed of land, however rightfully, to revenge themselves upon the incoming tenants, without any respect for their popery or their piety, 13522-13529.

Opinion that Catholic tenants, if left to themselves, would vote with their landlords; Roman-catholic or Protestant clergy ought not to interfere in politics; it is very wrong for any man to interfere between the tenant and the landlord, 13538-13572.—Whether the Conservative landlords wish for a repeal of the Emancipation Act, they have never done any act which would have the effect of depriving the Roman-catholics of Longford of the benefit they ought to enjoy under that Act, 13573-13599.—Opinion that the Marquis of Anglesea was not desirous of Lord Forbes's success in 1832; on the contrary, that, so far as the Government was concerned, he threw his interest into the other scale, 13600-13605.—Lord Forbes had no share in getting Mr. Fosbery appointed to act as revising barrister for Longford, 13606-13616.—Further evidence respecting the speech made by Mr. Curran in the registry court, 13617-13646.—Mr. Curran made a complaint to the barrister that he had been insulted by the police, 13621-13630.—His manner was not courteous to Mr. Fosbery; he appeared to make very light of his decisions, 13642-13646.

Crane, Daniel. Shopkeeper, Capwell; registered for Cork in November 1832; not in any of the valuations, Lane 752.

Cremen, John. Victualler, Fair-lane; registered for Cork in October 1832; he was valued at 7 l. in 1828, Lane 921.

Crime,

Crime, Suppression of. See Churchwardens.

Croker, John. Cabinet-maker, Cross-street; registered for Cork the 24th October 1832; his name does not appear in the valuation, Lane 740.

Croker, Mr. Voted at the last election as a householder, though months previously to the election he and his family were resident in the bridewell at Cork, Meagher 5019—Information was lodged against him for perjury; he had given evidence against parties concerned in the combination at Cork; he was assisted to escape from justice by the police and other authorities, and evidence thereon, Meagher 5019-5088—He never could have occupied the house out of which he voted; it had been recently built, and there were no floors and no roof to it, Meagher 5043-5055—Was the principal combinator, and led the other parties into it, and then gave evidence against them, Meagher 5077-5085.

Crone, James Norcutt. Admitted a freeman of Cork in September 1836, Meagher 4785—He was admitted in 1830, and 1836 was copied by mistake in the entry of his admission, Besnard 4786—Voted at the last election, Meagher 4787.

Cronin, Jeremiah. York street; registered for Cork in 1832; he is valued at 7*l.* in 1828, Lane 922.

Cronin, John. Cooper, Douglas-street; registered for Cork in 1832; he was valued at 5*l.* in 1828, Lane 921.

Cronin, Widow. A tenant on the property of Lady Ross, in the parish of Cashel; she was dispossessed of her holding in 1833; amount of compensation allowed her, M'Gaver 12414.

Cronly, Patrick. Of River Lyons, barony of Phillipstown; registered out of nine acres of land at; rent paid, 4*l.* 18*s.*; he would not undertake to swear that a solvent tenant would give more than 1*l.* 5*s.* per acre for it, Julian 14722-14724.

Crowe, James. He registered for Cork in October 1826; on his first application was rejected, because the landlord might give him a new lease, the former one having been destroyed by fire; he did produce a new lease, and was registered, Daly 15127-15134.

Cullen, John. Of Cloonagh; quantity of land held by him, and rent paid for it; he registered for Longford in 1836; his vote was disputed before the Committee of 1837, but the witness could not describe the land, Flood 8586-8592.

Cultivation. Advantage arising from the improved mode of cultivation introduced by the Protestants on Mr. Lefroy's estate; in many instances the Roman-catholics are following their example, Courtenay 7304-7306—A man that labours upon his own farm will do much more, for the size, than the man who has to employ labour, Flood 8847-8852. 8863, 8864—The expense of cultivating bad land is more than that of good land, Clogher 10331-10336.—See also Burning Land. Oats. Potatoes.

Cummings, Thomas. Archdeacon-lane, Cork; the house out of which he registered was worth about 4*l.*, Young 1597-1599. 1602—It was never worth 10*l.*, Young 1601—He registered in 1836, Colburn 1600—His name does not appear in any of the valuations, Lane 1603.

Cummins, John. Of Cloghan, King's County; claimed to register as a twenty-pound freeholder; he was rejected on the ground that he was not in the occupation of property to the value of 20*l.* over and above the head rent, Deehan 15604-15606.

Cunningham, —. No ejectment brought against him for voting against his landlord, though notice to quit has been given him, Courtenay 12870-12879.

Cunningham, Daniel. Of Bleanavoher; his name was struck off the register for Longford by the Committee of 1837, Clogher 9893-9895. 9970, Rooney 11263-11268—Particulars respecting the quantity of land held by him; valuation thereof, Clogher 9962, Rooney 11261-12298—He has a very good house beside the land; supposed cost of building it, Clogher 9962-9991.

Cunningham, David. His lease was set at a lower rent than what he proposed for it, Rooney 11293-11298. 11329-11342—The property in right of which he claimed to register if put up in the market would set at 20*l.* a year more than the present rent, Rooney 11317-11324—Supposed cause of his rejection by Mr. Dogherty, and evidence thereon, Rooney 11343-11383.

Cunningham, Enoch. Shopkeeper, Kyril's-quay; registered for Cork in 1832; he was valued at 6*l.* in 1828, Lane 921.

Cunningham, George. Dealer, Kyril's-quay; registered for Cork in 1832; he is valued at 6*l.* in 1828, Lane 921.

Cunningham, Timothy. Hairdresser, Tobin-street, Cork; he was valued at 6*l.* in 1828; registered in November 1832, Lane 922—Was not rated till the summer of 1832, since which time he has not been rated, being returned "poor," Lane 1095-1099.

Curran, Mr. On one occasion when the registering barrister ordered the court to be cleared, stated that the Government ought to be ashamed to send such an ermined idiot to administer the laws, Nicholls 10672—He did not make use of the words attributed to him by Mr. Nicholls; he used some harsh expressions respecting the police, Fosbery 13059-13063—Speech made by him in the registry court at Longford caused a good deal of excitement; it was rather disrespectful to the court; the court was adjourned in consequence of the excitement created by it, Courtenay 13803-13316—Further evidence respecting the speech made by him, Courtenay 13617-13646—His manner was not courteous to Mr. Fosbery; he appeared to make very light of his decisions, Courtenay 13642-13646.—See also Police.

Curtain, Daniel. Builder, Portney's-lane, Cork; registered in October 1832 out of house in Portney's-lane; does not appear in the valuation of Cork, Lane 743, 744.

Curtain, Francis. Carpenter, Wisdom-lane; registered for Cork in 1832; was valued in the supplementary valuation at 5*l.*; appealed against it, and was struck out, and has never been since rated, Lane 753, Colburn 1881—House occupied by him is not worth more than 4*l.* or 5*l.*, Young 1870-1878—Registered in 1832; voted 1835 and 1836, Colburn 1879.

Cusack, Michal. Particulars respecting his application to register for King's County; he was objected to, and evidence produced to show that the land occupied by him would not produce what he stated it did; he was admitted, Kelly 15050. 15058-15060.

D.

Daggers. At the last election for Cork daggers were taken from persons in the Conservative interest in open court, Meagher 3893-3895.

Dale, John. Victualler, Sunday's-well; registered for Cork in 1832; he was valued at 7*l.* in 1828, Lane 922.

Daly, Daniel. He was admitted to the register for King's County on swearing that he had a beneficial interest of 10*l.* above his rent, Kelly 15050-15053.

Daly, George Neville. Cooper, Barrack-street, Cork; registered in November 1832; does not appear in any of the valuations, Lane 755—He is rated in the name of Mary Murphy, his mother-in-law, at 12*l.*, Gould 4312, 4313.

Daly, Patrick. The Election Committee on the Longford petition expressed an opinion that he was not worthy of credit, Courtenay 13286-13292.

Daly, Richard. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Barrister at the Irish bar ten years; counsel for Mr. Fitzsimon, and generally for the Liberal party of King's County since the first registry under the Reform Bill, 15061-15067—Mr. Baker attended the first registry on behalf of the Conservatives, 15068-15071—Mr. Cosgreave was the registering barrister on that occasion, 15073—The agent for the Conservatives was very minute in his cross examination of witnesses; he did not allow many, if any, of the Liberal party to register without cross-examining them, 15074-15077. 15082—Mode of proceeding adopted at that registration, and evidence thereon, 15084-15102. 15279, 15280—The registering barrister was very particular in his inspection of the deeds, &c. under which the parties claimed to register, 15088-15092—He did not allow the opposing parties to inspect the deeds of the claimant, 15093-15095—Principle adopted by him with respect to the test of value, 15098-15102. 15279-15290. 15465-15470—Very little if any difference in the principles of registration as acted upon by Messrs. Cosgreave, Howley and Lisle, and that adopted by Mr. Gibson, 15113-15120. 15268-15278.

The number of rejections by Mr. Howley and Mr. Gibson are nearly in the same ratio, 15122-15125—In cases of non-production of lease, Mr. Gibson required stricter evidence than his predecessors to account for its existence and non-production; cases in illustration thereof, 15126-15143. 15276-15278—He never allowed a person to register who had not been six months in possession of the property out of which he claimed, either under the instrument he produced at the registry or under an equitable agreement for such an instrument, 15144-15151. 15238, 15239—He always required the production of the will, or an attested copy, in cases where the claimant preferred his title under a will, 15152-15157—Different modes of ascertaining that claimants were possessed of sufficient value to register resorted to by Mr. Gibson, 15158-15174—Population of King's County; number of registered voters; per centage of registered voters upon the population; acreable surface, arable and pasture, 15174-15202—Number of notices served for the Birr sessions in April 1833; number appearing and number admitted, 15206-15210—Case of Hugh Carrol, 15215-15225.

Witness

Witness acted as secretary to the Liberal club, and as such made most minute examination into the qualification of claimants for whom notices had been served, 15228-15237—Former opinion of witness that if there had been six months' possession, although the lease was executed on the day the claimant came to register, that was sufficient to entitle him to register, 15248-15260—Witness's test of value is what the land is actually worth to the claimant, over and above the rent reserved by the lease, 15296-15325—Land contiguous to a town will let at 4 l. an acre, 15298, 15299—From the great competition for land in Ireland, persons would be found to give more for it than what it was intrinsically worth, 15311-15325—Lands in King's County are generally let under the marketable value, 15326-15331—The evidence produced by the opposing party, as regarded the value of the claimants' land, was of so vague and unsatisfactory a nature, that no judge could entertain it against the franchise, 15346-15368.

Opinion of professional men in Ireland that in the majority of cases the inspection of the title-deeds is withheld by the registering barristers, 15375—No subject in the profession that is liable to so much discrepancy of swearing as a man's opinion of the value of land, 15376, 15377—Further evidence respecting the arrangement made as to the non-inspection of title-deeds by the opposing parties, and manner in which acquiesced in by the Conservative agents, 15404-15415—Supposed number of bad or fictitious votes on the register for King's County, and evidence thereon, 15428-15435—Case of Mr. Forbes and Mr. Wetherelt, 15436-15477—Not the same means of ascertaining the beneficial interest in a lease as there is in the case of land, 15465.

[Second Examination.]—Names of rentchargers who are considered by witness as fictitious votes for King's County, 15478-15493. 15548-15555—The provisions of the Reform Act, and also the old law, afford an opening for the creation of fictitious votes; manner in which it affects fifty-pound freeholders, 15494-15500. 15537-15542—The registering barristers never refused to receive evidence of the want of title of the landlord of the person who claimed to register; they refused to allow an illegal cross-examination, 15502-15509—The majority of leases produced were in the common printed form usually supplied by the stamp-offices in Ireland, 15510-15514—Mr. Howley rejected a man whose lease contained a non-alienation clause, 15513-15518—It is improper to invalidate the title of the landlord upon cross-examination, though it is not necessary for the landlord's title-deeds to be produced, 15519-15536—The majority of fifty-pound freeholders in the King's County are of the Conservative party; in the lists the rentchargers are not distinguished from the twenty-pound freeholders with sufficient accuracy, 15543-15547—Mr. Gibson did not admit any claimant who had been previously rejected without some variation of value or other circumstance being adduced before him, 15556-15560—Statistical account of the King's County in relation to the number of taxable acres, population, and persons registered, 15561, 15562.

Daly, William. He was rejected in 1826 for King's county, from want of title; he had applied to his landlord for his lease, who refused to give it him; he had been 13 years in possession; the original lease was granted to his father, Daly 15143.

Damery, Thomas. Labourer, Clarence-street; registered for Cork, in October 1832; does not appear in any of the valuations, Lane 754.

Danckirt, John. Admitted to the freedom of Cork in right of birth; he was apprenticed to a deputy postmaster; he voted at the last election, Meagher 4947, 4948.

Davis, John. Chapman and dealer, Kyril's-street; registered for Cork, 24th November 1832; he is valued at 5 l. in 1828, Lane 922.

Dayly, Patrick. Bookseller, Paul's-street; registered for Cork out of house in 1835; the house is valued at 16 l. in 1828; he occupies only part of it, Lane 932-937.

Deady, Michael. Shopkeeper, Market-street; registered for Cork, in September 1835; he is valued at 5 l. in 1828, Lane 922.

Deeble, Benjamin. (Analysis of his Evidence).—Collector of city rates for the liberties of Cork for 17 years, 5219-5224—Extent of the North and South liberties, 5232-5235—Number of different denominations of lands in those liberties, 5236, 5237—Great difficulty would be experienced by parties wishing to oppose the registration of claims, from the vagueness of the description of property; more time should be allowed for that purpose, 5243-5261—Evidence respecting certain parties who appear on the register, the situation of whose property witness is not acquainted with, 5262-5352. 5378-5457—(Mr. Colburn.) Certificates of registration are always filled up according to the notice given by the party claiming, 5354-5358—(Mr. Deeble.) Stating the name of the parish in the affidavit would be attended with advantage, 5359-5361—Case of Bartholomew Fitzgerald, and evidence respecting his circumstances, 5362-5377—A great number of persons residing upon the same denomination of land register as if they lived at different places, 5470—Extent of the denomination of land known as

Carrigrohan, 5471-5484; of Farrenastig, 5485-5494. 5497-5509—Lists should be made out previous to the time of registering, which should contain not only the names of the parties, but also the parishes or ploughlands, 5517-5521—At elections, a sufficient number of booths should be provided, so as to enable the whole constituency to be polled, 5522-5526.

[Second Examination.]—Number of persons registered for the county of Cork in the letters "C" and "M," 5530-5533—Statement of the number of the respective initial letters of the names of voters of the county of the city of Cork appearing on the registry up to January 1838, p. 252—Difficulty of ascertaining the identity of parties registering, caused by the present mode of conducting the registration, 5535-5541—Difference in the description of population inhabiting the rural districts in the liberties, and those within the suburbs of the city of Cork, and evidence thereon, 5542-5546—Steps taken to distinguish that portion of the population which should properly belong to the town from the rural or country population, under whose direction, and result thereof, 5547-5590—Description of houses inhabited by persons registering as ten-pound householders; average rent of the dwelling part of the house about 2*l.* 10*s.*; they are generally thatched houses, 5591-5594.

[Third Examination.]—Instances of persons residing in different ploughlands who register under a different name, 5948-5958—Also of persons voting out of fancy names; fancy names are generally given to the villas of persons of the higher class in the suburbs of Cork, 5959-5969.

Deehan, Patrick. He was allowed to register for King's County, although objected to by the Conservatives, on swearing that he had a beneficial interest in the premises of 10*l.* above the rent paid, Kelly 15050-15053.

Deehan, Thomas. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Attorney and solicitor, in Lower Gardiner-street, Dublin; attended as agent for the Hon. Fred. Ponsonby at the registry for King's County in 1832, 15563-15569—Mr. Cosgreave was the registering barrister; in all his decisions he had a decided leaning to Conservatism, and to construe the Reform Act very strictly, 15570-15572—He did not allow the title-deeds of the claimants to be examined by the opposite party; inconvenience that would occur to claimants in case their title-deeds were examined, 15573-15580—The registering barrister in Dublin observed the same rule, as regarded the inspection of title-deeds by the opposing parties, as was adopted in King's County, 15584-15589—Case laid before counsel on the subject of six months' possession prior to registration, 15590-15593—Mr. Cosgreave was very strict in his inquiries as to the value of ten-pound voters, 15602-15606.

Great care taken in 1832 by the Conservatives in bringing up their claimants, the great majority of whom were registered upon production of their former certificates, 15622-15624—Very few persons placed upon the registry in 1832, who had not a right to vote at the registering sessions, 15607, 15608. 15625-15627—Mr. Cosgreave held that parties must be in the occupation of premises to the value of 10*l.*, as well as in the possession of them, 15630-15634—In many cases, landlords were desirous to prevent their tenants registering, and supposed motives, 15635-15643—Tenants, if left to their own choice, would not generally vote with their landlords, unless the opinions of their landlords were liberal, 15644-15655.

Delany, Timothy. He claimed to register for King's County as a ten-pound freeholder; was objected to on the ground that the party granting the lease under which he claimed to register had no title to grant it; objection overruled, Kelly 14569, 14570—He swore he had a 10*l.* beneficial interest in the premises occupied by him above the rent paid, Kelly 15050-15053.

Delohery, Thomas. Victualler, New-lane; registered for Cork in 1836; he is valued at 5*l.* in the new valuation, Lane 939.

Dwyer, Patrick. He was admitted to the register for King's County on swearing that he had a beneficial interest in his premises of 10*l.* above his rent, Kelly 15050-15053.

Dymond.

Dymond. A tenant on the Ballinamuck estate, Longford; two attacks made upon him, by which he is so much injured that he will never be the same man again that he was, Courtenay 13492-13497—The persons who attacked him the first time were tried and sentenced to seven years' transportation, Courtenay 13512-13517.

Dyson, George. (Analysis of his Evidence).—Clerk to the Committee on Fictitious Votes, Ireland, during the last and present session of Parliament, 1248, 1249—Dates of the orders issued by witness for the return of persons who had subscribed affidavits for the purpose of registration as marksmen, and places from which witness has received returns to those orders, 1250-1258.

E.

Edgeworth, Lovell. Till within the last few years he was considered a Liberal landlord; extract from a paragraph in the Longford Journal, of a speech made by him, stating that if his tenants went against him, he never would give land to Catholics, M'Gaver 12691, 12692, 12694.

Education. In Cork there are well-informed country farmers who cannot write, Colburn 1381-1383.

Egan, Anthony. He was admitted to the register for King's County on the ground that he had been offered 10*l.* a year over and above the rent paid, Kelly 15060.

Egan, James. He was admitted to the register of King's County, on swearing that he had a beneficial interest in his premises of 10*l.* above the rent paid, Kelly 15050-15053.

Egan, John. Brandy-lane, Cork; small thatched house, worth about 4*l.*; he paid 4*l.* a year rent, Young 2450-2458—Registered in 1832, and voted 1832, 1835 and 1837, Colburn 2459.

Egan, John. Claimant to register for King's County as a 10*l.* freeholder; he produced no lease, only a memorandum from his landlord, which was objected to by the Conservative party; the objection was overruled, and he registered, Kelly 14438-14447, 14457-14465, 15050-15053—Registered for King's County in 1838; he had been rejected at the October Sessions 1837, as not having been six months in possession since the date of his lease, Kelly 15021—He had been in possession of the lands out of which he registered for thirty years, though without a lease, Kelly 15022-15027.

Egan, Kiran. Of Straduff; claimed to register as a 10*l.* freeholder for King's County; he produced an instrument which was illegible, neither stamp nor date was discernible; he was objected to, but the objection was overruled, Kelly 14493-14501.

Egan, Owen and Patrick. They both registered for King's County, on swearing they had each a beneficial interest of 10*l.* in the premises above the rent paid by them, Kelly 15050-15053.

Egan, William. Registered for King's County in 1838; he had been rejected at the October Sessions in 1837 as not having been six months in possession; he was admitted previous to the expiration of the six months, Kelly 15021—He had had the promise of a lease eighteen years previous to its being granted, Kelly 15023-15025.

EJECTMENTS:

In Longford.—In some instances ejectments have been served on tenants who voted against their landlords, and others have been made to pay their rents sooner than they otherwise would have been, Courtenay 7205-7215—Whether the Catholic tenantry on Lord Lorton's estate were ejected for non-payment of rent, or for non-title, M'Gaver 12093-12111—It is generally known whether a tenant is ejected for non-payment of rent or for non-title, M'Gaver 12097—The number of ejectments are increasing in Longford wherever an opportunity is afforded, M'Gaver 12441.

ELECTIONS:

In Cork.—The arrangement at an election for Cork is subject to the same confusion as the registration, for want of district classification, Besnard 235—If possible they should be held in the parish, Lane 4606—No doubt that many cases have occurred in which voters have been sent out of the town by their landlords to prevent their voting, Meagher 3877-3891—Many persons voted at the last election for Cork who were not upon the non-residents' certificates, though they were non-resident at the time, Meagher 4647-4650.

Longford.—Great deal of expense is thrown upon the Conservative party under the present system of registration, if they wish to have a fair inquiry, because they must always appeal to the House of Commons, Battersby 14229-14234.

ELECTIVE FRANCHISE:

In Cork.—Many persons who have been excused from non-payment of taxes by the grand jury, from their premises not being of the requisite value, have exercised the elective franchise, Besnard 172-181—Whether persons, who are so poor as to be exempted from the payment of taxes, should continue in the possession of the elective franchise, Meagher 4680-4683. 4702—Opinions as to raising or lowering the franchise; ignorance of some of the Cork constituency, Besnard 258-275—The Liberal interest of Cork wished an extension of the franchise, rather than otherwise, Meagher 2955-2959.

In King's County.—Defining it at 20*l.* would be unreasonable, and exclude many who ought to have a right to vote; 10*l.* would be a fair amount, Battersby 14246-14252—The whole elective franchise depends upon the discretion of the assistant barrister; nothing can be more undefined than the present franchise under the present law, Battersby 14236—The opportunity for litigation and perjury would be taken away, to a considerable extent, if the franchise were clearly defined, Battersby 14241-14251—There is no clause in the Irish Reform Act empowering the 10*l.* freeholder to vote; the 10*l.* leaseholder is empowered, and he is required to be in the occupation, Kelly 14673-14683.

ELECTORS:

1. Generally.
2. In Cork.
3. In Longford.
4. Papers laid before the Committee.

1. Generally:

Difference in the two countries (England and Ireland) with respect to the constituencies of counties of cities, Besnard 6247-6257—Statement of the various rights or qualifications by which persons can vote for Members for counties in Ireland, Courtenay 6414-6418.

2. In Cork:

There can be very little doubt as to the value of the liberty voters; they are a substantial good set of voters, Barry 5911, 5912—The 10*l.* household voters, in the liberties of the city of Cork, are superior to the freemen and 40*s.* freeholders, as to the value of their premises and general character, Barry 5913-5919—Great many country voters cannot sign their name, nor speak English; they are obliged to have an interpreter, Besnard 186-196—Number of persons appearing on the list of exemptions for rates, by the grand jury of 1836, who voted at the last election for Cork, Casey 6239-6242—The "poor freemen" and the 40*s.* freeholders compose the lowest class of the constituency in Cork, Barry 5918, 5919.

3. In Longford:

Roman-catholic voters, if left to themselves, would vote on the Liberal side in Longford; the anti-liberal party is very strong there, M'Gaver, 12434-12437. 12469-12476—Irish freeholders and Roman-catholic tenants, if left to themselves, would support the landlord in preference to any other party, no matter what side his politics might be, Courtenay 7235. 7248-7252—A great number might be registered, if there was a facility given for a man, having 10*l.* or 20*l.* beneficial interest, being allowed the advantage of it, Nicholls 10681.

4. Papers laid before the Committee:

Return of the number of voters in each county, city, and borough in Ireland, who actually polled at the last general election, with the number of polling-places at said election, and the number of voters polled in each polling-place on each day, and the number of marksmen who voted for each candidate, App. iii. p. 437-451—Return of the number of voters registered in each county in Ireland since the 1st October 1832, distinguished into classes, and the date of registry of each, App. iii. p. 451-468.

Return of the number of voters registered in each county of a city or town in Ireland since the passing of the Irish Reform Act, distinguishing the voters into classes, with the date of their registrations respectively, App. iii. p. 494-497—Return of the number of voters registered in each borough in Ireland (not being a county of a city or town) since the passing of the Irish Reform Act, distinguishing the voters into classes, with the date of their registration respectively, App. iii. p. 546-554.

See also Advances to Voters. Cork. Forty-shilling Freeholders. Freeholders. Freemen. Intimidation. Longford. Registration. Ten-pound Householders.

Ellard, James. Quaker-road; his house worth about 6*l.*; small piece of ground at the back, Young 1901, 1902. 1904-1916—Registered in 1832, and voted 1832 and 1835, Colburn 1903—Does not appear in the valuation, Lane 1917.

Ellis, Mr (Longford). He was fired at in the noon-day; several persons have been examined by the magistrates, in order to get information as to the perpetrators of that outrage, but without any success, Courtenay 13479-13488.

Ellis,

Ellis, Mr. (Westmeath). Assistant barrister at Westmeath; he always allows the opposite party to the claimant to see the leases under which they claim to register, Battersby 13960-13963.

Employment. The tenantry on part of Lord Lorton's estate support themselves by spinning wool and making cloth, and bringing it to market, M'Gaver, 12602—Great many of the small landholders of Meath are employed throughout the whole year; others are only employed from April to November, Battersby 13725, 13726.

Ennis Borough. There has been no freeman admitted to this borough since May 1831, App. iii. p. 476.

Estates. See Clearance of Estate. Greville Estate. Lishana, Lands of. Lorton, Lord.

Evans, John. Dean-street; valued at 8 l. in the supplementary valuation; first rated in 1836; registered out of house and land in Lower Glanmire-road, Lane 1140-1142.

Evers, John. A tenant on the property of Lady Ross, in the parish of Cashel; he was dispossessed of his holding in 1833; amount of compensation allowed him, M'Gaver 12414.

Evers, Pat. He had permission to remain in his farm; he had an increase of eight acres, but never had his lease, M'Gaver 12169, 12170.

Evidence. Mr. Tighe did not refuse to hear evidence against the claim, but decided against the evidence when given, Courtenay 6719-6728, 6733—Claimants frequently resort to the evidence of one another, for the purpose of upholding their qualifications, Courtenay 6819-6822.

Exhortations. Witness has frequently admonished his flock from the altar as to the manner in which they should vote, and has noticed those who voted contrary to his admonition from the same place, M'Gaver 11850-11871—An address will have more influence by giving it from the altar than from speaking to persons individually, M'Gaver 12247-12264—At the election before the last, in Longford, the Roman-catholic clergy addressed their flocks on Sundays on the subject of the representation; considers it part of the duty of a Roman-catholic clergyman, M'Gaver 12722-12731.

Witness usually addresses his flock at the approach of an election whenever an opportunity offers for the purpose of directing their judgment with respect to the representatives they should choose, M'Gaver 12704-12716—There was no threat held out in those exhortations to those who did not vote as was desired, M'Gaver 12740-12749.

Excise Licences. Return of persons who have made application or received excise licences for the sale of spirits in premises under the annual value of 10 l. since 1st October 1832, App. iii. p. 558-602.—Return of the names and residences of all individuals in the towns in Ireland which return Members to serve in Parliament who have made application or received excise licences since 1st October 1832, App. iii. p. 602-608—Return of the names and residences of all individuals in the towns in Ireland which return Members to serve in Parliament who have made application or received excise licences since 2d May 1837, and whether such individuals are registered as householders, App. iii. p. 608-617.

Return of the number of applications made to the Excise-office by parties appearing as electors on the registries desirous of obtaining spirit licences, and stating their premises to be under the value of 10 l. yearly; specifying the names of the parties, and whether or no their requests have been complied with, for the boroughs of Clonmel and Belfast, and the city of Cork, App. iii. p. 617-619.

F.

Fahy, John. Carpenter, Dominick-street, registered for Cork as a 10 l. householder in November 1832; he was valued in the supplementary valuation at 5 l.; he appealed orally, and was struck out, Lane 764.

Fair Lane (Cork). The upper part of Fair Lane considered as an improving part; the lower end towards Blarney Lane is a very stirring part of the town, Gould 3979, 3980.

Farmers. See Agriculture. Cultivation. Profits of Farms. Roman-catholics.

FARMS:

In the south of Ireland:—They are very superior to those in Longford, and they are tilled by Roman-catholics generally, Courtenay 7317.

In Longford.—A man will hardly ever take a farm who has not as much as will stock it; he has a capital before he takes it, Clogher 9838-9842—The farms of Roman-catholics have in many instances been curtailed to make room for a Conservative constituency, M'Gaver 12534-12543.

King's County.—Those belonging to small farmers in King's County are composed of a small portion of upland and a portion of cut-away bog, which in this district is universally of the very worst description, Battersby 13798.

See also Clearance of Estates. Cultivation. Roman-catholic Tenantry.

Farnesey, Mr. Has accumulated a profit of 4000 l. in the house occupied by him; it is not worth more than 6 l., though he would not give it up for 20 l., Meagher 2821, 2822.

Farrell, Cornelius. His name was struck off the register for Longford by the Committee of 1837; value of the land held by him, Rooney 11494-11500—The land is of very fair quality, in consequence of the bog-land attached to it, Rooney 11516-11520—Mr. Gardiner's statement before the Election Committee of 1837, as respects the quantity of the land, is incorrect, Rooney 11501-11505—So is Colly's with regard to the quality, Rooney 11516-11531.

Farrell, Denis, of Lough. Several memorials forwarded to Mr. Robinson in his behalf; he took land under the late Lord Newcomen; he expected to get a lease; he improved the property, built upon it, but could not get a lease till after Lady Ross purchased it, M'Gaver 12567.

Farrell, John, Longford. His qualification was impeached as insufficient before the Committee of 1837, and was given up by the counsel as not being sustainable, Gardiner 8020-8022. 8030-8033—He voted at the last election for Longford, Gardiner 8024-8026—A tenant on Lady Ross's property; the agent would not allow his wife to remain a day after the time expired; she was delivered of a child in the garden in consequence of such treatment, M'Gaver 12158, 12159—Further evidence respecting the removal of his wife; names of persons engaged in the transaction; witness did not make any complaint to the agent, considering that it would be of no use, M'Gaver 12551-12567.

Farrell, John, of Turreen. His name was struck off the register for Longford by the Committee of 1837, Clogher 9893-9895—Estimated quantity of land held by him, and value thereof; quality of the land is very good, and the houses, &c., are in good condition, Clogher 9901-9915—Supposed cost of building a similar house to that on his property, and examination thereon, Clogher 9917-9949.

Farrell, Martin John. Land agent; registered out of house and land at Saraville; the denomination which he resides is Killeenreendowney, Cork, Deeble 5964, 5965.

Farren, Abraham. Registered as a twenty-pound freeholder at Parkmore, Colburn 5414—The nearest denomination of land to it is a field formerly called Parkmore; there is one lodge on it, Deeble 5414-5429.

Farrenastig. Extent of denomination of land known as Farrenastig, Deeble 5485—Many persons who have registered out of the lands of Lisduff reside upon Farrenastig, Deeble 5486-5488.

Feighery, Francis. He claimed as a ten-pound freeholder; his lease was dated in 1803; objected to by the Conservatives that he did not occupy a holding of sufficient value; he occupied fourteen acres liable to 28*l.* a year; the objection was overruled, Kelly 14556-14566.

Ferrall, John. Was detained by the Conservatives at Foxhall till after the Longford election was over; the application made to the sheriff for a military escort to bring him up was refused the Liberal party, M'Gaver 12312. 12322-12335.

Ferrall, John. A tenant on the property of Lady Ross, in the parish of Cashel; he was dispossessed of his holding in 1833; amount of compensation allowed him, M'Gaver 12414.

Fifty Pound Freeholders. Power given them to make affidavits before the judges as to their qualification, is open to great abuse, Bernard 6393, 6394.

Finneran, John. A tenant on Lady Ross's property, in the parish of Cashel; he was dispossessed of his farm in 1833; compensation awarded him, M'Gaver 12414.

Finneran, Lawrence. A tenant on property belonging to Lady Ross in Cashel; was dispossessed of his holding in 1833; amount of compensation allowed him, M'Gaver 12414.

Finneran, Patrick. A tenant on Lady Ross's property in the parish of Cashel; he was dispossessed of his farm in 1833; allowance made him, M'Gaver 12414.

Fitzgerald, Bartholomew. Farmer, Ballycarroon; registered out of house and land there, Colburn 5333, 5334—Never heard of any denomination of that name within the liberties of Cork, Deeble 5335-5352.

Fitzgerald, James. Master tailor, Pembroke-lane; ten-pound householder; registered in 1832; is not to be found in the valuation, Lane 762.

Fitzgerald, John. Of Bishop-street; registered as a ten-pound householder; his name does not appear in the valuation books, Lane 763.

Fitzgerald, John. Slater, Douglas-street; registered in November 1832 as a ten-pound householder; was valued in the supplementary valuation at 5*l.*, and appealed, and was struck out, Lane 767.

Fitzgerald,

Fitzgerald, Michael. Barrack-street, Cork; his house worth about 6*l.*; could never have been worth 10*l.*, Young 2219-2226, Meagher 3565-3600, Gould 4361-4371—He paid 10*l.* rent; would not value it so high as 10*l.*, Meagher 3565-3600—Registered in 1832, Lane 765—Voted in 1832, 1835, and 1837, Colburn 2221. 2224—Valued in the supplementary valuation; appealed, and was struck out, Lane 765. 2223, Gould 4361.

Fitzmaurice, Edmund. Vintner, Mannix-square, Cork; registered as a ten-pound householder; there is no such place as Mannix-square mentioned in the valuation books, Lane 765—It is called Mannix-street in the valuation books, and he registered out of a house there, and is valued at 10*l.*, Gould 4354-4360.

Fitzsimons, Christopher. Of Ballinacross; his claim to register was rejected in 1832; he held sixteen acres of land, and paid 38*s.* per acre rent, Flood 8260-8263—Further evidence thereon, Flood 8315-8329.

Fitzsimons, William. Longford; particulars of his case; he claimed to register in 1837, and was rejected; he was admitted at a subsequent registration, Rooney 11187-11193.

Fitzsimons, William. Of Kilsolla; claimant in October 1837 for Longford; produced a lease; the lease was so old and effaced that the court could not make out the rent or quantity; he was admitted, Gardiner 7962-7967—He gave no evidence as to the amount of rent he paid, either by receipt or otherwise, Gardiner 7968, 7969.

Fleming, Thomas. Blarney-lane; registered for Cork as a ten-pound householder in November 1832; his name is not on the valuation, Lane 765.

Flood, Matthew. Of Ballymore; went to Dublin to pay his rent, and the agent refused to take it, but told him he would break his lease, Flood 8915, 8916.

Flood, Patrick. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Resides at Springfield, in the county of Westmeath, 8190, 8191—Attended the first general registry in Longford after the passing the Reform Bill, 8192, 8193—At that registry persons were admitted to be registered as voters on the Conservative side who had a much inferior qualification as to value than those who were rejected on the Liberal side, 8194-8197—Mr. Fosbery and Mr. Dogherty were the registering barristers, 8198—Duplicate certificates have been obtained by the agent for the Conservative party, and attempts made to use them; evidence thereon, 8199-8231—Conversation between witness and the deputy clerk of the peace, in which he admitted that duplicate certificates had been taken out, 8232-8255—Further evidence respecting the qualification possessed by Conservatives admitted to the register and Liberals rejected by the barristers in 1832, 8256-8329—Cases of the Fitzsimons and Read rejected, 8260-8265. 8315-8329—And the Messrs. Vances admitted, 8267-8275. 8287, 8288. 8307-8309.

Mr. Fosbery refused to register M'Avoy's tenants, on the ground that the landlord was not in a state of mind to grant leases, 8330-8360—Very little objection made by the Liberal party at the registration in 1832, 8368-8370—Difference in the amount of rent paid by Conservatives admitted and Liberals rejected, 8371-8379—Witness has inspected several of the farms of tenants who were struck off the register by the Committee of 1833, and result thereof, 8388-8486—Names of parties for whom witness gave notices, whose farms he valued, and who were afterwards registered, 8487-8695—Case of Fitzsimons admitted by Mr. French in 1833, 8489-8492—Of Peter Arley, 8493-8496. 8503-8507—His vote was struck off by the Committee of 1837, 8500, 8501. 8508-8514—He attempted to register in 1832, but in the notice the wrong barony was inserted, 8515-8520—Persons were very anxious to come forward and register where counsel were employed, 8523-8525—Case of John Tuite, who was struck off by the Committee of 1837; quantity of land held by him, and rent thereof, 8527-8557.

General rate at which land is let in the immediate neighbourhood of Tuite's farm, 8558-8584—Case of John Cullen; quantity of land held by him, and rent paid for it; was registered in 1836, and struck off by the Committee of 1837, 8586-8592—Of Denis Sheridan, 8593-8605. 8617, 8618—Land in the vicinity of Mount Granard is let at 4*l.* per acre, 8606, 8607. 8613-8616—This part of Longford is a great grazing country; the farmers generally make their rents from their butter and pigs, 8619—Quantity of land held by witness, and rent paid, 8620-8623—Case of Beglin; the land occupied by him is capable of producing a beneficial interest of 50*l.* a year; his name was struck off in 1837, 8624-8643. 8658-8660. 8667.—Witness values his beneficial interest in the land occupied by him at 30*l.* a year, 8644, 8645—Persons possessed of five acres of good land, at three guineas an acre, would have a 10*l.* beneficial interest, 8646-8652. 8662-8666—Case of Matthew M'Gurk; rent paid by him; he was struck off by the Committee of 1837; his beneficial interest not less than 40*l.*; it was very excellent land, 8668-8695.

[Second Examination.]—Produces a map of Matthew M'Gurk's premises, and examination thereon, 8697-8736—Purpose for which the map was prepared, and by whose direction, 8737-8757—Particulars respecting the holding of James Glancy, 8765-8789. 8796-8799. 8853-8861—Cost of preparing land for an acre of oats, and average produce produce thereof, 8792-8795—Case of James Reynolds, 8803-8826. 8862—The general custom in the country for the tenant to pay five to seven guineas for the lease; it is as much as three times the expenses in many cases; some leases granted by Mr. Greville in 1828 were overheld by his agent till 1832, for fear the lessees should register, 8826-8849—A man that labours upon his own farm will do much more for the size than the man who has to employ labour, 8847-8852. 8863, 8864—There were very large arrears of rent due on the Greville estate in 1833, but in consequence of the tenants voting as they did, the agent made them pay up their rents, 8868-8878.

It was the general practice on the estate to owe two years' rent, and then pay one, 8871-8873—Opinion that the tenants never got any abatements of their rents, 8881—Opinion of Mr. Tuite, who valued under the Tithe Composition Act, that there were no better lands in the county, 8881—Further evidence respecting the arrears of rent due on the Greville estate, 8883-8887. 8922-8940—After the election of 1833, the present agent brought ejectments, and compelled the tenants to pay, 8888-8904. 8980-9019.

Threats have been held out to the tenants to induce them to vote against the Liberal candidate, 8905-8920. 8946-8949—Instance in which the agent would not receive the rent when tendered, 8914-8916. 8950-8952—Evidence respecting the attempt made by the son of the agent of the Greville estate to get into the house where the freeholders were assembled, and supposed object in making it, 8953-8979—Particulars respecting the holding of Brien Sheridan, and beneficial interest possessed by him, 9020-9070. 9075—Expense of seed for two acres of potatoes, 9082-9084—Of oats, 9084, 9085—The amount of a man's beneficial interest in Longford depends in some degree upon his age and strength, and the number of his family capable of assisting him in his labour, 9090-9092—Length of time witness was employed in viewing the lands and making the calculations, 9093-9111—Many farms that are not set in the conacre, and when the tenant labours it himself he makes more profit, 9125. 9133-9135. 9221-9224.

In witness's calculation of the beneficial interest of a tenant, he has adopted the principle of conacre, 9128-9132—Very general practice in Longford to let the land in conacre, 9136-9140—Case of Miles Reilly; nature of his holding, and beneficial interest possessed by him, 9142-9160—Land in the lower part of the barony of Granard is not so valuable as that in the upper part, 9162-9168—Amount of tithe composition for the parish, 9167—Evidence respecting the character and belief attached to the evidence given by witness examined before the Committee of 1837 on the Longford petition, 9180-9197—Case of John Reilly, and evidence thereon, 9198-9218—Case of John Kiernan, 9249-9273—Attended before the Election Committee of 1837, but was not examined; the cases respecting the value of which witness could have given evidence were kept back, 9274-9282.

[Third Examination.]—Further examination into cases of persons who have been registered as voters for the county of Longford, and whose votes were struck off by the Election Committees of 1833 and 1837; case of Peter Reilly, 9283-9320—The Conservative party examined into every claim, though they did not bring up witnesses in opposition, 9321-9328—Case of Cahill, of Aughagrath, 9329-9352—The beneficial interest of a tenant depends upon the quality of the land, as well as the rent paid, 9353, 9354—In some parts of the county of Longford the landlords, since 1828, have been getting higher rents than previously, 9358-9369—Names of other parties who were struck off by the Committees, on the ground of undervalue, whose beneficial interest in their farms was above the required qualification, 9373-9381—By taking land in conacre, instead of in crop, the beneficial interest is diminished; proportionate difference from 1 l. to 30 s. an acre, 9382-9389—Further examination respecting the witnesses examined before the Longford Election Committee, 9390-9438.

The duty of the tithe valuers is to applot the sum assessed upon the parish according to the quality of the land, having previously valued and classed the land, 9428-9438—The greater part of the persons objected to before the Committees received notices that their titles would be questioned, 9439-9441—Further evidence respecting the increased rents now and formerly, 9442-9450—A man with ten acres of good ground may support his family upon that; everything will depend upon the land and the rent, 9456-9465.

Land in the barony of Granard is as good as any in the county, 9479—Difference in the value of a crop of potatoes on the conacre system and to a person planting for his own use, 9480-9485. 9492-9507—Average rent of lands on Mr. Greville's property, 9488-9491—Persons might have a beneficial interest of 10 l. upon two acres under cultivation of either potatoes or oats, 9508-9523. 9529-9535—Further evidence respecting the benefit derived by a farmer from planting and keeping his potatoes than by setting in conacre, 9524-9528—Attempts made by Mr. Robinson in 1832 to prevent persons from coming up to register, 9536-9546. 9562-9578.

Case of Robert Atkins, who came up to vote; he refused to take the qualification oath; he was put forward by the Conservatives, 9547-9561—Great numbers came forward to register, but were rejected for want of proper qualifications, 9580-9587—Number of notices served by witness and others in the Liberal interest, and supposed number number of duplicates, 9592-9609—Great many were rejected by the barristers, and there were appeals to the judges, but only two cases were tried, from want of time, and examination thereon, 9610-9656—Two appeals were heard; one succeeded, and the other was rejected, 9610—The judges did not order all the men of the same class to be admitted; supposed number that registered by reason of that decision, 9618-9638. 9644-9647.

Number of persons belonging to the class to which the appellant belonged whose appeal was rejected, 9648-9656—Witness is not aware of any person having been put forward to register against his will in the Liberal interest, nor any calculations being made for them, so as to enable them to swear to the requisite qualification, 9657-9671—In Granard the laymen were more active in urging people forward to register than the Roman-catholic clergy, 9674-9698—In the barony of Granard all voted as the clergyman wished except two at the last election, 9699—The clergyman of the parish would not allow any man to come forward to take the oath if his qualification had ceased, 9703, 9704—Several who had registered did not vote at the last election, in consequence of the lives in their leases having dropped; there was nothing to prevent their voting except the qualification oath, 9704-9717—There is no legal means of preventing their voting except their reverence for the oath, 9719, 9720. 9724-9731—Quantity of land held by witness in Longford, 9732-9735. 9742-9744—In Roscommon witness has about 1,000 acres of land let; it is joint property; average rent thereof, 9738-9741.

Flynn, Cornelius. Shoemaker, Dominick-street, Cork; registered as a ten-pound householder in November 1832; does not appear in any of the valuations, Lane 767.

Flynn, Edward. Great Britain-street, Cork; value of his house about 6*l.*, Young 1575, 1576—He lets the upper part for 5*l.*, and the lower part, which he holds in his own possession, with a garden, is value for 10*l.*, Meagher 3146-3159—Never worth 10*l.*, Young 1579—Would be worth 7*l.* or 8*l.* without the garden, Meagher 3160-3184—Valued at 5*l.* in 1833; appealed, and was struck out, Lane 1577. 3147—Registered in 1832; voted in 1832, 1835, and 1837, Colburn 1579.

Fogherty, Michael. Shoemaker, Wellington-road, Cork; registered as a ten-pound householder in November 1832; he is not in the valuation, Lane 765.

Foley, Cornelius (Cork). Of Bridewell-lane; his house is worth 5*l.* a year, Young 2227-2229—Pays 10*l.* 8*s.* per year rent; being a lodging-house, and in the neighbourhood of the market, it is more valuable on that account, Meagher 3653-3708—Registered in 1836; voted in 1837, Colburn 2230—Is not in the valuation, Lane 2231.

Foley, John. North Francis-street, Cork; his house worth 6*l.* per annum; is in very bad repair, and very small, Young 1918-1920. 1922-1927—Registered, 1832, Lane 767—Voted, 1832, 1835, and 1837, Colburn 1921—Valued at 5*l.* in the supplementary valuation, and, upon appeal, struck out, Lane 1928.

Foley, Michael. Trimbath-street, Cork; description of the premises occupied by him; they are worth about 4*l.*, Young 2462-2466. 2468-2481—Registered in 1832, and voted in 1832 and 1835, Colburn, 2467—Does not appear upon the valuation, Lane 2482.

Foley, Timothy. Shoemaker, Evergreen-street, Cork; registered as a ten-pound householder in October 1832; his name does not appear in the valuation, Lane 760.

Foohy, Patrick. Francis-street, Cork; was valued in 1828 at 8*l.*; not rated till the spring and summer of 1832, when he registered; he has been returned "poor" ever since, Lane 1050-1056.

Forbes, Lord. At the registry in 1832 he had a great deal of interest in the county of Longford, and all reports to the Government should pass through him, and any reports against a policeman he would cushion, Nicholls 10549. 10555-10564—He was a strong advocate for the Roman-catholic claims, but for any other relief he ever gave to the Catholics, witness never heard of it; he never interfered with his tenants on account of their religious creed, M'Gaver 12417-12420—During his life-time his tenantry generally voted with him; since his death they have been left to themselves, and have not voted for the same candidates, M'Gaver 12714-12716—He took no part in getting Mr. Fosbery's appointment to act as revising barrister for Longford, Courtenay 13606-13616.—See also Anglesea, Marquis. Fosbery, Mr. Longford.

Forbes, Mr. He registered for King's County in 1832; he is a fictitious voter, for he was "run" upon the Liberals at the time of the registry; he could not get more than 5*l.* or 6*l.* more rent than what he pays for his house, Daly 15436-15447. 15449-15463. 15478-15480.

Ford, Patrick. Evergreen-street; valued in the supplementary valuation for Cork at 7*l.*; is returned as "rateable" in 1834, for the first time, Lane 1153-1158.

FORTY SHILLING FREEHOLDERS:

Cork.—This class of electors are diminishing daily, Lane 822-824—Great decrease in their number since the election of 1812: they cannot be revived, Meagher 3805-3807. 4610-4614—Bribery was carried on amongst them formerly, Meagher 3805-3807—Impossibility of valuing the forty-shilling freeholders, from the difficulty of ascertaining the amounts of their rents, Young 2547—They are not confined to the rural districts; there are as many forty-shilling freeholders in the city as in the liberties of Cork, Besnard 6340—The present class of forty-shilling freeholders are an improved class to what they were previous to the Reform Bill, Meagher 4620-4623. 4628. 4641-4644—They were admitted on the production of affidavits of their former registry, without any questions as to value; reasons assigned for this rule, Barber 6075-6081. 6088-6092—Inquiry was not permitted to be made into the qualification of forty-shilling freeholders as to the value, Barber 6102-6104.

Fosbery, John Francis. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Barrister-at-law and revising barrister under the Irish Reform Act in 1832, for Longford, and acted as counsel and assessor at elections since that period, 12940-12946—Statement that witness registered those on the Conservative side who had not half the value of those rejected on the Liberal side, is unfounded, 12948-12950—Circumstances connected with the charge made against witness by Mr. Colquhoun, of partiality, 12951-12953—Particulars respecting the plan adopted by witness in registering the tenants of M'Evoy; the leases produced were new leases: witness was informed that he had granted those leases for the purpose of creating freeholds; he seemed to be not a strong-minded person, 12957-12965—In all cases of new leases, witness regarded them with suspicion, 12966-12968—There were quite as many objections taken on the Liberal as on the Conservative side, 12969-12971—The Court-house at Ballymahon is very small, and very bad accommodation in it, 12972, 12973.

Witness did not register persons out of their turn, except by consent of the respective agents; cases of the Dean of Ardagh and Mr. Jessop, 12974-12978—Extract from the Repealer newspaper, as respects the opening and conducting of the registry court at Longford; the same system as regards the conduct of the business was pursued on all the court days, 12978-12983—Witness ordered the police to remove a table with some cut words upon it, and animadverted in strong terms upon such a display of party spirit, 12984-12986—No complaint ever made to witness of a man having his skull fractured in trying to get into the court, 12987-12996—Assertion made by Mr. Nicholls, that witness interfered to get particular people in, and keep others out, is without foundation, 12998-13002—The police did not act partially in the discharge of their duty, 13003—Memorial forwarded to the Government complaining of witness's decisions, was sent to him, and he answered each charge seriatim, 13004*-13016. 13018, 13019. 13026-13029. 13121, 13122—Number of appeals against the decisions of witness, only one of which the judges reversed, 13019, 13020. 13117-13120—Great many of the votes admitted by witness on the Liberal side, have since been struck out by a Committee of the House of Commons; some of them very good votes, 13023-13025. 13131, 13132.

Means taken to intimidate witness in the discharge of his duty, 13030-13036—Witness in no manner connected with the political parties in the county; circumstances attending the appointment of witness as revising barrister, 13037-13056—Mr. Curran did not make use of the words attributed to him by Mr. Nicholls; he used some harsh expressions respecting the police, 13059-13063—Witness never ordered the police to draw their bayonets and clear the court, 13059—Never caused the court to be cleared when there was neither noise or disturbance, to give either party advantage over the other, 13064-13066—Mr. Colquhoun did not throw up his brief; he left the registry court at Ballymahon for a day or two; he was very strong in his language on one or two occasions, 13067-13070. 13127-13129—No truth in the statement that witness and the Conservative counsel were in the habit of living together during the registration; on the contrary, 13071-13073.

Extract of a letter from Mr. Berwick, the counsel on the Liberal side, complimentary of the impartial manner in which he had discharged his duties, 13074-13085—The claimants on the Liberal side displayed great dexterity and address in shaping their evidence so as to enable them to register; instances of the manner in which it was arranged, 13088-13101—Witness inspected some lands, &c. out of which parties wished to register; it was like a piece of waste mountain; it was valued at 15 s. or 20 s. an acre; it was more like a place for snipes than arable land, 13090-13094—The Liberal party attempted to register a great many voters who had no qualification, 13097-13101—Great many produced as evidence of their title, their certificate as forty-shilling freeholders, previous to handing up their lease, 13099-13101—Some other test of value besides the oath of the claimant and others, very necessary; it would be preferable to take the payment of the county cess as a test, than the ten-pound value, 13106-13110.

More attempts made by the Liberal party than the Conservative, to place bad votes on the registry, 13112-13115—Great anxiety evinced on both sides to bring up voters and and place them on the registry, 13123, 13124, 13170, 13171—Both parties were equally zealous in objecting to claimants that came up to be registered, 13125, 13126, 13172-13176—The tenants of Col. White had a most excellent interest; he did not extort from his tenants the utmost rent they were capable of paying, 13136-13139—The legal meaning of beneficial interest is what would be given as an additional rent, not what would support a family, 13140-13155—Very great improvement if the list of claimants was arranged according to townlands, and not merely alphabetically, 13156-13160.

Present system of registry produces a great deal of agitation; an annual register much more desirable, or at all events that the barrister should have the right of seeing whether the qualification still existed, 13161-13167—There is nothing to prevent a person re-registering within the eight years, so as to keep his title up for a further period of eight years, 13167-13169—Character of Mr. Greville's tenants; great complaints among them of the high rent at which their land was let, 13193-13198—Further evidence respecting the necessity for an annual revision of the register, 13199-13209—Very few voters would be objected to, if the attorney employed was made liable to the costs, if the objection was not sustained, 13210-13213—Opinion that the mere production of the certificate within the eight years, would not entitle a man to be registered without an inquiry into all the qualification, 13215-13218—There is no difference of opinion amongst the registering barristers as to the propriety of having an appeal upon admission as well as rejection, 13218-13221.

Fosbery, Mr. He refused to register certain tenants, on the ground that the landlord was not in a state of mind to grant leases, Flood 8330-8360—In rejecting the tenants of M'Avoy, he distinctly stated that they had a 10 l. interest, but he objected to them that the man was not capable of making the leases, Flood 8348-8352—Particulars relative thereto, Fosbery 12957-12965—He was a man of very shallow knowledge, and took advice from the Conservative party as to what he ought to do, Nicholls 10710-10722—Was appointed registering barrister for Longford, not for talent or ability, but from connexion and influence, Nicholls 10725-10748—Witness is no way connected with the county of Longford, Fosbery 13037-13056—Was in the habit of dining with the Conservative counsel after the registry court was over, Nicholls 10710, 10786-10792—There is no truth in the above statement; witness, on the contrary, dined with Mr. Hutton, the counsel for the Liberal party, Fosbery 13071-13073.

At the registration in 1832 his conduct partook more of error than corruption, Nicholls 10793-10801—He frequently ordered the registry court to be cleared when there was no disturbance, on the application of the Conservative agents, Ternan 10870-10894—General impression amongst the constituency of Longford that he was always against the Liberal interest in his decisions, Ternan 10870-10894, Rooney 11374-11376—In determining the test of qualification, he considered that upon a tenant showing that he could obtain 10 l. a year over and above all charges, the person ought to be admitted, Ternan 10910-10913—In deciding a claim to register, he gave weight to the greatest number of witnesses rather than to the fewer; in some cases the witnesses as to value had not been on the property for several years, Ternan 10914-10924.

A memorial forwarded to the Government, complaining of his decisions, was sent to him, and he answered each charge seriatim, Fosbery 13004*-13016, 13018, 13019, 13026-13029, 13121, 13122—He was served with a writ (at the suit of a party whose claim he had rejected) pending the registration; the name of the attorney of the Liberal party was to the process, Fosbery 13031-13035—Letter from Lord Stanley to him, requesting to be informed whether it was his wish to undertake the duties of a registering barrister, Fosbery 13041-13043—Extract of a letter from Mr. Berwick, the counsel on the Liberal side, complimentary of the impartial manner in which he had discharged his duties, Fosbery 13074-13085.—See also Appeals, 3. Registration, III. 3.

Franklin, James. Coppersmith, Sullivan's-quay; registered for Cork out of a house and yard at Sullivan's-quay; his name does not appear anywhere in the valuation, Lane 765.

Frauds (Longford). No doubt that at the registration in 1832 many fraudulent leases and instruments were got up for the purpose of registration, Kelly 14417-14422—Considerable difficulty in producing evidence of fraud, except through the cross-examination of the applicant himself, Kelly 14974-14979, 14982-15003.

Ganaley. A person of this name was charged with shooting a man upon the night of the election for Longford in 1833; he was tried and acquitted; the witness who made the charge was indicted for perjury, M'Gaver 12447-12451.

Garde, Phineas. Admitted a freeman of Cork in 1835; he had not served a regular apprenticeship, his master having left the country shortly after he was apprenticed, Meagher 4806-4828.

Gardiner, Mr. See Farrell, Cornelius.

Gardiner, George. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Surveyor, residing at Barry, in the county of Longford, 7399-7401—Acted as writing clerk and assistant in taking notes at the several registries for Longford, 7403, 7404. 7538-7543—Date of the first general registry under the Reform Act, 7408—There is no public officer who is authorized to make a list of persons for the purpose of being registered, 7409, 7410—Great deal of excitement at the registry, 7411-7413—Several persons were admitted to register who had not a bonâ fide qualification; objections made, and result of the scrutiny had thereon, 7414-7419—Class of persons examined before the Committee of 1833 on the Longford petition, 7420-7423—Several of those names struck out of the registry by order of the Speaker of the House of Commons were afterwards reinstated, and by whom, 7424-7431—They were allowed to re-register without producing evidence of any improvement in in their property, 7432-7444—The reform registry of 1832 was attended by agents and counsel on both sides; the qualifications were inquired into, and claims contested in some cases, 7445-7449.

Mr. French was frequently reminded of his having rejected upon former occasions the persons that he had latterly admitted, but he did not attend to it, 7452-7457—Witnesses, put forward to prove that the party claiming had not a proper qualification, were examined, but their testimony was disregarded; they swore to a higher value than before, and were admitted, 7458-7469—Case of Thomas Mulvy, who registered without a proper qualification, 7475-7492—Mr. French refused to receive evidence against the value of the holding; number of persons registered by him; he refused several times to register persons whom he afterwards registered; he is rather irritable, 7493-7522—Witness employed by the Conservative party at the reform registry; amount of remuneration, 7523-7533. 7547—Further evidence on the case of Thomas Mulvy, 7549-7565. 7580-7587. 7613-7641. 7650-7694—The holding was valued as if let to a solvent tenant; no person would rent the land unless they expected to obtain a profit from it, 7566-7578.

The lands at Ballintubber were valued at the full value for the tithe composition; the valuation was made after the composition had been agreed to by the farmers of the parish, 7591-7598—Amount of tithe composition for the barony of Moydoe, 7599—Value of property was greater in 1833 than in 1837 in the county of Longford, 7610-7612—Different classes into which the land is divided for the purpose of the Tithe Composition Act in the barony of Moydoe, 7641, 7642—Further evidence respecting the occupations of witness, 7643-7646—Was employed in 1834 to assist the Tithe Commissioner in estimating the value of the different classes of land, 7647-7649—Mr. French did not admit any person to the registry merely on production of their former certificates; they produced their leases under which they registered in 1832, 7695-7700—The value of land should be taken at what it would sell for if brought into the market, 7701, 7702—One of the witnesses examined for Mulvy was a claimant at the same registration, and was in fact swearing for himself while swearing for Mulvy, 7706-7708.

The school superintended by witness was endowed by Lady Ross, 7709-7711—The assistant barrister expressed an opinion that where the value did not come up to 10*l.* he should admit the claimant on his own statement of the value, 7712-7715—Mr. Tighe admitted persons to register who had been struck off by the Committee of 1833 merely on production of their old certificates, 7716-7720. 7732-7749—Extracts from witness's memorandum-book thereon, 7721-7732—Mr. Tighe admitted about 30 claimants who had been rejected by Mr. French and other barristers; principle upon which he admitted them, 7750-7758—In many instances he refused to hear evidence against the claimant, that is, he refused to receive the evidence, but did examine the witness, 7759-7765—He expressly stated that he considered the claimant the best judge of the value of his property; extracts from witness's notes thereon, 7767-7773—In consequence of this decision many respectable witnesses were unwilling to come forward to be examined, 7774-7782—Case of John Rooney, 7770. 7785-7815—Witness formerly belonged to an Orange society in Ballymahon, 7823.

The Orange societies of Ireland voluntarily submitted to the law relative to the dissolution of those societies, 7823-7852—Case of Christopher Cahill, admitted by Mr. Tighe after an appeal to a judge and jury, and who had decided that he was not properly qualified, 7853-7858—Number of claimants to register have increased since the decision of Mr. Tighe as to value, 7867—Great excitements are made use of to induce persons to stand forward to register, 7874, 7875—Instances have occurred of persons being ill-treated, &c., who have not sworn up to the full amount to qualify them, 7875, 7876—Great many of the voters standing on the register who have not a proper qualification; great number who have lost their qualification since they registered, 7877-7882—The penalty of an indictment for perjury is not a sufficient protection against men who have lost their qualification coming forward to vote at elections, 7883, 7884—Cautionary notices were served on parties in Longford in 1836, notwithstanding which they voted; they were afterwards indicted; the prosecution was dropped on the Conservative Member being seated, 7884-7894—Some few cases of parties holding a lease granting an under lease, and both parties are placed on the register, 7896.

[Second Examination.]—Instances have occurred where the assistant barrister has refused to examine the lessor's title when objections to that title were derived from the examination of the claimant, 7897-7911—Case of Hugh Corkoran, 7904-7913; of Patrick Murphy, 7918-7921; of Patrick Kelly, 7923-7925; of Michael Hilyard, 7925-7935—Instances of persons being admitted to the register who on their own examination could not prove that the land was worth more than the rent they paid for it; cases of Kearnan and Riley, 7936-7959—Claimants have been frequently rejected on the production of old leases, where the rent or stamp, &c. could not be ascertained, and afterwards admitted, 7960-7962—Cases of Fitzsimons, M'Loughlin, Mulfall, 7962-7999; also of Dooner, M'Cormack, and others, 8000-8017.

Particulars respecting the cases of Farrell and others examined before the Committee in 1837, and given up as not to be supported on value, 8018-8033—Cases that were struck off the register and re-admitted by Mr. Tighe, 8034-8037—Persons have been admitted to be re-registered on production of their old certificates; no doubt that at the present sessions great numbers of old rejected persons in 1833 will send in their certificates and get them renewed on the same principle, 8045-8049—Present system of registration is fraught with the greatest evil in encouraging perjury, 8050—Instances in which persons have been reproved for not swearing to the full extent of the value requisite, and have afterwards come forward and sworn to the full amount and registered, 8051-8058—Great facilities would be afforded to both parties if the lists were made not only alphabetically but with reference to the townlands or districts, 8059-8064—The registry at the quarter sessions seldom exceeds two days, 8061.

Much better if a certain time were set apart for the business of registration, apart from the civil and the Crown business, 8065-8069—Frequent revision of the register is more required than anything else, 8069—At the last election, several bankrupts and insolvents voted, 8070-8073—Instances in which the qualification oath has been taken by persons, whose title has been lost by the lives in the leases having been dead; they were prosecuted, but the prosecutions were dropped, 8079, 8080—Much time is lost in getting the voters to repeat the oath in Ireland; regulation at elections, allowing a certain time for each vote, 8082-8086—Further evidence respecting the value of Thomas Mulvey's farm, over and above his expenditure, &c., 8087-8166—Very few small farms, in Longford, upon which an acre of meadow land can be obtained, 8167—Nature of the soil on Mulvey's farm, 8168, 8169.

Garrahy, Michael. He was allowed to register for King's County, on swearing he had a beneficial interest of 10*l.* merely above the rent he paid; he registered in October 1836, Kelly 15050-15053.

Geary, Thomas. Coach-globe maker, Douglas-street; registered for Cork as a ten-pound householder in November 1832; was placed on the supplementary valuation at 5*l.*; he appealed against the valuation, and was struck out, Lane 851-854.

Gibson, Mr. He would not act upon the evidence of persons competent to judge of the value of land in opposition to the oath of the claimant, Battersby 13867-13871. 13876-13880—He would register any man who would take the necessary affidavit, and would, in fact, register persons, though they did not derive out of the land a return equivalent to the rent, Battersby, 13907*—His opinion that the franchise ought to be very much extended; and that such was the intention of the Legislature in passing the Irish Reform Bill, Battersby 13998-14001—He held that where a party had let part of his land at an advanced rent and occupied the remainder, if, upon taking the whole together, he had a 10*l.* profit upon the whole, he was entitled to be registered, Kelly 14538-14540—In his decisions he applied the same principle to both parties, Battersby 13957-13959. 14006-14011, Julian 14949-14953.

The principle which he adopted with respect to registration in point of value, where the qualification consisted of land, was to ascertain the value from the value of the produce of the applicant's farm, Julian 14701-14709—He never prevented an inquiry into the produce of the land, Julian 14779-14784—He never refused evidence of possession from the fact of perception of rent; there were cases admitted by him, in which no rent had been paid (by the applicant to register) to the party who granted the lease, Kelly 15001-15004—He would not deduct the poor man's labour when expended upon the land from the value of the produce, Kelly 15049—Different modes of ascertaining that claimants were possessed of sufficient value to register resorted to by him, Daly 15152-15157—He did not admit any claimant who had been previously rejected, without some variation of value or other circumstances being adduced before him, Daly 15556-15560.

Gill, James. Claimed to register for King's County on a lease granted to his mother, who was dead; he had no letters of administration or probate of the will, and consequently was not the personal representative of his mother, Battersby 13939-13956—Further evidence as to the time he had been in possession of the property out of which he claimed, Battersby 13977-13982. 13990, 13991—Objection made to his registration was overruled by Mr. Gibson, Battersby 13942-13945.

Gillassy, Michael. Quantity of land held by him; average worth of the land per acre, Clogher 9794-9801—Further particulars thereof, Clogher 10086-10102, M'Gaver 11822-11830—Value of the house and offices, with the land about it, Clogher 9806-9816—Calculation of the amount of his beneficial interest in the farm; manner in which computed, Clogher 9817-9824.

Glancy,

Glancy, James. Of Friskhill, Longford; quantity of land held by him, and rent paid; it is in a good state of cultivation; was placed on the registry for Longford in 1832, and struck out by the Committee of 1837, Flood 8765-8777—He has a great deal of land under grass at this period; grass land will not bring so great a profit as under tillage; his beneficial interest in the farm would be from 40*l.* to 50*l.* a year, Flood 8781-8787—He is a wealthy man; he has another farm in the same county; he does not want to be in arrears for rent, Flood 8788-8790—He is a man that labours very little; he looks after his stock, and brings them to market, Flood 8853-8860.

Gould, Richard. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Merchant, residing on the South Terrace, Cork, 3943-3946—Assistant barristers in 1832 made the strictest inquiry as to value previous to allowing persons to register, 3947-3950—Witness accompanied Mr. Meagher in valuing premises of parties who had voted at the last election, and who resided in the most vulnerable part of the city, 3951-3953—Evidence thereon, 3955-3964—Has served on valuation jury, and was a commissioner under the Tithe Composition Act, 3960-3962—Number of houses visited by witness, and length of time employed, 3982-3987—It is no criterion of the value of a house that it is not in the valuation book, 4008. 4018-4020.

The most liberal construction was always given by valuers, grand juries, and parish constables to the local Act in Cork exempting houses let to poor tenants from taxation, 4022-4078—Many houses in Cork of the value of 10*l.* that ought to have valued in 1828 which were not, 4080-4090. 4100-4105—All houses of the value of 10*l.* in Cork were valued in 1828, except those let out to lodgers, 4108-4111—There are very few houses of the value of 8*l.* solely occupied by the owner that were valued, 4112-4124—Or of the extreme value of 7*l.*, 4125-4133—Valuation of 1828 was made upon the principle of preceding juries, 4134-4149.

[Second Examination.]—Further examination relative to his statement that hundreds of houses worth 10*l.* a year were passed over by the valuation jury of 1828, 4225-4232—Evidence respecting the value of houses, &c. occupied by Buckley, Cooney, Cavanagh, Collins, Bolton, &c., 4241-4259. 4271-4294. 4312-4335. 4354-4385—Some of the persons registered by the Conservative interest inhabit houses of the worst description, 4260-4270—Valuers of 1828 were of opinion that if they preserved the scale of valuation they were doing their duty, 4302-4311. 4336-4339—Further evidence relative to the value of certain houses occupied by voters, 4396-4407—Great number of those appearing on the register have since died, or left the premises out of which they registered, 4409-4420—Supposed number who did not vote at the last election, 4420-4426—Number who have lost their qualification, although appearing on the register, 4427-4429—Many persons have registered in three different capacities, for the purpose of insuring their votes, not for the purpose of swelling the constituency, 4429-4442—Re-registering has a very evil tendency; it causes personation, &c., 4443-4446.

It would be a great improvement if the register were examined yearly, if it could be done without occasioning more expense or trouble to one party than to another, 4448-4450. 4462—Great delay at the first registry in 1832 by the Conservative party; it occupied forty-two working days, 4450-4453—Number registered, 4454—The register should be checked by the recorder of Cork; no objection to its being done every week, 4463-4469—The list of electors might be arranged alphabetically, and then subdivided according to their parishes, 4471-4474—It is impossible to prevent personation, 4479, 4480—One or two instances of personation on the part of the Liberals; the great majority of personations were on the Conservative side, 4482-4486—Confining the election to two days would be beneficial, 4487-4491—Further evidence as to the benefit to be derived from annual revision of the register, 4502-4508.

[Third Examination.]—Explanation of former evidence (questions 4115, 4116) given by witness respecting the principle on which the valuation of 1828 was made, 4607.

Gould, Mr. Papers delivered in by him, App. i. p. 318-320—Extract from Mr. John Young's list of premises in the city of Cork, out of which persons registered, and which he impugned for want of value before the Fictitious Votes Committee of The House of Commons, with the observations of Mr. R. Gould thereon, App. i. p. 318—Extract from No. 2, Tabular Return, made by Mr. James Lane, of persons registered as ten-pound householders, who do not appear to be valued at any time, with Mr. Gould's observations thereon, App. i. p. 318—Tabular return made by Mr. James Lane of persons registered as ten-pound householders who were valued in the supplementary valuation of 1833, and upon appeal were struck out, and not charged; with Mr. Gould's valuation of the premises, App. i. p. 319—Return of the number of dwelling-houses in the city of Cork which are valued in the city rate books, App. i. p. 320.

Gould, Richard. Was refused his freedom by the corporation of Cork subsequent to the servitude of seven years, Meagher 4940.

Gourtrue, Massacre of. The painting exhibited at the election for Cork in 1835, representing the massacre of Gourtrue, was exhibited without the permission or knowledge of the Liberal candidates or their committee, Meagher 3855-3865.

Govis, Thomas. Circumstances under which he was admitted to the freedom of Cork; he had not served the full term of his apprenticeship, Meagher 4894-4899.

Granard Barony. The land in the lower part of this barony is not so valuable as that in the upper part, Flood 9162-9168—Amount of tithe composition for the parish, Flood 9167—Land there is as good as any in Longford, Flood 9479—In Granard the laymen were more active in urging people forward to register than the Roman-catholic clergy, Flood 9674-9698—In this barony the electors all voted as the clergyman wished them, except two, at the last election, Flood 9699—The clergyman of the parish would not allow any man to come forward to take the oath if his qualification had ceased, Flood 9703, 9704—The lands in the barony of Granard are of a very fine description; average value per acre, Clogher 10140-10153—In some places adjoining the town of Granard land is very good; the tenants pay from 2*l.* 15*s.* to 2*l.* 17*s.* an acre, Fosbery 13195.

Means taken at the sessions held in Granard to prevent the Liberal side coming up to register, Nicholls 10377-10382.

See also Greville, Mr. Land. Qualification, 2. Roman-catholic Clergy. Southwell, Lord. Speeches. Tuite, Mr. Value.

Granarkill. Better land cannot be obtained in Ireland than at Granarkill; it must be very good when the head landlord can get from 3*l.* 10*s.* to 4*l.* per acre rent, Flood 8722, 8723.

Grand Juries (Cork). Feeling of the grand jury generally that the valuation of Cork was in several instances of appeals rather too high, Lane 871-875—Several instances in which persons who have been valued at 20*l.* or 30*l.* have been struck out of the valuation from their inability to pay, Meagher 3601, 3602—Nature and extent of inquiries made by grand juries previous to allowance of appeals against the valuation, Meagher 3603-3648—They are nominated by the sheriffs in Cork, Besnard 302, 303.

See also Cork, 3. Rates, II. 1.

Grand Jury Act. Difference of opinion among parties as to the effect of the Grand Jury Act upon the local Act relative to applotting the assessment of Cork, Besnard 135-145.

See also Cork, 3.

Grand Panel. The grand panel is now considered to be conclusive evidence of a person being a freeman; it is an authentic list of the freemen, and is the document referred to when the freemen are called over, Besnard 12—Freemen are not admitted to the grand panel until they are sworn, Besnard 431-439.

Graves. In the townland of Driminacreeher, Longford, graves have been dug opposite the houses of some of the voters, Courtenay 12912, 12913, 12921, 12922.

Green, Thomas. His qualification to vote for Longford was objected to in April 1837, and was given up as not being sustainable, from want of value, Gardiner 8020-8022, 8030-8033—He voted at the last election, Gardiner 8024-8026.

Green, William. A voter in the Liberal interest; he got a glass of beer or something else from a friend in the Conservative interest, which made him very ill; he was ill many days after in consequence of this drink, McGaver 12338.

Greville, Mr. Has let land at 3*l.* 10*s.* per acre at Mount Granard, which is the highest part of the county of Longford, Flood 8614, 8615—Some of the leases granted by him in 1828 were overheld by his agent till 1832, for fear the lessees should register, Flood 8826-8849—Average amount of his rent-roll in Longford from 10,000*l.* to 12,000*l.*, Flood 8727-8730.

Greville Estate. Opinion that the tenants on the Greville estate never got any abatements of their rent, Flood 8881—Opinion of Mr. Tuite, who valued under the Tithe Composition Act, that there were no better lands in the county than those on this estate, Flood 8881—After the election of 1833 the present agent brought ejectments, and compelled the tenants to pay their arrears, Flood 8888-8904, 8980-9019—Threats have been held out to the tenants on this estate to induce them to vote against the Liberal candidate, Flood 8905-8920, 8946-8949—Previous to the election of 1833 there was no tenant upon this estate who did not owe two years' rent, Flood 8922-8940—Average rent of lands on this estate, Flood 9488-9491.

Griffin,

Griffin, John. Cotton-weaver, Fair-lane; valued in 1828 at 6 l.; was returned as "poor," 1830-1832; registered as a forty-shilling freeholder for Cork in October 1832; does not appear upon the rates after the summer of 1832, Lane 1017-1023.

Griffith, Mr. One of the agents for the Conservative party in Longford; he admitted that there were several bad freeholders taken at the first registration, in consequence of Lady Ross not giving the abatement in time to entitle the tenants to vote, Flood 8235-8237—This could not be, for if they were entitled to vote they must have been upon the register; if any abatement were given, it must have been before they registered, Courtenay 13252-13258.

Gurtavaron, Cork. Persons appear on the register for Cork in right of lands of Gurtavaron, though resident at Farrenastig, Deeble 5491-5493.

H.

Haly, John. Bridewell-lane, Cork; description of the house occupied by him; it is worth about 5 l., Young 2325-2327—It could not have been worth 10 l. in 1832, Young 2329—Registered in 1832, voted in 1832 and 1835, Colburn 2328-2332—Does not appear to have been valued for the purposes of the city taxation, Lane 2331.

Haly, William. Registered for Cork out of dwelling-house and lands at Holyhill; he resided at Knocknacullen, Deeble 5957, 5958.

Heany. Four brothers of this name registered as freeholders for Longford in 1832, in right of a lease granted them by their father, Flood 8310, 8311.

Henney, John. Was admitted to the register of King's County, although, on his cross-examination, he admitted he could not get 10 l. a year above what his land was set to him for, Kelly 15060.

Hennissey. Particulars of the attack made by persons of this name on James Nolan and his son, for voting against his landlord; refusal of the magistrate to take the informations against them; their subsequent trial and conviction, M'Gaver 12477-12482.

Herlihy, Timothy. Of Ronan's Walk, Cork; registered as a twenty-pound freeholder; registered out of two houses; occupies one room only, and lets the other parts to lodgers, Young 2595-2610—Neither of the houses were of the value of 10 l., Young 2613.—Registered in 1832 out of a house, and not houses, Colburn 2611, 2612—Affidavit upon which he registered; he signed the affidavit as a marksman, Colburn 2615-2619—He voted in 1832 and in 1837, Colburn 2621—His name does not appear upon the valuation, Lane 2614.

Hickey, John. Carpenter; registered for Cork out of house in Vickers-street; was valued in the supplementary valuation at 5 l.; appealed against it, and his appeal allowed; he has never been rated since, Lane 877—No doubt that thirty years ago his house would have realized 30 l. a year; it is "good value for 10 l.;" he has "expended 40 l.," Gould 4372-4376.

Hickey, Michael. He was permitted to register for King's County, on swearing that he had a beneficial interest of 10 l. in the premises occupied by him above the rent paid, Kelly 15050-15053.

Hickson, or Hickenson, John. Of Denroche Cross; the house formerly occupied by him is worth about 6 l., Young 2242, 2243, 2246-2259—Registered in 1832, Lane 878, Colburn 2244, 2245—Voted in 1832, 1835, and 1837, Colburn 2244, 2245—Does not appear in the valuations, Lane 878—He paid rates in 1835, and was of the full value of 10 l.; his receipt was produced by Mr. Gould, Barry 5768-5783.

Higgins, Dr. He is very particular in his inquiries as to the exertions made by the Roman-catholic clergy in his diocese to put down illegal societies, and prevent disturbances in their respective parishes, M'Gaver 12018-12023.
See also Illegal Societies.

Hilyard, Michael. Of Lisfarrell; claimant to register for Longford; produced a lease for the life of Lord Forbes, or twenty years; the court held that, by the 16th section of the Reform Act, they had no power to go into the landlord's title, Gardiner 7925-7935.

Hogan, John. He registered for King's County in 1836, on swearing that he had a beneficial interest of 10 l. in the premises above the rent paid by him; he was objected to by the Conservatives, Kelly 15050-15053.

Hogan, William. Farmer, Ballincarrigo, Cork; registered out of house and land in October 1832, Colburn 5309—Witness is not acquainted with any such denomination as Ballincarrigo, Deeble 5310-5315.

Hollowood, Robert. Nailer, Maypole-road; 10 l. householder; registered in October 1832; does not appear in the valuation, Lane 877, 2372—His house is worth about 5 l. per year; it is in a very ruinous condition, Young 2361-2363, 2365-2371—Registered in 1832; voted in 1832 and 1835, Colburn 2364.

Hollyhill, Cork. Names of parties who have registered out of houses and lands at Hollyhill, although resident at other places, Deeble 5948-5958.

Horgan, Dems. Of Brandy-lane; his house worth 6 l. per annum; he occupies but one room, the other part let to lodgers, Young 2271-2274—Registered for Cork in 1832; voted in 1832, 1835, and 1837, Colburn 2275, 2276—He was valued at 5 l. in 1833; appealed, and was struck off, Lane 2277.

Householders (Cork). Return of the names, in alphabetical order, of all persons registered as householders in the city of Cork, and who voted at any election since the passing of the Reform Act for Ireland, whose houses in respect of which they have registered were charged with rates in the treasurers' warrants imposed at any assizes, from the year 1830 to the year 1837, &c., App. iii. p. 554-558.
See also Ten-pound Householders.

HOUSES:

In Cork.—They are exempted from taxation if let out in tenements to poor persons, or if waste or unoccupied, Besnard 157-161—Are generally assessed below their value, Besnard 182—Decline very much in value in some districts of Cork, in others they do not, Gould 3978.

King's County.—Those inhabited by small landholders in King's County are of a very miserable description, Battersby 13790-13793.

Houses of Ill-fame. See Bridewell-lane, Cork.

Howell, William. Of Ballard's-lane, Cork; his house worth about 5 l. per annum, Young 2333-2335—It could never have been worth 10 l., Young 2337, 2338—Registered in 1832; voted in 1832, 1835, and 1837, Colburn 2336, 2339.

Howley,

Howley, Mr. He rejected a person claiming under a lease, in consequence of its containing a non-alienation clause, Daly 15513-15518.

Hughes-lane, Cork. But few houses there that are not worth 10 l. 10 s. a year, Meagher 3403—The houses are principally let out in lodgings, Meagher 3405—The rooms let from 10 d. to 2 s., Meagher 3410-3412.

Hume, Clement. Appears upon the panel for Cork, as being admitted a freeman on the 8th September 1832, Meagher 4772—It should be Sept. 1830, Besnard 4773.

Hungerford, Thomas. Of Cahermore; admitted to the freedom of Cork in September 1832, Meagher 4756—He was admitted in September 1830, and not 1832; it is an error in the entry, as it stands in the admission book of the corporation, Besnard 4761-4766.

Hurley, Daniel. Coal-dealer, Barrack-street, Cork; registered in October 1832, does not appear in any of the valuations, Lane 877.

Insolvents, in Longford. Instance of persons who have become insolvent since the registry voting at elections, Courtenay 6846—About the same number of insolvents voted at the last election for Longford on both sides, Ternan 10944-10977.

INSPECTION OF DEEDS, &amp;c.:

1. Generally.
2. Evils arising from the withholding an Inspection.
3. Practice with regard to allowing Inspection.

1. Generally:

It is impossible for the assistant barrister accurately to inspect, nor does he inspect all the clauses in the instrument produced at the time of registration, Kelly 14364. 14384. 14385—The assistant barrister generally states the dates of the lease, the amount of stamp duty, the period for which made, the rent and quantity of land and the parties' names, Kelly 14364. 14365—Impossible for any assistant barrister, during the sitting of the court, to detect the various causes tending to vitiate the lease of a freeholder or leaseholder, from the number of cases which come before him during the day, Kelly 14384, 14385—The same inconvenience would arise to a tenant, from the landlord laying the counterpart of the lease before counsel, as if it was produced in the registry court, Kelly 14510-14515, Julian 14851-14854—Mr. Cosgreave was very particular in his inspection of the deeds, &c. under which the parties claimed to register, Daly 15088-15092.

2. Evils arising from the withholding an Inspection:

If the assistant barrister refuses the inspection of documents, it has the effect, in the midland counties of Ireland, of giving the preponderance to the Liberal interest, as a majority of the small freeholders belong to that interest, Battersby 13983-13985. 14006-14011. 14046-14062, Julian 14825-14828—The refusal of assistant barristers to allow the inspection of leases, &c. prevents counsel from making many objections to claimants, and allows the introduction of fictitious votes which would otherwise be detected, Battersby 14014-14027, Kelly 14391-14396, 14406 Julian 14841-14844.

3. Practice with regard to allowing Inspection :

Is allowed to the counsel on both sides at the Wicklow registry, Battersby 14012, 14013—Frequent applications made to Mr. Gibson to allow an inspection of the documents produced by claimants, but he invariably refused, Battersby 13939-13941, 13947-13949, 13953-13955, 13982, 13991-13996, Kelly 14353, 14364, 14394-14405, 14409-14415—Other assistant barristers have decided in the same manner, Kelly 14414, Julian 14818-14828—The general practice of assistant barristers is, to allow them to be inspected by the opposing parties, Julian 14829-14840—Witness was never allowed an inspection of the lease when opposing a claimant; it was a rule laid down by Mr. Cosgreave, and acted upon by Mr. Gibson, Daly 15225-15227.

See also Cosgreave, Mr. Dobbs, Mr. Ellis, Mr. Registration.

Interference at Elections. Witness has never interfered with his parishioners, with a view to influence their voting at elections, except in cases where the parties were about to take bribes, M'Gaver 12247-12264.

J.

Jameson, Edward. Douglas-street; registered in 1832 as a ten-pound householder; neither the name nor the house out of which he registered appear in the valuation, Lane 878.

Jessop, Mr. He was allowed to register out of his turn; he was put forward by the Conservatives; the list had been called over once when he registered, Nicholls 10632-10635, 10648-10651—He registered at Ballymahon; was registered out of turn on consent, he having to attend his examination at college, Fosbery 12975, 12976.

Jessop, Mr., of Dury Hall, Longford; ejection of Catholic tenants on his estate and substitution of Protestant families, and their subsequent ejection for arrears of rent, M'Gaver 12089-12092.

Johnson, Francis, Coppinger's-lane; his premises are worth about 5*l.* a year; they are in very bad repair, Young 2373-2380, 2382-2403—Registered in 1835, Colburn 2381.

Joint Tenants. Repeated instances of persons coming forward to claim out of the same holding, and being admitted, in Longford, Courtenay 6798-6806.

Jones, Robert, Evergreen-street, Cork; valued at 6*l.* in the supplementary valuation; registered in 1832; does not appear to have been rated, Lane 1159-1161.

Jordan, Bryan. His qualification to vote for Longford was impeached in April 1837, and was given up by the counsel as not sustainable from want of value, Gardiner 8020-8022, 8030-8033—He voted at the last election, Gardiner 8024-8026.

Julian,

Julian, John. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Agent to the King's County Conservative Registration Society for many years; ceased to be the agent in 1835, 14693-14698—The principle which Mr. Gibson adopted with respect to registration, in point of value, where the qualification consisted of land, was to ascertain the value from the value of the produce of the applicant's farm, 14701-14719—Cases decided by Mr. Gibson in opposition to the opinion of the twelve judges as to the question of value, 14720-14726—By far the greater part of the ten-pound freeholders were registered without having a 10*l.* marketable value, 14726-14732—Only four cases rejected by Mr. Gibson for want of sufficient value, 14735—Case of James Durrivan, 14741-14761—Witness was a subscriber to the Conservative fund, 14761-14767—Rate of payment received by witness as agent to the Conservative Association, 14773-14778—Mr. Gibson never prevented an inquiry into the produce of the land, 14779-14784.

In no instance could positive evidence be procured to contradict the claimant, though great pains were taken to procure such evidence, 14789-14804—The principle on which Mr. Gibson acted was not to deduct the labour, 14811-14814—Frequent applications made to him to allow an inspection of the documents produced by claimants, but he invariably refused, 14814-14828—Many bad effects have ensued from not allowing counsel or agents to peruse the instrument under which the parties claimed to register, 14825-14828—The general practice is to allow them to be inspected by the opposing parties, 14829-14840—It is calculated to place fraudulent votes upon the register, 14841-14844—In many instances tenants voted against their landlords, 14845-14850—The production of a lease would give the landlord no further information than he could obtain from his own counterpart; it is generally considered the duty of the tenant to pay for both parts of the lease, though in many cases there is only one part, 14851-14854—Mr. Gibson held that being in possession as tenant for six months previous to the registry was sufficient, provided he had a lease or instrument prior to being registered, 14856-14863.

Frequent instances of persons coming to register as assignees of leases; the production of the assignment has been held by Mr. Gibson to be sufficient, 14864-14866—Case of Stephen Meagher who registered out of an assignment, 14867-14899—Several cases of persons being registered who were not in possession of the entire land out of which they applied to register, 14900-14934—Witness in favour of a liberal construction of the statute as regards possession, 14936-14941—No witnesses examined by the Conservative Society in support of a claim; they were all admitted or rejected on the evidence of the claimant, 14945-14948—Mr. Gibson applied the same principle in his decisions to both parties, 14949-14953—Tenants are not bound to produce the title deeds of the landlords under whom they claim, 14955-14958—Many cases have occurred of leases being granted by a father to his son, reserving only the portion of the rent payable thereon, which is paid to the head landlord, and not to the grantor of the lease, 14959-14964—The assistant barrister has declined to oblige the applicant to answer questions relative to the title of his lessor, 14965-14969.

Justice Rent. The different parishes in Longford have contributed towards the justice rent, M'Gaver 12284-12289.

Justice, Administration of. Roman-catholics of Longford feel no confidence in the juries; it depends upon the sheriff the kind of verdict that is given, M'Gaver 12454-12457—The office of assistant barrister is a very important office in the administration of justice in Ireland, Battersby 14322-14325—Investing the assistant barrister with the functions of registering votes, &c., has destroyed all confidence in the administration of justice as administered by him, Battersby 14326-14330—Great advantage to divest a person holding a judicial office from that political duty, Battersby 14331-14335.

K.

Kanturk. See Registration, III. 2.

Keane, John. Registered out of a house and land at North Poulacanna; there is no such denomination; the nearest to it is North Poulacurry, Deeble 5433, 5434.

Kearnan, Edward. His name was struck off the register for Longford for want of value in 1833; he was re-admitted in 1837, Gardiner 8035, 8036—On his application for readmission, did not produce any additional evidence of further improvement since the period of being struck off, Gardiner 8038-8043.

Kearnan, Michael. Claimant at the Granard Sessions in March 1837; admitted, on his examination, that, taking his improvements into consideration, the land was not worth at the highest more than 33*s.* or 34*s.* per acre; he was, however, admitted, Gardiner 7937-7946.

Kearney, Bryan. His qualification to vote for Longford was impeached before the Committee of 1837, and was given up by the counsel, as not sustainable, from want of value, Gardiner 8020-8022. 8030-8033—He voted at the last election, Gardiner 8024-8026.

Keily, Denis. Wheelwright, Shanden-street, Cork; registered as a ten-pound householder in October 1832; his name does not appear in any of the valuations, Lane 878.

Keily, Timothy. Blarney-lane, Cork; he was valued in 1828 at 8*l.*; not rated till the summer of 1832; registered November 1832, since which time he has been returned "poor;" not called upon to pay any rates, Lane 1100-1103.

Kelly, Mr. He was admitted to the register for King's County as a rentcharge; he admitted, on his cross-examination, he had never received payment of money under it, Deehan 15607-15621.

Kelly, Edmund Meares. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Barrister, residing in Dublin, 14340-14342—Employed by the Local Registry Association to report the proceedings at the registering sessions for King's County; number of sessions employed at, 14343-14352—Particulars respecting the case in which the Conservative party were refused an inspection of the lease under which a party claimed to register, 14353-14378—In the notice of registration there is nothing to show in what right a man means to register, further than as a leaseholder or freeholder, 14379-14384—Impossible for any assistant barrister to detect the various causes tending to vitiate the lease of a freeholder or leaseholder, from the number of cases which come before him at the registry, 14384, 14385—Not allowing the inspection of a document by the opposing party is calculated to facilitate the registry of fictitious votes, 14391-14393. 14406—Further evidence respecting the rule adopted by Mr. Gibson, of not allowing the opposing parties to inspect documents out of which claimants came to register, 14394-14405. 14409-14415—Other assistant-barristers have decided in the same manner, 14414.

No doubt that at the registration in 1832 many fraudulent leases and instruments were got up for the purpose of registration, 14417-14422—At this registry the number of notices to register by the Liberal party had the preponderance, 14423—Instances in which persons in the Conservative interest have refused to take the affidavit as to value after they have passed the assistant barrister, 14424-14430. 14434-14437—Instances where the assistant barrister admitted parol evidence of deeds without the claimants producing them, 14438-14465. 14493-14505. 14516-14518—In these instances the counterparts of the leases had not been executed by the landlords, 14466-14470—Whether the agents of landlords are not in the habit of receiving sums of money over and above the expenses of the lease for the letting of land, 14473-14492—The same inconvenience would arise to a tenant from the landlord laying his counterpart of the lease before counsel, as if he produced it in the registry court, 14510-14515—Cases in which parties were admitted improperly to the register, 14528-14540. 14556-14568—Under the existing law, a ten-pound freeholder must be in the occupation of that out of which he seeks to register, 14541-14555—Cases in which the barrister refused to receive evidence that went to show that the person who made the lease had no title, 14568-14570.

[Second Examination.]—Further examination respecting the observations of the assistant barrister as to the extension of the elective franchise, 14571-14573—On the question of the barrister refusing to receive or act upon evidence, which went to show that the person who made the lease had no title to do so, 14574-14594—In the case of Stephen Meagher, the instrument produced by him contained no recital of how the person purporting to grant held the land, 14592-14596—He was registered on the covenant contained in the assignment that the grantor had a good title 14597, 14598—The admission of such evidence was against the principles of law, and would open a door to fraud, and the admission of fictitious voters, 14600-14610—Case of James Harrington, claiming to register, the agent for the Conservatives was stopped in cross-examining the applicant as to his father's title or right to make a lease to him, 14613-14618. 14621.

Under the Irish Reform Bill, no person is bound to produce the title-deeds of any landlord under whom he may hold; but possession, and the perception of rent, are to be deemed prima facie evidence of the landlord's title, 14619-14620—This does not prevent the cross-examination of the applicant, to ascertain whether his landlord has such title or not, 14624-14641—The fact of stopping the cross-examination of a witness by the registering barrister, considered by witness as a proof of his refusing to receive evidence touching the title of the landlord, 14642-14656—The claimant, under the Reform Act, is obliged to swear that he is in the actual occupation of a freehold of the yearly value of 10*l.*, 14657-14663—There is a material difference in the wording of the oaths in the 35 Geo. 3, c. 34, 10 Geo. 4, and the Irish Reform Act, as regards occupation, 14664-14692—There is no clause in the Reform Act empowering the 10*l.* freeholder to vote; the 10*l.* leaseholder is empowered, and he is required to be in the occupation, 14673-14683—The receipt of rent from a sub-tenant is proof of possession, but not of occupation, 14691, 14692.

[Third Examination.]—Under the Reform Act there is no possibility of enforcing the attendance of a witness, 14970, 14971. 14980, 14981—Claimants are not bound to produce the title-deeds of their landlords, 14972, 14973. 14999, 15000—Considerable difficulty in producing evidence of fraud, except through the cross-examination of the applicant applicant himself, 14974-14979. 14982-15003—Mr. Gibson never refused evidence of possession from the fact of perception of rent; there were cases in which no rent was ever paid by the applicant to the person who granted him the lease; they were allowed to register, 15001-15004—Case of James Mackay, who registered as a 10*l.* freeholder in 1836; produced a lease executed on the morning of the registry; he had never paid rent to the head landlord, 15005-15018.

[Fourth Examination.]—Evidence respecting certain cases, in which Mr. Gibson admitted persons to the register who had not been in possession for six months before the day of registry, legal or equitable, in connexion with the instrument produced by them as their title, 15019-15044—Instances of the admission of applicants not possessed of the requisite qualification in point of value, 15045-15060.

Kelly, Patrick. Claimant to register for Longford in 1835, under a lease granted him by his father; he was admitted, Gardiner 7923, 7924.

Kelly, Thomas. Claimant to register for Longford in 1835; produced a lease of 15 acres Irish, at 13*s.* 6*d.* per acre; said he had 10 acres more on the back of the lease, which he gave his son; he was admitted, Gardiner 7923, 7924.

Kelly, Thomas. Of Clougheerney; his name was struck off the register for Longford by the Committee of 1833; quantity of land held by him; rent paid for it; a solvent tenant would have given 10*l.* a year over and above his rent for it, Flood 8392-8405—He registered again in 1835; quantity of cattle, &c. on the farm when inspected by witness, Flood 8406-8415—He was opposed by the Conservative party, Flood 8421-8440—His vote was attacked before the Committee of 1837, and sustained, Flood 8445, 8446.

Kenny, Edward. Tailor, Coleman's-lane, Cork; ten-pound householder; registered November 1832; it does not appear that he was ever valued, Lane 878.

Kenny, Michael. Great Britain-street, Cork; rent paid by him 6*l.*; it is the full value, Young 1688-1690. 1692-1694—Is not upon the valuation, Lane 1695—Registered in 1832, Colburn 1691—Has not voted since 1832, Meagher 3225.

Kenny, Patrick. He registered for King's County in 1836; he was objected to, but swore that he had a beneficial interest of 10*l.* above the rent paid, Kelly 15050-15053.

Kenny, Timothy. Curtis-lane, Cork; valued at 7*l.* in 1828; registered in 1832; since which time he has not been rated, Lane 1087-1094.

Kenny, Widow. Of Cashel; she was dispossessed in 1833 of property which she held under Lady Ross; amount of compensation allowed her for giving up possession, M'Gaver 12414.

Kerney, John. Was allowed to register for King's County (notwithstanding the objection made) on swearing that he had a beneficial interest of 10*l.* above his rent, Kelly 15050-15053.

Keyburn, Job. Cross Gun-lane, Cork; house in very bad condition; value about 4*l.*, Young, 1566-1572, Meagher 3143-3145—It was never worth 10*l.*, Young 1574—Registered in 1833, voted in 1837, Colburn 1573.

Kieley, Bartholomew. Registered out of house and garden at Ballybugh, Colburn 5379—There is no denomination of land like that in the liberties of Cork; a person of the same name resides at Bonlibeg, Deeble 5378-5395.

Kift, Mr., Jun. Particulars of his attempt to gain admittance to the electors of Granard, and supposed object in view, Flood 8897-8910.

Kilcommick Parish. Number of families dispossessed of their holdings in this parish since 1831; some of them were in arrears for rent, M'Gaver 12527-12550.

Kilkenny. Amount of tithe composition there; average rent of land on which it was paid, Battersby 14316-14321.

King's County. A great number of persons were put upon the registry in this county who did not possess a beneficial interest of 10*l.* in their farms, Battersby 13673-13684—Cases in which parties were admitted improperly to the register, Kelly 14528-14540. 14556-14568—Cases in which the assistant barrister refused to receive evidence that went to show that the person who made the lease had no title, Kelly 14568-14570. 14574-14594—Supposed number of bad or fictitious votes on the register for this county, Daly 15428-15435—Very few persons placed upon the registry in 1832 who had not a right to vote at the registering sessions of that year, Deehan 15607, 15608. 15625-643.

15627—Great care taken in 1832 by the Conservative party there, in bringing up their claimants; the great majority of whom were registered upon production of their former certificates, Deehan 15622-15624.

A number of the landlords in this county endeavoured to prevent their tenants from registering, Deehan 15581—Population of; number of registered voters; per centage of registered voters upon the population; acreable surface, arable and pasture, Daly 15174-15202—Statistical account of, in relation to the number of taxable acres, population, and persons registered, Daly 15561, 15562—Average rent of land in King's County from 10s. to 20s. an acre; very few cases in which land is let at 30s. or 35s. per acre, Daly 15302-15305—The lands in King's County are generally let under the marketable value, Daly 15326-15331—The majority of fifty-pound freeholders in the King's County are of the Conservative party; in the lists the rentchargers are distinguished from the twenty-pound freeholders with sufficient accuracy, Daly 15543-15547—In King's County only four cases rejected by Mr. Gibson for want of sufficient value, Julian 14735.

Kinnarney, Michael. He was rejected at the October sessions of 1836, the lease not being executed within six months prior to the holding of the court of registration; he had been 33 years in possession without a lease, Daly 15147.

L.

Labour. The expense of labour upon an acre of oats would be about 1*l.*, Flood 8460, 8461—On an acre of potatoes, about 3*l.*, Flood 8462—A farm of twenty-two acres would fully occupy the time of three persons during the whole year, Clogher 9884-9892—Number of days a person cultivating a farm of twenty-one acres must necessarily (without having other assistance) be employed, Clogher 10103-10125—There is no labour required in attending grazing cattle; it is usual on twenty acres to have a herd to look after them; it is generally a child, Clogher 10126-10139—In many parts of Ireland labour is plentiful, but employment scarce, Battersby 14268-14270—It is the general opinion amongst landholders in Ireland that the value of the straw is equivalent to the value of the labour, Daly 15118, 15119.

Labourers. There are more Catholics than Protestants in the situation of labourers in Longford, M'Gaver 12228, 12229—Those working for persons holding large farms are never so well off as those labourers who hold very small farms, M'Gaver 12228-12244—Those who are employed at wages only, without diet, and not possessed of any land, can barely subsist, M'Gaver 12232-12234.

Land. Where persons are tenants from year to year, and their landlords are hostile to them in politics, not being sure of a renewal of the tenancy, they endeavour to take as much as they can out of the land, M'Gaver 12585—Quantity of land generally held by the tenants who were dispossessed on Lady Ross's estate, and those who succeeded, M'Gaver 12621-12627—So great is the desire amongst all parties in Longford to obtain land that they will consent to pay a rent, which, when paid, will barely allow them the means of subsistence, Rooney 11594-11596, Daly 15311-15325—From the great competition for land in Ireland, persons would be found to give more for it than what it was intrinsically worth, Daly 15311-15325.

Though some lands are let at considerably under what could have been obtained for them, they are let at what would be fair to enable the tenant to live comfortably upon the land, M'Gaver 12678-12685—Whether landlords would for political purposes let their land at 18s. or 20s. an acre less than its value, unless under a distinct understanding that the tenants should vote with him, M'Gaver 12818-12831—Some of the lands out of which parties wished to register had a very wild appearance; they were more like a place for snipes than arable land, Fosbery 13090-13094—Land in grazing districts, and used for grazing, will produce best; it is not worn out by frequent tillage, Battersby 13750, 13751—Land contiguous to a town will let at 4*l.* an acre, Daly 15298, 15299—No subject in the profession that is liable to so much discrepancy of swearing as a man's opinion of the value of land, Daly 15376, 15377.

LANDLORDS:

In Longford.—Those who take part in Tory politics have pledged themselves not to give land to Catholics, M'Gaver 11906-11908—Several instances in Longford in which landlords have let their lands at a less rent than could have been obtained for them, in order to make freeholders, M'Gaver 12653-12686—No disposition on the part part of proprietors of lands to get rid of their Roman-catholic tenants previous to their voting against them through the interference of the Roman-catholic clergy, Courtenay 13434.

In King's County.—Landlords were generally anxious to prevent their tenants registering, from the fear that where they had Roman-catholic tenants they would go with the Liberal candidates, Deehan 15635-15643.

See also Agents. Southwell, Lord. White, Colonel.

Landlord and Tenant. Mode of valuing a farm as between landlord and tenant, and evidence thereon, Clogher 9826-9846—In valuing land between landlord and tenant, witness has not taken into consideration the value of the tithe, Rooney 11766—The interference of the Roman-catholic clergy between landlord and tenant has no doubt caused the latter to be at variance with the former, M'Gaver 11886-11893—The conduct of the Roman-catholic clergy in interfering at elections is the cause of the ill-will that prevails to a great extent between the tenants and their landlords, Courtenay 13418, 13419—See also Intimidation. King's County. Roman-catholic Clergy.

Lane, Denis. Farmer, Ballinoriskig, Cork; registered out of house and land there; he lives on Ballyvoskig Glebes, in the south liberty, at least nine or ten miles from Ballinvostig, Deeble 5324-5330.

Lane, James. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Treasurer of the city of Cork since 1820, 451-455—Acts under a local Act, and is responsible to the grand jury, 456-461—He applots and issues a warrant to the collector; in the liberties he applots the plough-lands only, which are afterwards assessed by others, 462-468—The valuation in 1833 was only supplementary to that of 1828, including the houses newly built, 469-473. 679, 680—Persons were upon the register as ten-pound householders who were not in the valuation, 474-478—Persons who petitioned the grand jury, alleging their premises not to be worth 5*l.*, appeared upon the register, 481-492—Many persons applied personally to be exempted from rating, 493-499.

Valuators are appointed by the grand jury, and sworn before the recorder; they are paid salaries, 500-503—The last city valuation was in 1833, 504-507—There has been no valuation of the liberties since 1822, 508, 509—Property has varied much in value since that time, 510-513—Great disparity in the valuation of the plough-lands; lands of unequal value are assessed the same, 514-517—Buildings on the Glanmire side of Cork, 518-522—A survey was made of each ploughland under 53 Geo. 3d, 523-528.

[Second Examination.]—Produces the valuations of 1828 and 1833, and the list of registered voters, 528-533—Acts for the local taxation of Cork; description of tenements to be rated, 534, 535—Explanation of the term "linney," 536-540—Tenements excepted from valuation, 541—Copy of appointment of valuers by the grand jury, 542-555—The valuation of 1833 was to include houses that had been built since or not included in former valuations, 556, 557—Penalty on valuers for negligence, 558-562—Appotments are made before the warrant to levy the assessment is made, and placed in the vestry-room for inspection; the inhabitants scarcely ever look at it, 563-575.

All the proceedings relative to the valuation required by section 2 of 55 Geo. 3d, have been complied with, 576-588. 619—Witness always gives full publicity in his office to the valuation, and distributes printed copies; the same publicity is not afforded by the churchwardens, 589-613—Inconvenience of resorting to the vestry-room, 614-618—Power of the valuers to enter premises under 53 Geo. 3d, s. 9, 620-622—The register is made out and printed by the clerk of the peace; number on the register, 623-631—Without any political object witness compared the valuation with the register, and found names on the latter not included in the former, 632-636.

Examination respecting the names of parties appearing on the register as occupying tenements of the value of 10 l., but whose names do not appear in either of the valuations, 637-767—Opinion that the class of voters created by the Reform Act are of a better description than those under the former Acts, 768-771. 810-820. 838-841—At the first registration under the Reform Act, there were persons registered who were not entitled, 772—In several instances the obligation of an oath is not so much regarded as it ought to be by those who take it, 781-785—Further examination relative to the registration of persons who had not proper qualification, 786-809—The class of forty-shilling freeholders are daily diminishing, 822-824—List of persons claiming to register being made in alphabetical, instead of parochial arrangement, was productive of great difficulty and perplexity, 825-837—Non-resident freemen appear on the registry; many of them voted at the last election for Cork, 841-847.

[Third Examination.]—Further examination respecting the names of persons appearing on the register, and not upon the valuations, 849-896—Respecting the names of persons appearing on the register as ten-pound householders, who have been valued in either of the valuations to an amount above 5 l. and under 10 l., 897-939.
643. persons

[Fourth Examination.]—Delivers in a list of the names of persons appearing on the register of ten-pound householders, who are valued in the city books under that sum, 940-946—There are a great number of houses in Cork above 10 l. value that are not paying rates, 949. 954-965. 976—Names of parish constables employed in making out returns to enable witness to make the applotment, 952, 953—Persons are frequently exempted from taxation, in consequence of the negligence of the constables, 966-975—Complaints have been made to the grand jury of their negligence, and in many instances alterations have been made in the valuation, 979-1000—Grounds on which certain persons, appearing on the register for Cork, have been exempted by the grand jury from payment of taxes, 1001-1166.

[Fifth Examination.]—Delivers in list of persons registered as ten-pound householders in the city of Cork, and not appearing in any of the valuations; list of persons registered as ten-pound householders, valued in the supplementary valuation of 1833, and struck out upon appeal, &c., 1167—Total of persons registered who are valued under 10 l., 1171—Number registered who are not valued at all, 1172—Total number in the supplementary valuation that were struck out on appeal, 1173.

[Sixth Examination.]—No particular instructions were given to the valuers in 1828, further than that they should proceed to value all the houses fairly and relatively, 4198-4200—Very few houses are valued in the outparts of the town, 4208, 4209—Valuers of 1828, in some cases, allowed thirty per cent. by way of abatement, 4210—Doubts as to the correctness of Mr. Gould's statement, that the valuers of 1828 passed over hundreds of houses worth 10 l. a year without valuing, 4211-4218—It is the tenement, and not the individual, that is valued, and subject to taxation, 4220—The Act of Parliament gives no relief to poor persons, so far as the valuer's duty is concerned, 4221-4224.

[Seventh Examination.]—Names of parties who are described differently in the register and in the rate-book; evidence thereon, 4590-4600—Many houses bringing a rent of 10 l. or thereabouts are not in the valuation books, 4603, 4604—Suggestions for improving the conduct of the registration and elections in Ireland, 4605-4606.

Leahy, Philip. Wool-comber, Cattle-lane, Cork; ten-pound householder, registered November 1832; does not appear in any of the valuations, Lane 882.

Leary, Denis. Yeoman, Boyce's-street, Cork; registered as a ten-pound householder; was valued in the supplementary valuation at 5 l., and appealed; was struck out, and has never since been rated, Lane 882. 1704—The premises occupied by him worth about 5 l.; they are partly let to lodgers, Young 1696-1701—Ground rent 1 l. 1 s.; the tenant pays 7 l., Meagher 3226-3230—They were never worth 10 l., Young 1703—Registered in 1832; voted 1832, 1835, and 1837, Colburn 1702, Meagher 3226.

Leary, Humphrey. Labourer, Cat-lane, Cork; ten-pound householder; was valued in the supplementary valuation at 5 l., and appealed against it, and was struck out, Lane 882. 2517—The premises occupied by him are in very bad condition; they are not worth more than 5 l. per annum; it is partly let out in lodgings, Young 2510-2513—His lodgings produced him 10 l. 6 s., exclusive of his own apartments; the house is worth 14 l. a year, Meagher 3729-3736—Registered in 1832; voted in 1832, 1835, and 1837, Colburn 2514.

Leary, John. Eason's-hill, Cork; ten-pound householder; registered in October 1832; does not appear in any of the valuations, Lane 882. 2421—His house is worth about 5 l.; it is in very bad repair, Young 2416, 2417—Registered in 1832; voted in 1832, 1835, and 1837, Colburn 2418, 2419.

Lease

Lease Money. Money given for the expense of leases; tenants do not generally make a practice of paying a sum of money for lease-money, Kelly 14487, 14488—In some cases it amounts to as much as three times the expenses, Flood 8826-8849.

See also Agents.

Leaseholders. Persons holding under a lease of lands for a term of years; this class of electors was the main addition to the franchise by the Irish Reform Bill, Courtenay 6414.

Leases. In some instances have been granted by persons not having a title, and given to persons under them, and the barrister would not go into the lessor's title, Gardiner 7895—The covenants in Mr. Lefroy's leases were introduced for the protection of the tenant against any intimidation that might be used to force them to vote against their landlord, Courtenay 12898-12903—The covenant objected to in Lady Ross's leases was that creating a forfeiture in case the tenant did not reside upon the premises, Courtenay 12925 12936—Witness was very particular in his inquiries respecting leases that were recently granted, to see whether they were for the purpose of what is called "occasional voting," Fosbery 12959. 12966-12968.

Roman-catholics holding war leases on the lands of Lisnana are more numerous than the Protestants, Courtenay 13401-13404—In many instances they are prepared by the tenants themselves, or their own attorney, Kelly 14477, 14478—Were there are a good many special covenants in leases, the landlord's agent insists upon preparing them, or having them prepared in a certain form, Kelly 14478—In cases of non-production of leases, Mr. Gibson required stricter evidence than his predecessors to account for their existence and non-production, Daly 15126-15143. 15276-15278—The majority of leases produced at the registration were the common printed form usually supplied by the stamp-offices in Ireland, Daly 15510-15514.

1. By whom prepared; Evils arising from the confused manner in which prepared.
2. Suggestions for remedying the Evils complained of.

II. In Longford:

1. Evils of the present System.
2. Suggestions thereon.

III. Papers laid before the Committee.

I. In Cork:

1. By whom prepared; Evils arising from the confused manner in which prepared.

By whom prepared; the list is published ten days before the registration; impossibility of investigating the rights of freemen, Besnard 38-42, Lane 623-631, Barber 6192—The names of freemen, freeholders, and householders were promiscuously inserted in this list; the townlands not always specified, Besnard 43-47. 52, 53—Complaints were made of the confined nature of the lists, Besnard 48-51—The confusion of the register occasions great expense and vexation to the candidates, Besnard 219-222—Imperfect specification of residence by claimants in the liberties of Cork, Besnard 384-394. 449, 450—Claimants to register are not required by any section of the Reform Act to specify the townland or parish, Besnard 395-403—The schedule is not referred to in the Act, and the form there prescribed is disregarded, Besnard 404-417—Further examination thereon, Besnard 440-445.

The list of persons claiming to register being made in alphabetical instead of parochial arrangement, was productive of great difficulty and perplexity, Lane 825-837.

2. Suggestions for remedying the Evils complained of.

Suggestions as to the manner in which they should be prepared; officers in cities and towns that might prepare the same, Besnard 6295. 6302. 6332—In towns where there are no officers to furnish lists of persons who pay rates, the revising barrister should take the 60th section of the Poor Law Bill as the standard of value, Besnard 6311, 6312—If the lists of claimants were made out with reference to parishes or districts, the labour of identifying parties would be diminished, Colburn 1282-1290—It would be convenient to all parties if the claimants were classed as to the locality, Colburn 1304-1307—That the registry should be numbered, beginning with No. 1, in each parish; the certificate of registry to bear the same number, also stating the parish, Lane 4606—A list or lists should be made out previous to the time of registering, which should contain not only the names of the parties, but also the parishes or ploughlands on which they reside, Deeble 5517-5521—They should be classified, and a longer time given for investigation, Barber 6192.

II. In Longford:

1. Evils of the present System.

Great delay and confusion caused from the mode in which the list of claimants was made out, Courtenay 6595-6605—The same difficulty and confusion will occur at any subsequent registration; there is nothing in the Reform Act which will obviate it, Courtenay 6614-6623.

2. Suggestions

2. Suggestions thereon.

It would be a great improvement if they were made out not only alphabetically but also with reference to the parishes or other subdivisions, so that all of the same neighbourhood should be called on together, Courtenay 6841, 6842—There is considerable difficulty in ascertaining the claimant from the alphabetical list published, Courtenay 6878-6882. 6921—Great facilities would be afforded to both parties if the lists were made out not only alphabetically but with reference to the townlands or districts, Gardiner 8059-8064—It would be a very great improvement if the lists of claimants were arranged according to the town-lands and not merely alphabetically, Fosbery 13156-13160.

III. Papers laid before the Committee :

Return of the number of claimants who gave notice to register at the special sessions for the city of Cork held in October 1832 as resided in the liberties and in the city and suburbs of Cork, App. ii. p. 4—Return of the number of notices given by persons claiming to register at the special sessions for the city of Cork under the Reform Act, specifying the number of claimants whose names commenced with each letter of the alphabet, App. ii. p. 4.

Loans. See Advances to Voters.

Local Acts of Parliament. See Rates, II. 1.

Lodgers. In Cork great numbers were rejected on the lodger point by Mr. Martley, and an appeal was lodged to the judge of assize; number admitted on appeal, Meagher 5010-5013.—See also Rates.

Loland, or Leland, Daniel. See Leland, Daniel.

Longford, Lord. Great exertions made by him, through his agents, to prevent the people from voting; farms were promised to persons on long leases if they would register and vote on the Conservative side, Ternan 11070-11083.

Longford County. Number of the constituency of this county previous to the Reform Bill, and at the present time, Courtenay 6435, 6436. 6440—Increase in the number of the constituency of this county caused by persons being registered under the old rights, who would not antecedently have been admitted upon the register, Courtenay 6438—Also from many persons appearing upon the register who have lost their qualification since they registered, Courtenay 6439, Ternan 10927—There is no such holding as copyholder in this county, Courtenay 6418—There is no doubt there are many bad votes upon the register of this county, and a great many who have lost their qualification since the registration, Courtenay 6441, Ternan 10927—Supposed number of votes that might be struck off the register as bad on both sides, Courtenay 6558-6569. 6586-6590.

Number of electors polled at the last election, Courtenay 6570-6573—After the first registry the registration devolved upon the assistant-barrister of the county, who refused to admit the parties who had been struck off the register in 1832; they were, however, subsequently admitted by him without any additional evidence being produced of their qualification, Courtenay 6624-6645—The greater portion of the people of Longford were very anxious to come forward to register at the first registration, Nicholls 10361—Persons employed by the Liberal party at the registry in 1832 were Protestants, and in some instances Orangemen, Nicholls 10480-10533—Great anxiety on the part of the Conservatives to get tenants and freeholders to register; they have ejected Catholic tenants to make way for Protestant tenants, whom they could rely upon, M'Gaver 11788-11790.

There is no division between the Catholic clergy and the laity, and the liberal Protestants in Longford as to who shall be the representatives, M'Gaver 12699-12703—It would be possible for a candidate to succeed in this country, although opposed by the whole body of Roman-catholic clergy; instances in which they have succeeded, M'Gaver 12717-12721—The freeholders of Longford are generally intelligent men; in matters of elections they ought to be left to exercise their own judgment, M'Gaver 12749*-12750. 12803—From being the most quiet county in Ireland is become one of the most disturbed; life is not safe there at present, Courtenay 10435-13447. 13518.

Nature of the outrages committed in this county, and supposed causes thereof, Courtenay 13448-13520—There was a man shot in Longford during the election of 1836; the person tried for the murder was acquitted, and the woman upon whose evidence he was tried was afterwards tried and convicted of perjury, Courtenay 13519-13521—At the registration in 1832 a man had his skull fractured by a policeman; no legal proceedings taken against the policeman committing the outrage, Ternan 11029-11042—No

M'Carthy, Florence. Eason's-hill, Cork; value of house and garden occupied by him about 6*l.*; could not be worth 10*l.* in 1832, Young 2099-2101. 2103—He has expended 40*l.* on his cooperage, and he has good value for 10*l.*, Meagher 3447-3450—Registered in 1832; voted in 1832, 1835, and 1837, Colburn 2102—Valued in 1828 at 5*l.*, and has paid his rates, Lane 2104, 2105.

M'Carthy, John. Millwright, Cockpit-lane, Cork; registered as a ten-pound householder; he does not appear in the valuation at all, Lane 887.

M'Carty, Charles. York-street, Cork; house is worth about 6*l.*; would hardly value it at all for the grand jury, or at not more than 5*l.*, Young 1637-1642. 1644-1649—He pays 12*l.* 12*s.* a year rent, and it is good value for more than that, Meagher 3191-3209—It was worth 10*l.* in 1835, Barry 5866-5871—His name does not appear in the valuation; he must have occupied some of the houses that are at present marked in some other name, Lane 1650-1657—Registered in 1833; voted in 1835 and 1837, Colburn 1643, Meagher 3193.

M'Cormack, James. Of Ballyglassan, Longford; in this case evidence was given of the lessor's title, it being necessary to make out the claimant's title, he claiming as lessee of his father, Gardiner 8008-8017—His qualification to vote was objected to before the Committee of 1837, and was given up by the counsel on the other side as not being sustainable, Gardiner 8020-8022. 8030-8033—He voted at the last election, Gardiner 8024-8026.

M'Cormack, Thomas. His qualification to vote for Longford was impeached as insufficient before the Committee of 1837, and was given up as unsustainable from want of value, Gardiner 8020-8022. 8030-8033—He voted at the last election, Gardiner 8024-8026.

M'Donagh, Thomas. Of Cashel; was dispossessed of property he held under Lady Ross in 1833; amount of compensation allowed him, M'Gaver 12414.

M'Evoy, Mr. Has granted leases at rents under their value, for the purpose of creating freeholders, M'Gaver 12677—Particulars respecting the plan adopted by the revising barrister of Longford in registering his tenants; the leases produced were new leases, Fosbery 12957-12965—He seemed not to be a very strong-minded man; witness was informed that he had granted the leases for the purpose of creating freeholds, Fosbery 12956. 12960.

M. Gaver, Rev. E. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Roman-catholic clergyman, of Carrick Edmund, in the county of Longford, 11775-11778—No intimidation used by Roman-catholic clergy of Longford to induce persons to go forward to register; the parties were very anxious to register, except in cases where the lease was nearly out, the landlord holding opposite politics, or they had no lease of some portions of their farms, 11779-11787—Great anxiety on the part of the Conservatives to get tenants and freeholders to register; they have ejected Catholic tenants to make way for Protestant tenants whom they could rely upon, 11788-11790—Particulars respecting the quantity of land held by Thomas Mulvey, amount of rent, amount received for the produce of his land, &c., 11791-11811—Opinion that the person who gave evidence before the Longford Election Committee, respecting this farm, could not have examined it with any degree of particularity, 11812-11821—Case of Michael Galassy, 11822-11830—Case of John Sodan, jun., who voted at the election of 1833 on the certificate obtained for his father; he voted for the Conservative, 11831-11849.

Witness has frequently admonished his flock from the altar as to the manner in which they should vote, and has noticed those who voted contrary to his advice from the same place, 11850-11871—Roman-catholic tenants had been turned out to make way for Protestants previous to the interference in politics of Roman-catholic clergy, 11872-11875—The interference of Roman-catholic clergy between landlord and tenant has caused the latter to be at variance with the former, 11886-11893—Instances have occurred of persons having their seats in the chapel torn to pieces, and thrown into the road, after their names have been mentioned from the altar, 11894-11899, 11904—Landlords who take part in Tory politics in Longford have pledged themselves not to give land to Catholics, 11906-11908—Great exertions made by the Catholic clergy to put down all secret societies; the bishop has deprived his clergy of jurisdiction to absolve persons connected with secret or illegal societies, 11909-12023.

[Second Examination]—Further particulars respecting the case of John Sodan, jun., who voted at the Longford election in 1833, having never registered properly, 12024-12062—Of the turning out the Catholic tenantry on Lord Lorton's estate, and substituting Protestants, 12063-12080, 12384-12396—The Irish have a better knowledge of agriculture now than formerly; they are improving in their knowledge and industry every day, 12081-12088—An estate will produce more by being let out in small farms than in large ones, 12086, 12087—Whether the Catholic tenantry who were ejected from Lord Lorton's estate were ejected for nonpayment of rent or non-title; general feeling of the country that they were turned out because they were Catholics, 12093-12111—The agent to the estate has often declared his intention to turn out persons because they were Catholics, 12112-12137—Where Catholic tenantry have been turned out, and Protestants substituted, the Protestants have received no injury, 12143—Number of Catholic families turned from an estate in Cashesel; number re-admitted; number of Protestant families admitted, and evidence thereon, 12143-12227.

Some of the Catholics who were turned out received a compensation for their former holdings, 12209-12214, 12414—Labourers working for persons holding large farms are never so well off as those labourers who hold very small farms, and reason thereof, 12228-12244—Average rate of wages in Ireland, 12231—Labourers without their food, and without any holdings, can barely subsist, 12232-12234—When a person has a farm he has the means of raising labour, 12241-12244—An address will have more influence by giving it from the altar, than speaking to persons individually; witness has never interfered with his parishioners, with a view to influence their voting at elections, except in cases where parties were about to take bribes, 12247-12264—Inconsistent with the character of a clergyman to engage in the valuation of land, 12265-12269—Witness is a member of the Longford Electors Club, 12272-12282.

The different parishes in Longford have contributed towards the justice rent, 12284-12289—Churchwardens were appointed in some of the parishes; their object was to look to the registrations and elections, for the suppression of crime, &c., 12290-12297—The Roman-catholic clergy preceded their parishioners when going to the poll; necessity for so doing, 12298-12318, 12322-12349—Protestant clergy are equally as active on their side as the Roman-catholic clergy are on the other; no instance of a Protestant clergyman going in procession with his parishioners; no doubt they belong to Conservative clubs; cannot give any instance of it, 12350-12383—Those tenants ejected from the estate in Cashesel were not in arrears for rent; there were not in Ireland tenants more clear from rent than those tenants; some of them obtained compensation, and amount thereof, 12397-12414—Character of Lord Forbes, 12417-12420.

Till 1832 or 1833 the exclusion of Catholics from holding property was not so general as since that period, 12421, 12422—Longford is a very Orange county, nearly all the lower orders being Orangemen, and all the Protestant gentlemen are Orangemen, 12426-12433—Catholic voters, if left to themselves, would vote on the Liberal side; the anti-liberal party is very strong in Longford, 12434-12437, 12469-12476—The hostile spirit of religious animosity is on the increase in that county, 12440—The number of ejectments are increasing wherever an opportunity is afforded, 12441—

Some persons in the employ of Lord Lorton have been assassinated; causes to which attributed; no persons have been executed for the murders; evidence thereon, 12442-12453—The Catholics of Longford feel no confidence in the juries; it depends upon the sheriff the kind of return that is made, 12454-12457—Particulars of the attack made on James Nolan and his son; refusal of a magistrate to take the informations; refusal of the police to act upon a warrant subsequently obtained; arrest of Nolan and his son; their trial and acquittal, and subsequent conviction of the parties making the attack, 12477-12482.

[Third Examination.]—Examination respecting the declaration made by Mr. Robinson, the agent of Lady Ross, relative to the Roman-catholics not being allowed to settle on any part of her property, and whether he has acted up to that declaration, 12493-12527—Number of families dispossessed in the parish of Kilcommock since 1831; some of them were in arrears for rent, 12527-12550—The farms of Roman-catholics have, in many instances, been curtailed, to make room for a Conservative constituency, 12534. 12543—Evidence respecting the removal of Farrell's wife; names of persons engaged in the transaction; witness did not make any complaint to the agent, considering that it would be of no use, 12551-12567—Case of Dennis Farrell, 12567-12569—In no instance has a new lease been granted to a Roman-catholic tenant, who has been dispossessed of his property, under Lady Ross, 12575, 12576—The tenants who were dispossessed were intelligent farmers, and better than those put in, 12577-12585.

Arrear of rent that was customary to be allowed on Lady Ross's property in Cashel, 12587-12592—Parts of Lord Lorton's estates on which the tenants were in arrear for rent three half years, 12595-12612—Number of freeholders on that estate who voted on the Liberal side who were served with ejectments for non-payment, and were obliged to clear out before the next season, 12597-12599—Further evidence respecting the difference in the circumstances of the persons dispossessed under Lady Ross and those by whom they were succeeded, 12613-12643—General quantity of land held by those ejected and those who succeeded, 12621-12627—The system of farming amongst the cottiers of Ireland is not very judicious; it is difficult to make them alter their system, 12644-12651.

General complaint in Ireland that land is let too high, 12652—Several instances in which landlords have let their lands at a less rent than could have been obtained for them, in order to make freeholders, 12653-12686—The test of registration, under 10 Geo. 4, in Longford is, that the tenants get 10*l.* more than they pay their landlords, 12661-12664—Though the lands were let at considerably under what could have been obtained for them, they are let at what would be fair to enable the tenant to live comfortably upon the land, 12678-12685—The system of changing Roman-catholic for Protestant tenants has greatly increased in Longford since the interference of the Roman-catholic clergy at elections, 12687-12697—No division between the Catholic clergy and the laity and the Liberal Protestants in Longford as to who shall be the representatives, 12699-12703—Witness usually addresses his flock at the approach of an election, whenever he can obtain an opportunity, for the purpose of directing their judgment with respect to the representatives they should choose, 12704-12716—There was no threat held out in those exhortations to those who did not vote as was desired, 12740-12749.

It would be possible for a candidate to succeed in the county of Longford against whom the whole body of Roman-catholic clergy was opposed; instances in which they have succeeded, 12717-12721—At the election before the last the Roman-catholic clergy in Longford addressed their flocks on Sundays, on the subject of the representation; considers it as part of the duty of a Catholic clergyman, 12722-12731

—Several instances in witness's parishes of parties declining either to register or vote where their landlords are of opposite politics to themselves, and have no leases, 12732

—Protestant clergymen have not the same influence over their flocks as the Catholic clergymen, therefore their interference would not be so useful, 12733-12739—Previous to the registration of 1833 there were county meetings and trades unions; they were all alive to politics in Longford, 12749—The freeholders of Longford are generally intelligent men, 12749*-12750. 12803.

Previous to the interference of the Roman-catholic clergy at elections, the Roman-catholic tenantry voted with their landlords, whether Liberal or Conservative, 12752, 12753—The generality of Lady Ross's tenants at the last election voted according to the views entertained by her during her life, 12756-12759—Roman-catholic voters would not vote against the opinions expressed by witness, unless they were influenced by some improper motive of intimidation or seduction, 12766-12775—It is morally impossible that Catholics, either clergy or laity, would vote, independent of any expectation, with their landlords, against what their interests would demand of them in politics and religion, 12777-12801—If the threats made use of by landlords to induce their tenants to vote with them were discontinued, the interference of the Roman-catholic clergy would not be required, 12803-12817.

Whether a landlord would, for political purposes, let his land at 18 s. or 20 s. an acre less than its value, unless under a distinct understanding that the tenant should vote with him, 12818-12831—Statement of four Roman-catholic tenants, on Lord Lorton's estate, who were dispossessed in 1833, with the amount of compensations they respectively received, and the compensation they believe that was paid to others, 12834-12838, Ev. p. 270, 271—Extract of letter from Rev. Mr. O'Brien, containing a list of tenants turned off by Mr. Lefroy in 1834, with observations on that Act, 12839, Ev. p. 271, 272—List of persons noticed to quit, and served with ejectment process in April 1838, in the town of Ballinamuck, Ev. p. 277223.

M'Gaver, Rev. Mr. He addressed the people of Longford after the close of the registry court very often; he held Lord Forbes and Mr. A. Lefroy forth as tyrant bigots, Courtenay 13413-13415—Two letters delivered in by Mr. Lefroy relating to the evidence given by him, App. iii. p. 625.

M'Ghee and Jordan. They were detained by the agents for Messrs. Forbes and Lefroy from Saturday till Monday, and then brought under a military escort to the polling booth; when placed upon the table they voted for the Liberal candidates, M'Gaver 12310-12312. 12336—M'Ghee was chaired through the streets for it, M'Gaver 12336.

M'Guinness, Barnard. His qualification to vote for Longford was impeached before the Committee of 1837, and was given up as unsustainable from want of value, Gardiner 8020-8022. 8030-8033—He voted at the last election, Gardiner 8024-8026.

M'Gurk, Matthew. Of Friskin, near Granard; quantity of land held by him; rent paid for it; he was registered for Longford in 1832; was struck out in 1837, upon the ground of want of value, Flood 8668-8676—Mr. Brock's statement before the Committee of 1837, that there were no buildings on his property, is incorrect; description of those which existed on the property in April 1837, when visited by witness, Flood 8682-8695—Map of the premises and buildings on this farm produced, and examination thereon, Flood 8697-8764.

M'Keon, Matthew. Of Balinalee, Granard; came up to vote upon a certificate at the election of 1832; the first vote was rejected on his own admission that he was not a 20 l. freeholder, Flood 8201-8205—He came up again to vote and was rejected; he refused to take the qualification oath, Flood 8209-8218—He was registered as a 20 l. freeholder for Longford under the 10 Geo. 4, but having parted with some of the holding, he registered again as a 10 l. voter; he was put upon the tally to vote as a 20 l. voter by mistake, Courtenay 13225-13230.

M'Keown, James. He registered for King's County in January 1838; he had been rejected at the October sessions previous, has not having been six months in possession under his lease, Kelly 15030—He had been two years in possession under a promise of a lease, Kelly 15039, 15040.

M'Keown, William. He registered for King's County in January 1838; he had been rejected at the October sessions 1837, on the ground that he had not been six months in possession under his lease, Kelly 15030—He had been two years in possession, and was promised a lease about twelve months since, Kelly 15039, 15040.

M'Laughlin, Peter. Of Creloughter, Longford; voted in 1837 for Messrs. Fox and Lefroy as a 10 l. freeholder; witness took possession of his farm out of which he qualified as a freeholder under an habere, Ternan 10835-10845—At the election he was required to take and did take the qualification oath, Ternan 10847-10849. 10861, 10862—Further evidence relative thereto; he has been allowed to remain on the property since the election, Ternan 10978-11001.

M'Loughlin, Thady. Claimant for Longford; produced a lease from Sir Henry Tuite to his father; it was an old lease defaced and pasted on paper; the barrister could not trace the names of the parties or make out the quantity; he was admitted on parol evidence of its contents, Gardiner 7974-7978.

M'Manace, Owen. His qualification to vote for Longford was objected to in April 1837, and was given up by the counsel on the other side as not being sustainable, Gardiner 8020-8022. 8030-8033—He voted at the last election, Gardiner 8024-8026.

M'Mullan, Alexander. Registered for King's County as a rentcharger; he was rejected on his first application, on the ground that the rentcharge was not on a proper stamp; the rentcharge was granted by his uncle out of the house in which the uncle resides, Daly 15486. 15491-15493.

M'Sweeny, David. Butcher, Baillie's-lane, Cork; registered as a 10 l. householder; there is no trace of his name in any of the valuations, Lane 891, 892.

Macarthy,

Macarthy. The number of persons appearing on the register for Cork of this name up to January 1837 is nearly 100, Deeble 5536.

Macaulay, Mr. See Dooner, Hugh.

Mackay, James. Of King's County; he registered as a 10 l. freeholder in 1836; produced a lease executed in the morning of the day he registered; he had never paid rent to the head landlord, Kelly 15005-15018.

Mackens, James. Claimed to be registered for King's County; quantity of land held by him; amount of rent; he held under a lease which had been executed on the day he applied to register; he had been in possession since the death of his father who held as a joint tenant, Battersby 14088-14120. 14130-14138.

Madden, John. Tailor, Douglas-street, Cork; 10 l. householder; registered in 1832; was valued in the supplementary valuation at 5 l.; appealed against it, and was struck out; has never been rated since, Lane 887—Supposed value of his house about 6 l., partly let to lodgers, Young 2106-2108. 2112-2116—Registered in 1832; voted 1832 and 1835, Colburn 2109, 2110—He voted in 1835, but has since gone to America, Meagher 3451-3455—Placed in the supplementary valuation at 5 l.; appealed, and was struck out, Lane 2111.

Meagher, Daniel. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Merchant and rectifying distiller in Cork; resident in Cork fifty years, 2717-2719—At the registry in 1832 care was taken to ascertain the real value before a party was allowed to register, 2723-2727—Evidence respecting persons appearing on the register, and who do not appear on the rate books of the city, 2728-2794—Nearly every person occupying a house of the value of 10*l.* was opposed at the registry in 1832, 2795-2801—Principle upon which reductions of taxes were allowed by the grand jury of 1837; poverty of the parties; losses in trade; having large families or widows, 2803-2809—Valuation as compared with the rent is no criterion of the value, 2810-2815—For the purposes of registration rent is considered the real criterion of value, 2816-2822—Constituency of Cork varies from 4300 to 4700, 2825, 2826—Many, whose names appear on the register, are dead, 2827, 2828.

Supposed number of personations at the last election, 2829, 2830—Great many of those on the register are not possessed of the qualification out of which they registered, 2831, 2832—Evidence respecting the meaning of the term "bucking," and "Baron Pennefather's bucks," 2832, 2837—In the appeal case relative to the right of non-resident freemen living seven miles from the place of polling to register, Baron Pennefather did not remain in court to hear the whole of the arguments for and against the right; he left his decision with the other judge, 2836-2886—It was communicated to the revising barrister by Mr. Besnard instead of Mr. Colburn, who was the proper officer, 2887-2889—Persons were thus kept in town who would not otherwise have remained, 2891-2897.

[Second Examination.]—Evidence respecting Mr. Young's examination as to parties valued under 10*l.* appearing on the register, 2898-2950, 2971-3018, 3056-3517—Mr. Young valued houses that other parties did not consider ought to be valued, 3517-3526—The supplementary valuation was not correct; persons were included who had only improved their houses, 3527-5543—Parties who sought the supplementary valuation had a political object in view, 3544-3555—The fear of being rated prevents many persons from registering, 3555-3558.

[Third Examination.]—Evidence respecting the premises occupied by Michael Fitzgerald; their value and description, 3565-3600—After 1828 appeals were not made to

to the grand jury against the valuation, but for the remittance of taxes imposed under that valuation, 3601-3647—Many persons who have been exempted from paying rates pay a rent of 10*l.*, 3648-3651—Cases of Foley, Haley, and Leary, 3653-3736—Examination as to the character of John Sullivan, who accompanied Mr. Young; perjury committed by him, 3737-3766—Whether when a new registry takes place the inconveniences which occurred at the first will be experienced, 3767-3776—Great improvement would be effected if the registry were annually revised, and took place before the recorder of Cork, 3777-3780—There should be a right of appeal against improper admissions, as well as improper rejections, 3781.

Great number in the Conservative interest who had no right to register; many of them voted at the last election, 3782-3786—Freemen of Cork always considered a marketable commodity; supposed number of poor freemen in Cork; since the Registry Act they are not so valuable in the market, 3787-3802—Forty-shilling freeholders have very much decreased; bribery was carried on amongst them formerly, 3805-3807—The poor freemen are a very depraved order of the community; they ought to be disfranchised, 3808-3825—Persons registering in the liberties out of land are decidedly the best class of voters in Cork, 3830—Nature and extent of the influence exercised by Roman-catholic clergy previous to a contested election, 3830-3854.

The painting representing the massacre of Gourtrue, which was exhibited at the election in 1835, was done without the permission of the Liberal candidates, or their committee, 3855-3865—Further evidence respecting the interference of priests at elections, 3866-3876—No doubt that many cases have occurred in which voters have been sent out of the town by their landlords to prevent their voting, 3877-3891—Many of the Conservative party at the election of 1835 carried arms, and they were disarmed in open court, 3892-3898—It is impossible to poll out the men in the booth "M," by reason of the obstructions raised in that particular booth; nature of the obstructions, 3899-3913—Advantage that would arise from having those letters in which there is a very large number of electors, divided, and arranged in districts, 3914-3922—The present mode of registration tends to the creation of fictitious votes, 3923-3925.

[Fourth Examination.]—Great majority of those appearing as marksmen were able to write; it was done to save time; the greater portion of the marksmen were forty-shilling freeholders, 4511-4589.

[Fifth Examination.]—Number of persons who voted at the last election of the various classes of freemen, freeholders and householders, distinguishing the number of each, 4608—List of persons, whose houses witness valued, who do not appear in the rate books, 4609, 4610—Great decrease in the number of forty-shilling freeholders since the election of 1812; they cannot be revived; when they die the franchise dies with them, 4611-4614—The number of freemen must always control the freeholders, the latter being a divided, and the former a concentrated force, 4617-4619—The present forty-shilling freeholders are an improved class, since the Reform Bill, 4620-4623, 4628, 4641-4644—Whether any person appears on the register as a forty-shilling freeholder who had not the right previous to the Reform Bill, 4629-4640—Many persons voted at the last election who were not upon the non-resident's certificates, but were non-resident at the time, 4647-4650.

Voters should be classed as householders, respectable freemen, forty-shilling freeholders, and the working portion of the freemen, 4651-4654—Total number of persons exempted from local taxation by the grand jury in 1837; gross amount of exemptions, &c., 4655-4670—Nature and extent of the inquiries made by the grand jury previous to exempting parties from rates, 4671-4679—Whether persons who are so poor as to be exempted from the payment of taxes should continue in the possession of the elective franchise, 4680-4683, 4702—Further evidence respecting the grounds on which parties were exempted, 4684-4701—Applications have been made to the grand jury for a new valuation of the county; reason why they have not ordered it, 4703-4712—Many of the persons that were exempted are widows, 4717-4720—List of persons from whom the collectors are unable to obtain the rates are laid before the grand jury at each assize, 4721-4746.

Persons exempted at one assizes are liable to be assessed at the next, 4748-4755—Evidence respecting the admission of persons as honorary freemen since the Reform Bill; also of persons admitted to the freedom in right of apprenticeship, but who had not completed their full term of apprenticeship, 4756-4856—Course of proceeding adopted by parties claiming to be admitted freemen in right of servitude, 4859-4862, 4866-4870—The corporation of Cork are not actuated by party views in the admission of freemen, 4871-4879—Further evidence relative to the admission of freemen, 4880-4948—There are few applications for the freedom from persons claiming in right of servitude to attornies, 4932-4934.

[Mr. Besnard.]—Explanation of the circumstances under which witness was made the bearer to the revising barristers of Baron Pennefather's decision on the right of non-resident freemen to register; and examination thereon, 4983-4991.

[Sixth Examination.]—A great number were rejected on the lodger point by Mr. Martley; an appeal was lodged to the judge of assize; number admitted on appeal, 5010-5013—Evidence respecting the escape of a person named Croker who voted at the last election; manner in which he was assisted by the police, &c., 5019-5088—Declaration of John Sullivan, and examination as to the respectability of the persons signing the certificate in support thereof, 5113-5141.

[Seventh Examination.]—Supposed number of freemen who are householders in Cork; many of them are the most respectable householders, 5174-5176—Rates remitted in August 1836 were those made at the spring assizes; the deficiency is levied on the solvent portion of the community, 5177-5179—Affidavits of marksmen produced, and examination thereon, 5180-5218.

Meagher, Stephen. He was registered for King's County at the sessions in April 1837; he claimed as a ten-pound freeholder; the attempt made, on his cross-examination, to show that the grantor had no power to make a conveyance, was overruled, Kelly 14570.

Meath. See Employment. Lime. Potatoes. Rent. Small Landholders.

Middlemen (Longford). Those who did not expect a renewal of their leases run out the land as much as they could, and when the lease expired left it quite exhausted, Flood 8574, 8575.

10364-10371—Counsel employed by the Liberal and Conservative parties at the registry, 10373-10376—Means taken in Ballymahon and Granard to prevent the Liberal side coming up to register, 10377-10382—Not the same number of objections made to the persons coming up to register on the Conservative side that there was made to those on the Liberal side, 10383-10385.

Instance of two persons coming forward to vote at the election in 1836 who had lost their qualification; the one voted, the other did not, 10389-10391—Instance of an elector having his head fractured by a policeman while in the act of entering the registry court; no information laid against him, as the magistrates of Longford would promote a man rather than punish for committing such an act, 10392-10479—Case of a female being stabbed through the thigh by a policeman; witness was tried on a charge of attempting a rescue, but was acquitted, 10445-10457—Persons employed by the Liberal party at the registry in 1832 were Protestants, and in some instances Orangemen, 10480-10533—Instance in which an attorney refused to come forward to prosecute a policeman for cutting and maiming, and reason assigned by him, 10515-10523. 10534-10547—At the registry in 1832 Lord Forbes had a great deal of interest in the county of Longford, and all reports to the Government should pass through him, and any reports against a policeman he would cushion, 10549. 10555-10564.

Captain Walker was present at the time when the policeman fractured the man's skull; he did not take any notice of the transaction in the way of prosecution, 10565-10575—Opinion that whatever interest could be thrown into the election for Longford in 1832 by the Castle of Dublin was thrown in favour of Lord Forbes, 10577-10580—Roman-catholic clergy did not use any undue influence to induce persons to register; they gave advice to their parishioners, and impressed upon them the necessity that they should register and return members who would represent them fairly; this was done publicly in the chapels after the service was over, 10582-10605.

Roman-catholic clergymen of good character have a great deal of influence with their parishioners, 10606-10609—The Roman-catholic clergyman of Longford is considered very indifferent as to the politics of the county; his general character, 10609-10616—Further evidence respecting the facilities afforded to the Conservative party at the registration in 1832, of getting their friends into court, 10621-10676—The registering barrister (Mr. Fosbery) has repeatedly ordered the side of the court where the popular portion stood to be cleared, while the others would be let remain where they were, 10625-10628. 10669-10676—Mr. Jessop, a Conservative, was registered out of his turn, when the list had been called over once, 10632-10635. 10648-10651—On one occasion Mr. Fosberry ordered the policemen to draw their bayonets and clear the court, 10672-10674.

[Second Examination.]—Annual revision of the register recommended, 10677-10680—Great many more might be registered if there was facility given for a man having 10 l. or 20 l. beneficial interest being allowed the advantage of it, 10681—Opinion that a person holding a certain amount of land, paying his rent and taxes, and supporting himself and family thereupon, has a beneficial interest such as is contemplated by the Reform Act, 10681-10688—Persons taking frivolous and vexatious objections to votes, as well as those supporting claims of the same description, should be subject to costs, 10689-10692.

One of the counsel for the Liberal party threw up his brief and left the court; he afterwards resumed it, 10695-10709—Mr. Fosbery was a man of very shallow knowledge, and took advice from the other party as to what he ought to do, 10710-10722—Supposed reason for his being appointed to the situation, and examination thereon, 10724-10748—No doubt that Lord Anglesea, either from motives of friendship or some others, made appointments that are injurious to his friends; he is a weak-minded man, 10749-10764—Character of Mr. Colquhoun, the counsel employed by the Liberal part of Longford, 10774-10780—Further examination as to the Conservative counsel and the revising barrister dining together after the business of the court was over, 10786-10792—Mr. Fosbery's conduct partook more of error than corruption, 10793-10801.

Nicholls, Dr. An apothecary in Longford; he was very active at the registration for Longford in 1832, Fosbery 12983, 12984.

"No Popery." Witness ordered the police to remove a table with these words cut on it from the court in Longford, and animadverted in strong terms upon such a display of party spirit, Fosbery 12984-12986.—See also Magistrates. Robinson, Mr.

Nolan, James, and another. Particulars of the attack made on him and his son; refusal of a magistrate to take the informations; refusal of the police to act upon a warrant subsequently obtained; arrest of Nolan and his son; their treatment by the police; their trial and acquittal, and subsequent conviction of the parties making the attack on Nolan and his son, M'Gaver 12477-12482.

NON-RESIDENT FREEMEN:

Cork.—Some of the non-resident freemen have voted at elections since the Reform Bill; some of them voted at the last; and a considerable number voted at the election in 1835, Colburn 1189-1192—Number of those who voted at the last election for Cork, Meagher 2832, Colburn 3928—After the decision of Baron Pennefather as to their right to register, they came in shoals to register, Meagher 2837.

Number of non-resident freemen appearing on the register for Cork, 385, Colburn 3926, 3927—Large number of the non-resident freemen succeeded to the freedom in right of birth, Colburn 3931—Greater majority of them have no connexion with the city of Cork, so as to have any local interest in it, Colburn 3935-3942—The non-resident freemen of Cork are a highly respectable class, Colburn 1278, 1279—Some of them may have a local interest in the city, Colburn 1280, 1281—List of non-resident freemen in the county of the city of Cork, with those who voted at the election of 1837 marked off, App. i. p. 315-317.

See also Appeals, 1. "Bucking." Register of Voters.

Noonan, Cornelius. Labourer, Dublin-hill, Cork; registered in October 1832, and voted at the election in that year, Colburn 1442, Meagher 2974—Description of the house out of which he registered; the land occupied by him is so small that there is great difficulty in putting an acreable size upon it; the utmost value is about 2*l.* 2*s.*, Young 1426-1441.

Noonan, Edmund. Weaver, Backwater-course, Cork; registered as a 10*l.* householder for Cork in 1832; does not appear in the valuation; and there are no premises valued on the Backwater-course, Lane 892. 2096—Value of his house, &c. is 6*l.*; it is partly let to lodgers, Young 2092, 2093, Meagher 3440—It was never worth 10*l.*, Young 2092, 2093. 2097—It is full value for 10*l.*, Meagher 3440—He pays 2*l.* 15*s.* ground rent, Meagher 3440-3446—He registered in 1832, Colburn 2095—He voted in 1835 only, Colburn 2096.

Norwood, A. Of Bachelors'-quay, Cork; he was exempted from rates in 1837; his house being on Bachelors'-quay ought not to be exempted; it ought to be valued at 12*l.*, Meagher 4689-4696.

NOTICES OF REGISTRATION:

1. In King's County.
2. In Longford.

1. In King's County:

In the notices of registration there is nothing to show in what right a man means to register further than as a leaseholder or freeholder, Kelly 14379-14384—At the registration in 1832 the number of notices to register by the Liberal party had the preponderance, Kelly 14423—Number of notices served for the Birr sessions in April 1833; number appearing, and number admitted, Daly 15206-15210.

2: In Longford:

Number of notices served for the first general registry in Longford, Courtenay 6442—The names of many persons were served at the first registration who did not themselves wish to come forward; any person may serve a notice of registration, Courtenay 6444-6451. 6496-6504—The notices of registration were served by the directions, in most instances, of the Roman-catholic clergy, Courtenay 6454, 6455. 6459—The name of the parish is not indispensable to be inserted, but the barony is indispensable, Courtenay 6923-6928—In notices of claims the name of the townland and barony are inserted, but not the parish, Courtenay 6929-6933.

Number of notices served by witness and others in the Liberal interest for Longford, and supposed number of duplicates, Flood 9592. 9609—Return of the number of notices of applications at each registering sessions since the passing of the Irish Reform Act to register voters in each county, city and town in Ireland, together with the number of such claimants admitted, rejected, or withdrawn, App. iii. p. 497-523.

Nunan, David. York-street, Cork; registered as a 10*l.* householder for Cork; valued at 5*l.* in the supplementary valuation; appealed against it, and was struck out, Lane 892.

O.

O'Brien, Thomas. Stone-mason, Mannix-square, Cork; registered in November 1832; neither his name nor the name of Mannix-square appear in the valuation, Lane 894—He pays 10*l.* a year rent, Gould 4399-4402.

O'Connell, Cornelius. Painter, Bastable-square, Cork; neither his name nor residence appear in the valuation, Lane 894. 1542—Registered as a 10*l.* householder, Lane 894, Colburn 1540—Voted in 1832 and 1837, Colburn 1540—Description of the premises; value about 5*l.*, Young 1535-1539. 1541.

O'Connor,

- O'Connor, John.* Accountant, Mallow-lane, Cork; he registered in 1832 as a ten-pound householder; his name does not appear in any of the valuations, Lane 892.
- O'Connor, Joseph.* Shopkeeper, Blarney-lane, Cork; registered in November 1832; was valued in the supplementary valuation at 5*l.*; appealed, and was exempted, Lane 894.
- O'Donoghue, William.* Barrack-street, Cork; valued in the supplementary valuation at 8*l.*; not rated till 1836; registered as a ten-pound householder in 1832, Lane 1143-1145.
- O'Farrell, Mr.* Has let his lands under value for the purpose of enabling the tenant to live comfortably upon the land, M'Gaver 12678-12680.
- O'Keefe, John.* Portrait-painter, Cook-street, Cork; was admitted by Mr. Gahan to register out of a drawing-room and bed-chamber; he had not the sole use of the hall-door, Barber 6061-6072, Colburn 6069.
- O'Leary, John.* Labourer, Baillie's-lane, Cork city; he is valued in the supplementary valuation at 5*l.*; his landlord appealed against it, and the appeal was allowed, Lane 892-894. 1547—Registered in November 1832, Lane 892-894—In October 1833, Colburn 1548—Value of his house about 5*l.*, Young 1543-1546—Never worth 10*l.*, Young 1549.
- O'Mullane, Patrick.* Publican, Fish-market-lane, Cork; registered as a ten-pound householder in 1832; his name does not appear in any of the valuations, Lane 894.
- Oakshott, John.* Carpenter, Phillips's-lane, Cork; registered in 1832; his name does not appear in any of the valuations, Lane 894. 1493, Colburn 1494—Voted at the elections for Cork in 1832 and 1835, Colburn 1494, Meagher 3056—His workshop is worth about 2*l.* a year, Young 1488-1492.

OATHS:

1. Generally.
2. As to Payment of Rates.
3. Qualification Oath.

1. Generally:

In several instances, the obligation of an oath is not thought of so much importance as it ought to be by those who take it, Lane 781-785—If Roman-catholic had had no regard for an oath, they need not have been kept out of Parliament so long as they have, Flood 8760-8763.

2. As to Payment of Rates:

The oath, as to the payment of rates, required by the Reform Act, may be taken by persons whose taxes have been remitted by the grand jury, Besnard 162-171—Many so circumstanced have exercised the elective franchise, Besnard 172-181—The same oath is taken on voting as at the registration, with respect to the payment of rates, Besnard 197-201.

3. Qualification Oath:

The only check against persons voting, who have ceased to be qualified, is the oath that may be administered to them at the time of tendering their vote, Barry 5933-5940—Taking the man's oath as a test of qualification is not a good or politic system; suggestions for doing away with it, Courtenay 6817, 6818—Much time is lost in getting the voters to repeat the oath at elections in Ireland; regulation allowing a certain time for each vote, Gardiner 8082-8086—Meagher 3909-3913.

In Longford, persons have taken the qualification oath when the life in the lease was dead, and the title ceased, Courtenay 6806; also when they have parted with every perch of land they possessed, Courtenay 6806-6808—The qualification oath is usually tendered at the foot of the table, but not publicly, Kelly 14427-14430.

Difference in the qualification oath required to be taken by the 10 Geo. 4, and that attached to the Reform Act, Courtenay 6942-6958—There is a material difference in the wording of the oaths in the 35 Geo. 3, the 10 Geo. 4, and the Irish Reform Act, as regards occupation, Kelly 14664-14692.—See also Illegal Societies.

Oats. Supposed value of a crop of oats in the spring, supposing them to realize 8*l.* or 9*l.* in harvest, Flood 8449-8451—Cost of preparing land for an acre of oats, and average produce thereof, Flood 8792-8795—Evidence respecting the cost of cultivating an acre of oats; value thereof when cultivated; the expense of cultivating an acre of bad oats would be as great, though the return would not be so much, Battersby 13820-13834—Produce of an acre of oats in a dry season; they produce various prices; Longford is the next to the Navan and Drogheda markets for oats, Flood 8792, 8793—In Longford they are sown after taking out the potatoe crop; the land will give six or seven crops in succession, without any manure, Flood 8795—Poor land will produce two barrels of oats per acre, and very good will produce but little more, Clogher 10326-10330.—See also Perjury.

OCCUPATION :

1. Generally.
2. In Longford.
3. Opinions of Assistant Barristers thereon.

1. Generally :

Under the existing election law, a ten-pound freeholder must be in the occupation of that out of which he seeks to register, Kelly 14541-14555.—There are three different opinions entertained with regard to the mode of occupation, to entitle a person to register; one, that the party must be in possession of property of the value of 10 l. a year, above the rent affecting the premises out of which he seeks to register, Kelly 14544, 14553, 14554; another, that where a party has let part of the property at a profit or advanced rent, he may register, if the entire combined gives a value of 10 l. above the rent, Kelly 14544; another, that if a party occupies to the value of 10 l., and has let another portion at an advanced rent, and will swear that the whole is worth 10 l., he is entitled to register, Kelly 14553, 14554.—The claimant under the Reform Act is obliged to swear that he is in the actual occupation of a freehold of the yearly value of 10 l., Kelly 14657-14663.

2. In Longford :

Persons holding a lease for 20 years must occupy as ten-pound leaseholders; the 20 l. for 14 or 60 years need not occupy, Courtenay 6415, 6416.

3. Opinions of Assistant Barristers thereon :

Evidence respecting certain cases in which Mr. Gibson admitted persons to the register who had not been in possession for six months before the day of registry, legal or equitable, in connexion with the instrument produced by them, Kelly 15019-15044.—Mr. Cosgreave held that claimants must be in the occupation of premises to the value of 10 l. as well as in the possession of them, Deehan 15630-15634.

See also Oaths, 3. Summers, Dennis.

Orangemen. There were a great many Orangemen in the county of Longford, but since the will of the late King and the Government was made known they have given it up in a great measure, Courtenay 13421-13431.—See also Protestants.

Orange Papist. It is a term much more accurately ascertained than the general term Orangeman, Battersby 14212-14221.

Orangeism. Strong spirit of Orangeism among the lower classes of Protestants in Longford, Ternan 11115-11126.—Longford is a very Orange county, nearly all the lower orders being Orangemen, and all the Protestant gentlemen are Orangemen with one exception, McGaver 12426-12433.

Outrages. Under the present system of elections, if a landlord compels his tenant to vote with him he is in some instances shot; many cases in which landlords would make their tenants vote for them were it not on that account, Battersby 14256-14264.

See also Longford.

P.

Parol Evidence. Instances where the assistant barrister admitted parol evidence of deeds without the claimants producing them, Kelly 14438-14465, 14493-14505, 14516-14518.—In these instances the counterparts of the leases had not been executed by the landlords, in order to save expense to the tenant, Kelly 14466-14470.

Party Spirit. Runs very high in Longford, Courtenay 7184-7187.

Payment of Rates. See Oaths, 2.

Penalties. Penalty upon persons voting at elections who have parted with their qualification, Besnard, 54-62.—The mere penalty of being subject to an indictment for perjury is not a sufficient guard against fraudulent and fictitious votes, Courtenay 6810.

Pennefather, Baron. In the case of the appeal from the decision of the assistant barrister as to the right of non-resident freemen to register, did not wait to hear the whole of the arguments against their right, but left his decision with the other judge, Meagher 2838-2897.—Impossible for any man to be more attentive to the discharge of his duties than he is, Meagher 2878-2885.—See also Appeals. Non-resident Freemen.

Pennefather, Mr. Case laid before him on the subject of the six months' possession prior to registering; his opinion thereon, Deehan 15590-15593.

Peurose, William. Writing-clerk, Francis-street, Cork; registered for Cork in 1832; he is not to be found in the valuation, Lane 894.

Perjury.

Perjury. The practice of swearing land to be worth a rent beyond anything that could be obtained from any species of tenant is got to an enormous pitch, Courtenay 6819—The present system of registration tends to an awful demoralization of the population, by accustoming them to the taking of false oaths, Courtenay 6823-6837, Gardiner 8050, Battersby 14222-14224. 14233-14238. 14279-14302—Persons have been reprov'd for not swearing to the full extent of the value requisite, and at a subsequent sessions have come forward, and sworn to the full amount and registered, Gardiner 8051-8058.

Instances in which the qualification oath has been taken by persons whose title has been lost by the lives in the leases having been dead; they were prosecuted, but the prosecutions were dropped, Gardiner 8079, 8080—There was more perjury going on respecting Mr. Grevill's tenants than any others, Fosbery 13194—Some of the hardest swearing that occurred during the registry was on the part of his tenantry, Fosbery 13194. 13197—The present system of registration encourages perjury, and brings the administration of justice into disrepute and contempt, Battersby 14222-14224. 14233-14238 Further evidence thereon, Battersby 14279-14302.

See also Croker, Mr. Indictments. Oaths. Sullivan, John. Tenantry.

Personations. The present system of registration affords a great opening to personation, Besnard 64—Difficulty and expense of preventing personation and fraud at the polling-booths, by reason of the alphabetical arrangement of the names, Colburn 1291-1303—Supposed number of personations at the last election, Meagher 2829, 2830—Difficulty of ascertaining the identity of parties registering from the present mode of conducting the registration, Deeble 5535-5541.—See also Sodan, John.

Perrier, Anthony. Nature of the objection to his being admitted to the freedom of Cork in right of servitude, his father, to whom he was bound, having retired from business years previous to the commencement of his apprenticeship, Meagher 4902-4926.

Peter's, St., Parish of, Cork. Amount of rates remitted, as appears by the churchwardens' return, Casey 6231—Number of persons included in that return, Casey 6237—List of "waste" and "poor" in this parish, App. i. pp. 329, 330.

Petridge, Christopher. A tenant on Lady Ross's property in Cashel; was dispossessed of his holding in 1833; amount of compensation given him, M'Gaver, 12414.

Petridge, Michael. A tenant on Lady Ross's property in the parish of Cashel; he was dispossessed of his farm in 1833; compensation made him, M'Gaver 12414.

Pickley, Michael. Rawbuck's-lane, Cork; his house at the utmost is not worth more than 5 l.; it never could have been worth 10 l.; it is a poor thatched house, Young 1495-1497. 1501-1509, Meagher 3081-3086—He paid 12 s. 6 d. rates, not for his house, but for the stable annexed to it; they are good value for 10 l., Barry 5842-5852—Registered in 1832, and voted in 1835 and 1837, Colburn 1498. 1506. 3065, Meagher 3086—Is valued at 3 l. in the valuation of 1828, Lane 1499, 1500. 3059, 3060.

Plant. He is in the service of Lady Ross; he was seriously beaten and injured in coming home from a market or fair about six or eight weeks ago, Courtenay 13489-13491.

Ploughlands (Cork). There is great disparity in the valuation of ploughlands, Lane 514-517.

Police. Instance of an elector having his head fractured by a policeman while in the act of entering the registry court; no information laid against him, as the magistrates of Longford would promote a man rather than punish for committing such an act, Nicholls 10392-10479, Ternan 11029-11042—Case of a female being stabbed through the thigh by a policeman; witness was tried on a charge made by the policeman of attempting a rescue, but was acquitted, Nicholls 10445-10447—Instance in which an attorney refused to come forward and prosecute a policeman for cutting and maiming, and reason assigned by him for not prosecuting, Nicholls 10515-10523. 10534-10547.

Conduct of the police was very partial in Longford during the registry of 1832, and the election following, Ternan 11014-11016—Complaint made by Mr. Curran that the police of Longford had insulted him, Courtenay 13621-13630—The police did not act partially in the discharge of their duty in Longford, Fosbery 13003—They acted with impartiality during the registration; there was no arrangement made with the police or any other party to obstruct the Liberal party in their endeavours to register, Courtenay 13321-13332.

Pollard, John. Registered out of house at Parkamore; there is only one house on the land called Parkamore, Deeble 5430-5432.

Polls. Should be taken parochially; there are a number of advantages attending a district arrangement, Besnard 6309, 6310—The polling, both for counties and towns, should be limited to one day, as in England, Besnard 6395-6398—Time for polling at elections should be limited to two days, Lane 4606.

"Poor." Names of persons returned "poor" in Cork by churchwardens of parishes, App. i. p. 373.

Population. Difference in the description of the population inhabiting the rural districts in the liberties, and those within the suburbs and the city of Cork, Deeble 5542-5546.
See also King's County. Tullamore.

Possession. Mr. Gibson never allowed a person to register who had not been six months in possession of the property out of which he claimed, either under the instrument he produced at the registry, or under an equitable agreement for such an instrument, Daly 15144-15151. 15238, 15239.—See also Affidavits of Registry.

Potatoes. Supposed value of a crop of potatoes per acre when ready for digging, Flood 8452-8454—Difference in the value of a crop of potatoes on the conacre system, and to a person planting for his own use, Flood 9480-9485. 9492-9507. 9524-9528—Expense of manual labour of putting in potatoes after the ground is cleared in Longford, Clogher 10063 —Good land in the county of Meath would, upon an average, produce two thousand stone of potatoes, Battersby 13746.

Potter, Robert. Servant, Hughes-lane, Cork; registered for Cork in 1832; no trace of him in the valuation, Lane 894—Rent paid by him, 5*l.* 5*s.*; that is the full value of the house, Young 1580-1583—Premises were never worth 10*l.*, Young 1586, Meagher 3185—Does not appear in any of the valuations, Lane 1584—Registered in 1832; voted in 1832, 1835, and 1837, Colburn 1585.

Power, William. Architect, Dean-street, Cork; registered as a ten-pound householder for Cork; his name does not appear in the valuation, Lane 894.

Prayer Book. The prayer-book was stolen from one of the polling-booths at the last election for Cork; length of time wasted in procuring another, Meagher 3906-3908.

Profits of Farms. Many farms which witness valued were not set in conacre, and when the tenant labours it himself he makes more profit, Flood 9125. 9133-9135. 9221-9224.

Property (Cork). The value of property in the liberties of Cork has varied much since 1822, Lane 508, 509—There has been an immense quantity of building of late years on the Glanmire side of Cork, and consequently a great change in the value of premises there, Lane 518-522.

Property Qualification. See Magistrates.

PROTESTANT CLERGYMEN:

In Longford.—Only one voted on the Liberal side, Ternan 11112-11114—They are equally as active on the one side as the Roman-catholic clergy are on the other; no instance, however, of a Protestant clergyman going in procession with his parishioners to vote at elections, M'Gaver 12350-12383—They invariably register for, and vote with, the Conservatives in Longford, M'Gaver 12369-12371—They have not the same influence over their parishioners as the Catholic clergymen, therefore their interference would not be so useful at elections, M'Gaver 12733-12739.

See also Clergy.

Protestants. Opinion amongst the lower order of Protestants, that unless a man is an Orangeman he is not a thorough going Protestant, Courtenay 7326-7329—Where the Catholic tenantry have been turned out of their farms and Protestants substituted, the Protestants have received no injury, M'Gaver 12143.

See also Orangeism.

Pulvertaft, Thomas. Brush-maker, Great Britain-street, Cork; registered for Cork in November 1832; no trace of his name in the valuation, Lane 894.

Purcell, James. Stonecutter, Douglas-street, Cork; registered as a ten-pound householder in 1832; he is valued in the supplementary valuation at 5*l.*; appealed, and was exempted, Lane 894.

Purcell, Pierce. Of Castle View, Cork; admitted a freeman in 1832, Meagher 4783—Admitted as the eldest son of a freeman, Besnard 4784.

QUALIFICATION:

1. In Cork.
2. In Longford.

1. In Cork:

Persons having the same name, belonging to the same townland, &c., render it very difficult to ascertain the genuineness of the qualification of an individual, Besnard 65-67—Many persons are on the register who are not included in the city (Cork) valuation as having houses of the value of 5*l.*, Besnard 122-134—Many forty-shilling freeholders have been improperly admitted to the register, not being possessed of 40*s.* above above their rent, Besnard 276-282—Freedom is obtained by birth and servitude; no property qualification required, Besnard 285-291—Each man should have a right to vote immediately after the registry, but should have been twelve months in possession before he registered, Besnard 6324.

There are many persons that now vote for the city of Cork as householders that would not have a county qualification by transferring the rural voters from the liberty to the county at large, Besnard 6335-6349—Great many of those appearing on the register are not possessed of the qualification out of which they registered, Meagher 2831, 2832—Great number in the Conservative interest, who had no right to register, registered, many of whom voted at the last election, Meagher 3782-3786—Evidence respecting certain parties who appear on the register; the situation of the property out of which they register witness is not acquainted with, Deehle 5262-5352. 5378-5457.

2. In Longford:

Number of electors objected to before the Committee on the Longford Petition in 1832, for want of a qualification in point of value, Courtenay 6520, 6521, 6524-6526—The county cess collector, the rate collector or collectors should return upon oath their opinion of the value of each holding, or the fitness of it, to qualify a ten-pound voter; the voter himself should not be tested as to the value of it, Courtenay 6818—The present ten-pound qualification, if properly viewed and acted upon, is a very fair standard, Courtenay 6959-6965—Great number of the persons upon the register for Longford who have not a bonâ fide qualification of 10 l.; grounds for that opinion, Courtenay 6966-6976—There are many persons in Longford holding fifteen acres of land who have not a beneficial interest of 10 l., Courtenay 7026-7031—Whether a person holding four acres of land, at three guineas per acre, would have a beneficial interest of 10 l. under the Irish Reform Act, Flood 8662-8668.

Several electors in the barony of Granard who had registered did not vote at the last election for Longford, in consequence of the lives in their leases having dropped; there was nothing to prevent their voting except the qualification oath, Flood 9704-9717. 9719, 9720. 9724-9731—Two persons came forward to vote at the election for Longford in 1836 who had lost their qualification; the one voted, the other did not, Nicholls 10389-10391—Persons in the Conservative interest were placed on the register whose qualification did not appear to be so good as those that were rejected on the Liberal side, Ternan 10904-10909—At the Longford registration in 1832, each person was called on to prove that he was qualified by the solvent tenant test, leaving the beneficial interest altogether out of the question, Rooney 11257, 11258—The attempts made by the Liberal party to register persons having no qualification were very numerous, Fosbery 13097-13101—Great many voters in the Liberal interest produced, as evidence of their title, their certificates as forty-shilling freeholders, previous to handing up their leases, Fosbery 13099-13101—More attempts made by the Liberal party than the Conservatives in Longford to place bad votes on the registry, Fosbery 13112-13115.

Quinnell, John. Nailer, Morley's-lane, Cork; registered for Cork in November 1832, Lane 894, Colburn 2059, 2060—He was valued in the supplementary valuation for two houses at 5 l.; appealed against the valuation; was struck out, and they have both been exempted since from taxation, Lane 894. 2058—Five pounds is the full value of his house, Young 2055-2057—Registered in 1832, but never voted, Colburn 2059, 2060—Only voted in 1832, Meagher 3439.

RATES (CORK):

I. Generally.

II. Exemption from Rates.

1. By whom allowed.
2. Class of Persons claiming Exemption.
3. Papers laid before the Committee.

I. Generally:

Rates should be paid before a given day to qualify persons to be placed on the registry, as in England, Besnard 6325—The payment of rates being made the test of right to vote, should be applicable to freemen as well as householders, Besnard 6377—Names of parish constables employed in making out returns to enable witness to make the applotment for the rates, Lane 952, 953.

RATES—continued.

1. By whom allowed.

Many persons applied personally to the grand jury to be exempted from rating, Lane 493-499—Persons are frequently exempted from taxation in consequence of the negligence of the constables, Lane 966-975—Grounds on which certain persons appearing on the register for Cork have been exempted by the grand jury from payment of rates, Lane 1001-1166; Meagher 4698, 4699, 4701—Many houses in the city of Cork above the value of 10*l.* that have been exempted from taxes by the grand jury under the local Act, as being let out in separate apartments to poor families, Young 2661-2684; Meagher 4698, 4699, 4701—Setting to poor lodgers is a distinct head of exemption under the local Act for Cork, Meagher 4698, 4699, 4701.

Principle upon which reductions of taxes were allowed by the grand jury of 1837; poverty of the parties, losses in trade, having large families, or widows, Meagher 2803-2809—Nature and extent of the inquiries made by the grand jury of Cork previous to exempting parties from rates, Meagher 4671-4679—Mode in which the grand jury examine claims to exemption from municipal taxes, Cork, Besnard 202-208—Rates remitted in August 1836 were those made at the spring assizes of Cork; the deficiency is re-presented for and levied on the solvent portion of the community, Meagher 5177-5179—The local Act of Parliament gives no relief to poor persons so far as the valuator's duty is concerned, Lane 4221-4224.

2. Class of Persons claiming Exemption.

Number of persons who have been exempted from paying rates who pay a rent of 10*l.*, Meagher 3648-3651—Total number of persons exempted from local taxation by the grand jury in 1837; gross amount of exemptions, &c., Meagher 4655-4670—Lists of persons from whom the collectors are unable to obtain the rates are laid before the grand jury at each assize, Meagher 4721-4746—Persons exempted at one assize are liable to be assessed at the next, Meagher 4748-4755.

3. Papers laid before the Committee.

Lists of persons in the city of Cork appearing on the treasurer's books as exempt from rates, as not valued, who voted in 1832, 1835, and 1837, App. i. p. 309-314—List of poor places in the city of Cork exempted from the city rate by grand jury at July assizes 1837, App. i. p. 324-326, 331-334.

Rawbuck's-lane (Cork). Houses in this lane are more valuable than they otherwise would be from its contiguity to the weigh-house, Barry 5855-5858—They ought to realize from 10 to 12 per cent. on the outlay of capital, Barry 5862.

Read, Mr. A Liberal, of Longford, who was rejected at the registration in 1832; he held 20 acres of land, Flood 8267-8273—There is only one person of that name upon the list of claimants; if a notice had been served for any other person of that name it would have appeared, Courtenay 13262-13267, 13279.

Recorder of Cork. He is elected for life by the freemen, Besnard 418, 419.

Recorder's Court, Cork. See Cork, 1. Register of Voters, 1. Registry Court.

Reddick, Mr. An attorney in Longford; he refused to come forward and prosecute a policeman for stabbing a woman in the thigh, although he was present and saw it done, Nicholls 10515-10523, 10534-10547.

Regan Thomas. Hughes'-lane, Cork; description of his house; worth about 6*l.*; partly let to lodgers, Young 2021-2030—Well worth 10*l.*; he pays 10*l.* 10*s.* rent, Meagher 3398-3423, Gould 4407, 4408, Barry 5872, 5873—It could not have been worth 10*l.* in 1832, Young 2032—Witness in valuing his premises in 1835 considered them as barely value for 10*l.*, Barry 5874-5899—Registered in 1832, Colburn 2031—Valued in the supplementary valuation at 6*l.*, Lane 2033, Gould 4407.

REGISTER OF VOTERS:

- I. In Cork.
- II. In Longford.
- III. Necessity for an Annual Revision thereof.

1. In Cork.
2. In King's County.
3. In Longford.

I. In Cork:

The names of persons appeared on the register as ten-pound householders who were not in the valuation, Lane 474-478—Persons who had petitioned the grand jury, alleging their premises not to be worth 5*l.*, and therefore not liable to taxation, appeared on the register, Lane 481-492—Examination respecting the names of parties appearing on the register as occupying tenements of the value of 10 l., but whose names do not appear in either of the valuations of Cork, Lane 637-767. 849-896. 939, Meagher 2728-2794—Without any political object witness compared the valuation with the register, and found names on the latter not included in the former, Lane 632-636—Great many bad Conservative voters put on at the registry in 1832, Meagher 2954. 2958—The names struck out of the list by order of the House of Commons in 1835 were reinstated on the 2d January 1837; the revising barrister (Mr. Martley) stated that he could not act under an English Act of Parliament, Colburn 1193-1201.

Names of parties who are described differently in the registry and in the rate-book, Lane 4590-4600—Many persons were placed on the register who had no right to vote, Barber 6116-6120—Non-resident freemen appear on the registry; great many of them voted at the last election for Cork, Lane 841-847—Great inconvenience arises from the way in which the registries are at present effected, Colburn 1262-1271.

II. In Longford:

Being made alphabetically are productive of great delay, confusion and expense, and the source of great vexation to the good claimant, Courtenay 6597-6599—Being made alphabetically are of great advantage to parties wishing to register without having sufficient qualification, Courtenay 6600-6605—Being made alphabetically, and according to the parishes or subdivisions, would not only facilitate the investigation of the rights of the parties, but diminish the expense attending registration, Courtenay 6842.

III. Necessity for an Annual Revision thereof:

1. In Cork.

There is no annual revision of the register, even to strike off the names of dead persons, Besnard 54-62—The list should be revised annually as respects deaths, and parting with qualifications, Besnard 248-251—At the first revising sessions any person should be at liberty to question the rights of any one appearing on the register, Besnard 6275—Great improvement would be effected if the register were annually revised, Besnard 111, Meagher 3777-3780, Barber 6193, 6194.

2. In King's County.

A revision of the list would have the effect of removing a vast number of persons who ought never to have been placed on the register, Battersby 14226-14228.

3. In Longford.

Very desirable that the register should be reviewed; the present system is a bad working system, Courtenay 6591—An annual revision of the register recommended, Courtenay 6845, 6846, Nicholls 10677-10680—Frequent revision of the register is more required than anything else in Longford, Gardiner 8069.

Registering Barristers. In Cork they rejected the evidence of the agents without hearing argument, Barber 6016-6028. 6172-6179. 6185-6190—Should be appointed by the judges, and not by the Lord Lieutenant, Barber 6205-6214, Besnard 6265-6270—It would give greater satisfaction, and produce a body less subject to political bias, Besnard 6265-6270—And the duty of registering should be separated from the judicial office of assistant barrister, Barber 6205-6214, Besnard 6265-6270.

REGISTRATION OF VOTERS:

I. Generally:

1. In Cork.
2. In Longford.

II. Manner in which it is conducted:

1. Generally.
2. In Cork.
3. In King's County.
4. In Longford.

III. Objections to the present System of Registration:

1. Generally.

3. In Longford.

IV. Suggestions for improving the Registration of Ireland:

1. Generally.
2. In Cork.
3. In Longford.

V. Anxiety of Parties to Register at the Registration of 1832.

I. Generally:

1. In Cork.

Some persons register as householders, freeholders, and leaseholders in Cork, Besnard 63, 64—The having three booths in operation at one time increases the difficulty of objecting to votes, Besnard 70-80—At the first registration under the Reform Act there were a great many persons registered who were not entitled to register, Lane 772—Further evidence thereon, Lane 786-809—The fear of being visited with taxation prevents many persons from registering, Meagher 3555-3558.

2. In Longford.

The registry at the quarter sessions in Longford seldom exceeds two days, Gardiner 8061—Persons were very anxious to come forward and register when counsel were employed; they were considered a protection, Flood 8523-2525—The test of registration, under 10 Geo. 4, in Longford, is, that the tenants can get 10 l. more than they pay their landlords, M'Gaver 12661-12664.

II. Manner in which it is conducted:

1. Generally.

Very little, if any, difference in the principles of registration, as acted upon by Messrs. Cosgreave, Howley, and Lisle, and that adopted by Mr. Gibson, Daly 15113-15120. 15268-15278.

2. In Cork.

The first registration for Cork took place in October 1832; course of proceeding adopted by the registering barristers, Besnard 16-24—On the first day of the sessions the three registering barristers sat together, and then in separate courts, Barber 6006-6009—Nearly every person occupying a house of the value of 10 l., or thereabouts, was opposed at the registry for Cork in 1832, Meagher 2795-2801—In Cork it is very difficult to register without possessing a bonâ fide qualification, from the activity of persons attending the registry, Barry 5924-5929.

No objections were made by either party to persons of undoubted respectability, Barber 6082-6087—At the registry for Cork in 1832, every pains was taken to ascertain the real value before a party was allowed to register, Meagher 2723-2727—Mr. Meagher's statement, that very particular evidence was tendered for all parties who claimed to register, is incorrect, Barber 6105-6109—The assistant barristers in 1832 made the strictest inquiry as to value previous to allowing persons to register, Gould 3947-3950—Incorrectness of Mr. Gould's statement, that the necessary examination was entered into previous to registering, Barber 6110-6115.

3. In King's County.

At the registration in 1832 for King's County, the Conservative agent did not allow many, if any, of the Liberal party to register without cross-examining them very strictly, Daly 15074-15077. 15082.—Deehan 15622-15624—The number of rejections by Mr. Howley and Mr. Gibson are nearly in the same ratio, Daly 15122-15125.

4. In Longford.

Course of examination adopted by the Conservatives of Longford in 1832, for the purpose of sifting the qualification of parties coming up to register; how defeated, Courtenay 6505-6512—Number registered in 1832; manner in which the registry was was conducted, Courtenay 6592-6596—Persons have been admitted to the register on the production of pieces of paper pasted on bits of newspapers, in which neither the name of the lessor nor lessee, rent, tenure, or execution appeared, Courtenay 6811-6816—Claimants have been repeatedly rejected who have produced old leases, in which neither the rent reserved, or the stamp affixed, could be ascertained, and who have at a subsequent session been admitted, Gardiner 7960-7962—At the first registry in Longford after the Reform Bill, persons were admitted to be registered as voters on the Conservative side who had a much inferior qualification, as to value, than those who were rejected on the Liberal side, Flood 8194-8197. 8156-8329.

The statement that witness registered those on the Conservative side who had not half the value of those rejected on the Liberal side, is unfounded, Fosbery 12948-12950—Extract from the Repealer newspaper, respecting the opening and conducting of the registry court there; the same system as regards the conduct of the business was pursued on all the court days, Fosbery 12978-12983—The claimants on the Liberal side displayed great dexterity and address in shaping their evidence so as to enable them to register; different modes employed, Fosbery 13088-13101—Great anxiety evinced on both sides to bring up voters, and place them on the register, Fosbery 13101. 13123, 13124. 13170, 13171.

Very little objection made by the Liberal party at the registration in 1832, Flood 8368-8370—Not the same number of objections made to the persons coming up to register on the Conservative side that was made to those on the Liberal side, Nicholls 10383-10385—The opposition was greater on the Conservative than the Liberal side at the registry in 1832; it was also better arranged, and their agents were more numerous, Ternan 10814-10824. 10915, 10916, Rooney 11179, 11180—There were quite as many objections taken on the Liberal as on the Conservative side in Longford, Fosbery 12969-12971—Both parties were equally zealous in objecting to claimants that came up to be registered, Fosbery 13125, 13126. 13172-13176.

The Conservative party examined into every claim, though they did not bring up witnesses in opposition, Flood 9321-9328—The claims on both sides were entered into with great minuteness and strictness in 1832, Rooney 11177-11186—Not so many objections on the Liberal as the other side, Rooney, 11179, 11180—Witness did not register persons out of their turn, except by consent of the respective agents, Fosbery 12974-12978—At the registration the names are called alphabetically, and no person whose name does not appear in the list can register, Courtenay 13274-13283—Manner in which the claimants for registration were divided, after the two courts were established, Courtenay 13361-13367.

III. Objections to the present System of Registration:

1. Generally.

The present system of registry produces a great deal of agitation; an annual registration much more desirable, or at all events the barristers should have the right of seeing whether the qualification still existed, Fosbery 13161-13167. 13199-13209.

2. In Cork.

Registration sessions in the city and county of Cork, since the Reform Bill; some persons have had to go to Kanturk to register, Besnard 86-92—The expense of going to Kanturk to register is unnecessary, and greatly complained of, Besnard 112-117—Frauds that may be committed in the registration at Cork, Besnard 6271-6274—The present mode of registration tends to the creation of fictitious votes, Meagher 3923-3925—Great difficulty would be experienced, by parties wishing to oppose the registration of claims, from the present vague description of the property out of which they intend to register, Deeble 5243-5261—Great number of persons, residing upon the same denomination of land, who register as if they lived at different places, Deeble 5470—There is no effectual check upon persons who choose to present themselves, and swear that they have sufficient value to register, Barber 6055, 6056—Instances of persons residing on the same ploughlands, who register under a different name, Deeble 5948-5958.

3. In Longford.

The system of creating fictitious votes has been increasing of late years, and, under the present system of registration, the evil will extend, Courtenay 6796, 6797—There was no necessity for sending another registering barrister in 1832 to Longford; Mr. Fosbery could have completed the registration within the time, Courtenay 13350-13355—Evidence respecting the facilities afforded to the Conservative party, at the registration in 1832, of getting their friends into court, Nicholls 10621-10676—The registering barrister (Mr. Fosbery) has repeatedly ordered the side of the court where the popular portion stood to be cleared, while the other side would be let remain, Nicholls 10625-10628. 10669-10676—The assertion made by Mr. Nicholls, that witness interfered to get particular people in, and keep others out of the registry court at Longford, is without foundation, Fosbery 12998-13002.

It is not true that the Conservative party in Longford could get their friends registered, whilst the Liberal party were obstructed in their endeavours to register, Courtenay 13293-13295. 13341-13349—On one occasion, in 1832, Mr. Fosbery ordered the police to draw their bayonets and clear the court, Nicholls 10672-10674—In many cases the contrariety of swearing was so great, that it depended more upon the probability of what was sworn than any actual test of the truth, Fosbery 13106.

IV. Suggestions for improving the Registration of Ireland:

1. Generally.

Suggestions for improving the conduct of the registration in Ireland, Besnard 236-247. 253. 6246. 6258-6261. 6308. 6384-6394, Lane 4605, 4606, Colburn 1272-1277, Deeble 5359-5361.

2. In Cork.

The English law respecting registration and election should be adopted in Cork, Besnard, 236-247. 6246—The names should be furnished, as in England, by a public officer, and written notices of objection required, Besnard 253—The register remaining in force for eight years, this check is the more necessary, Besnard 254-257—The principle of the English law should be adopted in all cases in the Irish registry, Besnard 6246—For the purposes of registration the liberties should either be transferred to the counties, or the voters should vote for the city on a county qualification, Besnard 6258-6261—The inhabitants of the city and liberties of Cork are anxious for such a measure, Besnard 6262-6264—Should be parochial, and not, as at present, according to initials of names, Besnard 6308.

The revising barrister should be enabled to reserve special points of law for the decision of the Court of Queen's Bench in Dublin; this would produce uniformity, Besnard 6384-6392—A shilling should be paid on giving notice to register; at present there are always a larger number of notices than registries, Colburn 1272-1277—Collectors should be obliged to return the names of persons previously registered, and who have changed their residence, Lane 4606—Stating the name of the parish in which property is situated in the affidavit would be attended with advantage, Deeble 5359-5361—Should be annual; should be in parishes; before the recorder; appeal to be allowed against the registry of a voter as well as against the rejection, Lane 4606—Collectors and churchwardens should attend registry; the collectors' receipts to be deemed proof of occupation; no registry to be made where the receipt was not produced, Lane 4606.

3. In Longford.

It would be much better if a certain time were set apart for the business of registration, apart from the civil and the Crown business, Gardiner, 8065-8069—Very desirable to divide the registry of Granard and Longford, Courtenay 6622, 6623.

V. Anxiety of Parties to Register at the Registration of 1832:

In Longford.—In Granard barony the people were much more anxious to register than those who were assisting them; the people flocked in hundreds to the registry, Flood 9673, 9674.—Witness is not aware of any person having been put forward to register against his will in the Liberal interest, nor any calculations being made for them, so as to enable them to swear to the requisite qualification, Flood 9657-9671—Witness is not aware of any intimidation or force having been used to induce parties to come forward to register in Longford, Nicholls 10362-10364—Very great desire amongst all parties in Longford to register, except in cases where the lease was nearly out, the landlord holding opposite politics, or having no lease of some portions of their farms, M'Gaver 11779-11787. 12732.

REGISTRATION FUND:

In Cork.—The Liberal interest of Cork had no proper representative at the registry in 1832; they were too poor to have counsel and attornies; since then they have been organized, and have now a fund for that purpose, Meagher 2952-2970—Mr. Lyons is the treasurer of the registration fund for Cork; supposed balance in hand, Meagher 2961-2970.

Registry Court (Cork). Should be held in the town of Cork itself, Besnard 6360, 6361—Should be held before the recorder of Cork, Besnard 111, Meagher 3777-3780, Barber 6193, 6194.

RE-REGISTRATION OF VOTERS:

Generally.—Under the present Reform Act there is nothing to prevent a person re-registering within the eight years, so as to keep his title up for a further period of eight years, Courtenay 6860, 6861, Fosbery 13167-13169—Opinion that the mere production of the certificate within the eight years would not entitle a man to be registered without an inquiry into all the qualification, Fosbery 13215-13218.

In Cork.—Cases of re-registration frequently occur; a man re-registers as often as he pleases; some distinctive mark should be used in those cases, Besnard 6380-6383.

In Longford.—Mr. Tighe has re-registered several persons upon production of the certificate granted them at the reform registry, Courtenay 6861-6891—By the decision of Mr. Tighe to admit persons on production of certificates, the onus of proving any disqualification on the part of the claimants is thrown upon the person objecting, Courtenay 6874-6882, 6918, 6937-6941—The practice of re-registering upon production of former certificates without the attendance of the parties is open to very great objection, Ternan 10933-10940.—See also Certificates.

Reilly, Miles. Of Trumroe; he registered for Longford in 1832, and was struck off by the Election Committee of 1837; quantity of land held by him, and quality thereof, Flood 9142-9154.

Religious Animosity (Longford). The hostile spirit of religious animosity is on the increase, M'Gaver 12440.

Religious Opinions. It was no part of the judicial investigation at the registry to inquire whether a man was a Protestant or a Roman-catholic, Battersby 14051-14053, 14060-14062.

RENT:

In Cork.—For the purposes of registration rent is considered the real criterion of value, Meagher 2816-2822—Is frequently paid weekly by tenants who rent their houses by the year; general desire among tenants not to have it known how they pay their rent, Meagher 3675-3677.

In Longford.—Tenants paying a rack-rent pay more than the value of their land, &c., Courtenay 7178-7180—Difference in the amount of rent paid by Conservatives admitted to the register for Longford, and Liberals rejected, Flood 8371-8379—Instance in which the agent of the Greville estate would not receive the rent when tendered, Flood 8914-8916, 8950-8952—In some parts of Longford the landlords have been getting higher rents than previously to 1828, Flood 9358-9369—Further evidence in explanation respecting the increased rents now and formerly, Flood 9442-99450—On Lord Southwell's property the middlemen are getting a guinea per acre more rent than his lordship, Flood 9453.

Middlemen exact the utmost rent they can obtain, Rooney 11589-11593, 11626-11631—Instance in which one of the Protestant tenants on Lady Ross's property was obliged to take the corn and thrash it in the open field for the purpose of meeting the demand of the landlord, M'Gaver 12643—General complaint in Ireland that land is let too high, M'Gaver 12652—It is a common practice in that part of Meath adjoining Cavan for small landholders to pay their rent by burning lime, Battersby 13728—The receipt of rent from a sub-tenant is proof of possession, but not of occupation, Kelly 14691, 14692.

See also Arrears of Rent. Greville, Mr. King's County. Land.

Rentchargers. The Conservatives have the majority amongst the rentchargers in Longford, Courtenay 6838-6840—Number of rentcharges prepared by witness in Longford, and nature of the consideration, Courtenay 7330-7346.

Return of the number of rentcharges registered at each sessions since the 1st October 1832, stating the name and residence of each person so registered, the barony and denomination of land on which the charge was granted, and the name of the person granting the same, App. iii. p. 523-546.

Revision of Register. See Register of Voters, III.

Reynolds. —. A young man employed by the Liberal party in Longford; he was shot on the night of the election in 1833; one person has been executed for his murder, M'Gaver 12445.

Reynolds, Mr. Christopher. At the last election for Longford, acted as the leading agent for the Messrs. White; he formerly acted with witness on the other side, Courtenay 6532-6535.

Reynolds, James. Robins Town, Longford; quantity of land held by him, and amount of rent paid; he was registered in 1835, but struck off in 1837, Flood 8803-8811—Quality of his land is very good; his beneficial interest in the farm was worth upwards of 30 l. a year, Flood 8812, 8813. 8817-8819—He was opposed at the registration in 1835, Flood 8819-8823.

Reynolds, Michael. In the Ballymahon division of Longford; he claimed to have his certificate renewed in 1837; Mr. Courtenay tendered evidence of his being disqualified by the Committee of the House of Commons, which was not received by the court, and he was admitted, Gardiner 7722-7730.

Reynolds, Michael. Of Tenalough; his name was struck off the register for Longford by the Committee of 1837, Clogher 9893-9895, Rooney 11571-11642—Particulars of the land held by him; rent paid; quality of the land very good; very good dwelling-house and offices; supposed cost of building the house, &c., and examination thereon, Clogher 10001-10042, Rooney 11571-11642.

Ribbon Societies. Attempts have been recently made in Longford to re-establish Ribbonism, M'Gaver 11922-11929—Those persons who belong to the Ribbon society are adverse to the liberal policy of the country; they do much more harm than good, M'Gaver 11999-12001—There is a Ribbon society at the present time in Longford, Courtenay 13435-13447.

Richards, Baron. If the claimant by any means showed, upon his oath, that the gross amount of the produce of his holding left a balance of 10 l. over and above the rent, he left it to the jury to say whether that man had or had not a beneficial interest sufficient to entitle him to register, Battersby 13908*.

Riley, James. Of Colmkill; claimant to register for Longford; quantity of land held by him, and rent paid for it; let part of the property for 6 l. a year; evidence produced to show that the land was not worth 30 s. an acre; he was admitted on account of the situation in which the property stood, Gardiner 7950-7959.

Riordan, Edmond. Bandon-road, Cork; his house consists of four rooms, in very bad repair; part let to lodgers; its value about 6 l.; could not be worth 10 l. in 1832, Young 2046-2049. 2052, 2053—Pays 10 l. a year rent, Meagher 3424-3428. 3433-3436—Registered in 1832, Lane 896, Colburn 2050—Voted at the elections of 1832, 1835, and 1837, Colburn 2050, 2051—His name does not appear on the valuation, Lane 896. 2054.

Riordan, James. Weaver, Curry's-rock, Cork; registered for Cork in 1832; no trace in the valuation of his name or residence, Lane 896. 1526, Colburn 1527—His house is worth 5 l.; partly let to lodgers, Young 1520-1524, Meagher 3138—It was never worth 10 l., Young 1528-1534—He registered in 1832, and voted in 1832, 1835, and 1837, Colburn 1527.

Riordan, William. Livery Stable-keeper; registered for Cork in 1832; was valued in the supplementary valuation; appealed against it, and was struck out, Lane 896—His premises were worth 10 l. a year in 1835; he produced a receipt for rates paid in that year, Barry 5746-5757.

Roarke, Mr. At the registration for Longford, in 1832, he appeared to take the lead as agent on the Liberal side; he is a solicitor, and has attended the registry all through, Courtenay 6535-6539.

Roarke, Mark. Cornokelly barony; particulars of the land held by him, Clogher, 9863—He occupies every perch of it, and is fully occupied in the cultivation, &c. thereof all the year, Clogher 9884-9892.

Robinson, Mr. Attempts made by him in 1832 to prevent persons from coming up to register for Longford, Flood 9536-9546. 9562-9578—Opinion entertained by him that a man with twenty acres of land would not have a right to register, Flood 9573—Agent to Lady Ross; has frequently been heard to say that he would not give a rood of land to a Roman-catholic, M'Gaver 12145. 12149-12159—Further evidence respecting the declaration made by him, that no Roman-catholics should be allowed to settle on Lady Ross's property, and whether he has acted up to that declaration, M'Gaver 12493-12527.

Robinson,

Robinson, Mr., jun. During the registration for Longford in 1832 he had a table with "No popery" cut upon it, and application was made to the barrister to have it removed, Flood 9375.

"Rock." Only one person who has registered for Cork as out of the lands of Rock; he lives on Carrigrohan, Deeble 5481-5484.

Rogers, James. Barrister-at-law; registered as a freeman of Cork at Leevew; he resides on the denomination called Ballinamought, Deeble 5966.

ROMAN-CATHOLIC CLERGY:

Opinions on the Influence possessed by them over their Parishioners:

In Cork.—They have exerted themselves to prevent money being taken by their flock from the Conservative candidates, Meagher 3836-3843—No doubt that they represent to the people under their influence, that it is their duty to give support to those who are of their own political principles, Meagher 3846-3851—Nature and extent of the influence exercised by the Roman-catholic priesthood previous to a contested election, Meagher 3830-3854. 3866-3876.

In Longford.—The influence possessed by them over their flock has been exerted to prevent tenants voting with their landlords, Courtenay 7220, 7221—They did not use any undue influence to induce persons to register; they gave advice to their parishioners, and impressed upon them the necessity that they should register, and return persons who would represent them fairly; this was done publicly in the chapels after the service was over, Nicholls 10582-10606—They took a very active part in advising their flocks to come forward and register, and not to be deterred by their landlords or by any party, Ternan 11049-11068. 11084-11105—Whenever elections are coming on the Roman-catholic clergy have frequent meetings as often as they think it necessary, M'Gaver 12345-12349—It is morally impossible for them to vote for a man to represent them in Parliament, who will vote against the interests of his religion, unless they are biassed by some worldly motive, M'Gaver 12783. 12786. 12796-12802.

Roman-catholic clergymen of good character have a great deal of influence with their parishioners, Nicholls 10606-10609—Those of Munster, Leinster, and Connaught exercise a considerable elective influence over the members of their flocks, Battersby 14272-14275—Those who take an active part in politics are generally considered the best clergymen in the discharge of their spiritual duties in Longford, Ternan 11131-11145—A clergyman who unites in his own person the clerical character, together with that of a patriot or public leader, is possessed of the greatest influence of any individual in Ireland, Battersby 14274, 14275.

Tenants are frequently brought to the poll by the Roman-catholic clergy, Courtenay 7222—They preceded their parishioners when going to the poll; necessity for so doing in Longford, M'Gaver 12298-12318. 12322-12349—In 1833 was the first time that the Roman-catholic clergy preceded their parishioners to the poll, M'Gaver 12342.

In the barony of Granard (Longford), they were very active agents at the registration; they assisted the people with money and advice; they did not serve any notices, Flood 9677-9679.

Roman-catholic Emancipation Act. Whether the Conservative landlords of Longford wish for its repeal; they have never done any act which would have the effect of depriving the Roman-catholics of the benefit they ought to enjoy under that Act, Courtenay 13573-13599.

Roman-catholics. Roman-catholics are sometimes admitted to the freedom of Cork, but not at all in proportion to the Catholic population, Besnard 292-297—It is morally impossible that Catholics, whether clergy or laity, would vote (independent of any expectation) with their landlords against what their interests would demand of them in politics and religion, M'Gaver 12777-12801.

Rooney, Edward. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Resident in Dublin; formerly resided in Longford, and has attended the various registries for that county since 1832 at the Ballymahon division, 11165-11174—The claims on both sides were entered into with great minuteness and strictness, 11177-11186—The counsel for the Liberal party did not make so many objections as those on the other side, 11179, 11180—During the first registration the counsel for the Liberal party threw up his brief and left the court, 11181-11184—Mr. French was very particular as to the examination of persons claiming to be registered, 11185, 11186—Particulars of the case of William Fitzsimons claiming to register in 1837, and rejected; he was admitted at a subsequent registration, 643.

registration, 11187-11193—Mr. French admitted several of the parties who had been struck off the list by the Committee, 11195-11208—Cases of John Farrell, Michael Cunningham and Philip Brady, who were registered after having been struck out by a Committee of the House of Commons, 11209-11258—At the registry each person was called on to prove that he was qualified by the solvent tenant test, leaving the beneficial interest altogether out of the question, 11257, 11258.

[Second Examination.]—Evidence respecting the case of Daniel Cunningham, who was struck off the register in 1837; quantity of land held by him, and supposed value thereof, 11261-11298—His lease was set at a lower rent than what he proposed for it, 11293-11298. 11329-11342—Opinion that Mr. White lets his land at 50 per cent. less than its value, 11299-11316—The property in right of which Cunningham claimed to register, if put up in the market, would set at 20*l.* a year more than at present, 11317-11324—Supposed cause of his rejection by Mr. Dogherty, and evidence thereon, 11343-11383—Case of Peter Clarke; quantity and quality of land held by him, rent paid, &c. 11384-11409. 11433-11444—Of Lawrence Murtagh, 11445-11471—Difference in the valuation of Mr. Bracken and witness, 11472-11479—Quantity of land held by witness, and rent paid for it, 11481-11487.

Case of Cornelius Farrell, struck off by the Committee of 1837; value of the land held by him; the land is of very fair quality in consequence of the bog attached to it; Gardiner's statement as respects the quantity of the land is incorrect, 11494-11523—So is Colley's, with regard to the quality, 11516-11531—Several of the farms were valued by Mr. Bracken and witness, and by witness and Mr. Wallace; the evidence as to the value of which farms would be unsupported, as witness was not summoned before the Committee, 11539-11570—Received no remuneration for valuing farms; it was made gratuitously, 11555-11557. 11563—Evidence as to the case of Michael Reynolds, who was struck off the register by the Committee of 1837; quantity of land held by him; quality and situation; rent paid now and formerly, 11571-11642—Middlemen exact the utmost rent they can obtain, 11589-11593. 11626-11631.

So great is the desire amongst all parties to obtain land, that they will consent to pay a rent that will allow them barely to subsist, 11594-11596—Case of John Chapman, struck out by the Committee of 1837; quantity of land held by him; rent paid, 11643-11656—Names of parties struck off by the Committee of 1837 whose farms were valued by witness, 11657-11661—Witness heard that the Committee of 1837 ordered that some of those witnesses produced by the Liberal party should not be allowed again to give evidence, 11662-11669—Claim of Christopher Cahill was rejected on the ground of value; an appeal was lodged against the decision of the barrister; the appeal was tried, but the jury could not agree, and the case was dropped, 11670-11729—Great majority of the jury were in favour of Cahill, 11729—Produces a lease from Mr. Lefroy to Thomas Cunningham, and examination as to the clauses contained therein, 11730-11765—In valuing land between landlord and tenant, witness has not taken into consideration the value of the tithe, 11766—Amount of the tithe composition varies, 11768-11774.

Rooney, Mr. Edward. Papers delivered in by him, and referred to in his evidence, 25 May 1838, App. iii. p. 622-625.

Rooney, John. Longford; particulars of the property held by him; rent paid for it; amount of county cess and tithes paid by him; he was permitted to register, on the principle that a poor man is a better judge than a rich man of the value of his property, Gardiner 7770, 7771—He formerly paid more rent than he does at the present time, Gardiner 7770. 7785-7789—He formerly held under the middleman, but the new lease at the reduced rent was granted direct from the head landlord, Gardiner 7790-7792.

Ross's, Lady, Estate. No instance of Roman-catholic tenants being dispossessed in favour of Protestant tenants; on the contrary, two leases which fell in a short time since were re-let to Roman-catholic occupiers, Courtenay 7266—In no instance has a new lease been granted to a Roman-catholic tenant who has been dispossessed of his property on Lady Ross's estate, M'Gaver 12575, 12576—The tenants on Lady Ross's estate, and who were dispossessed, were intelligent farmers, and better than those put in, M'Gaver 12577-12585—Further evidence respecting the difference in the condition and circumstances of the persons dispossessed and those by whom they were succeeded, M'Gaver 12613-12643—Those who were dispossessed of their holdings on Lady Ross's estate held under middlemen, M'Gaver 12620.

Small Farms. An estate will produce more by being let out in small farms than in very large ones, M'Gaver 12086, 12087.

Small Landholders. The greater number of persons who hold small quantities of land generally make out their subsistence otherwise than from the farms they occupy; manner in which it is done in that part of Meath adjoining Cavan, Battersby 13717-13732—In King's County, Battersby 13747-13751—Great number of the small landholders in Meath earn their livelihood by means of dealing in oats; others burn lime and sell it; and others work as day labourers when they can get it, Battersby 13724-13732.—See also Turf.

Smith, Michael. Dealer, Pembroke-lane; registered for Cork in October 1832; no house in Pembroke-lane in the valuation books, Lane 896—There are four persons valued in the supplementary valuation; the lane does not appear in the valuation of 1828, Lane 1166.

Smith, Widow. A tenant on the property of Lady Ross in the parish of Cashel; she was dispossessed of her farm in 1833; amount of allowance granted her, M'Gaver 12414.

Sodan, John. He voted at the Longford election in 1833 on the certificate obtained for his father; he voted for the Conservative, M'Gaver 11831-11849—Further evidence thereon, M'Gaver 12024-12062—Evidence respecting the charge made against him of voting on his father's certificate; they are a very respectable family, and would not come forward in any case of personation, Courtenay 13374-13393.

Solvent Tenant Test. See Qualification.

Southwell, Lord. He is one of the best landlords in Longford; he has let all his property considerably below its value; he has taken it out of the hands of the middlemen, and let it at the same rent the tenants paid to the middleman, Flood 8550, 8551. 8559-8562—He is making leases considerably under the value of the land, Flood 8561-8572—Does not let his land fifty per cent. under the value; he might get fifty per cent. more rent in the market if he chose, Flood 9453, 9454.—See also Rent.

Speeches of Roman-catholic Clergy:

In Longford.—Many persons have been induced to register who otherwise would not, from the speeches made at the rising of the sessions court of an exciting nature, Courtenay 6833-6837—In the barony of Granard Roman-catholic clergy did not make speeches to the people during the registry, though they did do so previous to the election, urging them not to take bribes, but to vote honestly, Flood 9682-9693—It is the common practice for Roman-catholic clergymen to make speeches at elections in Ireland, Ternan 11136-11145—Those made by Roman-catholic clergy, though of an exciting nature, were not calculated to make the people commit violence, Ternan 11161-11164—After the adjournment of the registry court in Longford the Roman-catholic clergy generally addressed the people in the street, calling upon them to register and get rid of the tyrant bigots, Courtenay 13317-13320.—See also Roman-catholic Clergy.

Spirits, Sale of. Return of persons who have made application or received excise licences for the sale of spirits in premises under the annual value of 10*l.* since 1st October 1832, App. iii. p. 558-602.

Stall Feeding. A very profitable way of using a farm; a man able to do so would make more money by that means than any other, Flood 9141.

Stanley, Lord. See Fosbery, Mr.

Stanly,

- Stanly, Leary.* Of Cashel; he was dispossessed in 1833 of property which he held under Lady Ross; amount of compensation allowed him, M'Gaver 12414.

- Sullivan, Jeremiah.* Smith, Blarney-lane; registered for Cork in 1832; his name does not appear in any of the valuations, Lane 896.
- Sullivan, John.* Nailer, Coal-quay, Cork; valued in 1828 at 12*l.*; was returned "poor, or half poor" till the summer of 1832, when he was returned "rateable," and registered; he has been returned "poor" ever since, Lane 1065-1079.
- Sullivan, John.* Quarry's Rock; registered in November 1832; no such place as Quarry's Rock in the valuation of Cork, Lane 896.
- Sullivan, John.* He accompanied Mr. Young to show him the houses of voters that had registered, and who did not appear on the valuation, Young 2286-2322, Meagher 3738—Evidence respecting the perjury committed by him, either before the revising barrister, or in a prosecution against Mr. Roche, M.P., for Cork, Meagher 3738-3762—Declaration of John Sullivan respecting the charge against him of having kept or being concerned in keeping a brothel; examination as to the respectability of persons signing the certificate in support thereof, Meagher 5113-5141, Young 5141-5173.
- Sullivan, Joseph.* Shoemaker, Great Britain-street; registered for Cork in 1832; he was valued in the supplementary valuation at 5*l.*; appealed and was struck out, and has never been taxed since, Lane 896.
- Sullivan, Patrick.* Carpenter, Clarence-street; registered for Cork in 1832 as a ten-pound householder; his name does not appear in the valuation books, Lane 896.
- Sullivan, William.* Yeoman, Cat-lane; registered for Cork in 1832; he was valued in the supplementary valuation at 5*l.*, and appealed and was struck out, Lane 896.
- Summers, Denis.* He registered for King's County in October 1837; he claimed as a ten-pound freeholder; objection made to him that he did not occupy a portion of his premises of the value of 10*l.* above his rent; the objection was over-ruled, Kelly 14529-14534.
- Supplementary Valuation of Cork.* See Boyce's-street, Cork. Valuation of Cork, II. 3.
- Survey (Cork).* A survey was made of each ploughland under Act 53 Geo. 3d; it determined the quantity of ground liable to taxation in each ploughland, Lane 523-528.
- Surveyors.* See Value.
- Sutherland, Lord.* He has extensive property in the county of Longford, M'Gaver 12473
- Sweeny, Morgan.* Blarney-lane, Cork; registered in 1832; was returned "poor" by the constables, and consequently exempted from payment of rates 1829-1832, Lane 1001-1016.

Sweeney, Morgan. Butcher, Cattle Market-street, Cork; registered out of shop at Market-lane; does not appear in the valuation, Lane 896.

Sweeney, Terence. Allen's-lane, Cork; his house not worth more than 5*l.*, Young 1727-1729. 1731-1736—Pays 10*l.* a year rent; the house is worth that sum, Meagher 3255-3287—He registered in 1836; voted in 1837, Colburn 1730—His name does not appear in the valuation books, Lane 1737.

T.

Taxation (Cork). Mode in which the premises outside the line separating the liberties from the suburbs are assessed in Cork; authority under which the money is levied, Besnard 135-143—In the city and suburbs of Cork the taxation is upon houses; in the liberties it is by ploughlands, Besnard 147, 148—Acts of Parliament regulating the local taxation of Cork; description of tenements to be rated, Lane 534, 535.

See also Cork, 3. Rates. Valuation of Cork.

Taylor, John. Admitted to the freedom of Cork in right of apprenticeship; his master relinquished business twelvemonths before the expiration of his indentures, Meagher and Besnard 4790-4795—He continued to collect the debts of his master, which was considered by the corporation as a sufficient performance of his indentures, and on these grounds he was admitted, Besnard 4790.

Ten Pound Householdors. Description of houses inhabited by persons registering as ten-pound householders in Cork; average rent of dwelling part of the house about 2*l.* 10*s.*; they are generally thatched houses, Deeble 5591-5594.

List of persons appearing on the registry as ten-pound householders in the city of Cork, who are valued in city books under that sum, App. i. p. 301-305—Persons registered as ten-pound householders in the city of Cork, who do not appear as valued in the city books at any time, App. i. p. 306-307—Extract therefrom, with Mr. Gould's observations thereon, App. i. p. 318—Persons registered as ten-pound householders in the city of Cork who were valued in the supplementary valuation of 1833, and upon appeal were struck out and not charged, App. i. p. 308—Extract therefrom, with Mr. Gould's valuation of the premises, App. i. p. 319—List of ten-pound householders in the city of Cork as sustained and accounted for by Mr. Daniel Meagher, App. i. p. 322.

TENANTRY:

I. Generally, their character, &c.

II. Manner in which they would vote at Elections if left to themselves.

1. In King's County.
2. In Longford.

I. Generally, their character, &c.

In many instances the tenants are pressed forward to swear what they know to be false, Courtenay 6825-6829—On estates where the holdings of Roman-catholics have been enlarged, and they are treated in the same way as Protestants, they are just as good tenants; they have not the same ideas of cultivating their farms with neatness, Courtenay 7312-7317—Roman-catholics are in general very good tenants, M. Gaver 12092—Mr. Greville's tenants are the very worst description of persons who appeared to register in Longford, in point of demeanour and every thing else, Fosbery 13194.

II. Manner in which they would vote at Elections if left to themselves:

1. In King's County:

Tenants if left to themselves would not generally vote with their landlords unless their opinions were liberal, Deehan 15644-15655.

2. In Longford:

The generality of voters on properties managed by witness would, if left to themselves, have voted with their landlords, Courtenay 7222, 7223—Opinion that Roman-catholic tenants, if left to themselves, would vote with their landlords, Courtenay 13538. 13572—Previous to the interference of the Roman-catholic clergy the Catholic tenantry voted with their landlords, whether Liberal or Conservative, M. Gaver 12752, 12753.

In Longford there has been no persecution of tenants for voting against the inclination of their landlords, Courtenay 7188-7192—Witness has cautioned the tenants on certain estates that if they voted against their landlords they might be sorry for it, Courtenay 7192*—They were induced to vote against their landlords from being visited at night by armed parties coming to their houses, in some instances digging graves at their doors, firing shots, &c., Courtenay 7218—Those Roman-catholic tenants who voted with their landlords can find no purchasers for their goods; they are also denounced at the chapel, Courtenay 7226-7228.

See also Clearance of Estates. Landlords and Tenants.

Ternan,

Ternan, James. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Land agent residing at Lanesborough, in the county of Longford, 10802-10804—Filled the office of sub-sheriff in 1831, 1836, and 1837 for Longford, 10805, 10806—Was an assistant in the clerk of the peace's office for that county, 1827 to 1832, 10807-10809—Attended the registry of 1832 in both courts nearly the whole of the time, 10810-10813—The opposition was greater on the Conservative than the Liberal side; it was better arranged; their agents were more numerous, 10814-10824—Instances of persons who voted at elections for Longford whose qualifications had ceased to exist, 10826-10868—Mr. Fosbery appeared to act more under the influence of the Conservative party than his own judgment; he frequently ordered the court to be cleared when there was no disturbance, 10870-10894.

There were a great number of appeals against his decisions, but only two of them were tried, 10894-10903—Persons in the Conservative interest were placed on the register whose qualification did not appear so good as those that were rejected on the Liberal side, 10904-10909—In deciding a claim to register Mr. Fosbery gave weight to the greatest number of witnesses rather than to the fewer; in some cases the witnesses had not been upon the property for several years, 10914-10924—There was very little opposition given to claimants by the Liberal party, 10915, 10916—No doubt that there are names upon the register of persons who have long since lost their qualification, 10927—Practice of re-registering upon production of former certificates is open to very great objection; certificates have been taken out for parties who were dead long before, 10933-10940.

Further evidence respecting persons who voted at the election in 1837, whose qualification had ceased to exist, 10935*-10940*—About the same number of insolvents voted on each side at the election in 1836; some of them had become insolvent subsequent to the registry, 10944-10977—Case of M. Laughlin, who voted in 1837, having been evicted from his property under an ejectment; he has been allowed to remain in possession ever since the election, 10978-11001—Conduct of the police was very partial during the registry of 1832, and the election following; the magistrates were nearly all on the Conservative side, and were very active, 11014-11016—Claimants on the Liberal side were frequently put back by their landlords and agents, and threatened that if they went forward to register, their cattle would be driven the next day, 11017-11024.

Magistrates in the Liberal interest took no active part at the registration, 11025-11028—Case of a man who had his skull fractured during the registry; no legal proceedings against the policeman committing the outrage, 11029-11042—No intimidation of any sort exhibited on the Liberal side during the registration, 11049-11053—Roman-catholic clergy took a very active part in advising their flocks to come forward and register, and not to be deterred by their landlords, or by any party, 11049-11068—Great exertion made by Lord Longford, through his agents, to prevent the people from voting; farms were promised to persons on long leases if they would register, and vote on the Conservative side, 11071-11083—Further evidence as to the interference of the Roman-catholic clergy at the registrations and elections, 11084-11105—The influence of the Catholic clergy was assisted by the opinion and wishes of the people themselves, 11109-11111—Only one Protestant clergyman voted on the Liberal side, 11112-11114.

Strong spirit of Orangeism among the lower classes of Protestants in Longford, 11115-11126—A great many persons having no property at all hold the commission, 11127-11130—Roman-catholic clergy who take an active part in politics are generally considered the best clergymen in the discharge of their spiritual duties, 11131-11145—It is the common practice for Roman-catholic clergymen to make speeches at elections in Ireland, 11136-11145—Further evidence respecting the property qualification of some of the Conservative magistrates in Longford, 11146-11156—Some of the Liberal magistracy have very little landed property, though they are worth 300*l.* or 400*l.* a year from other means, 11157-11160—Speeches made by Roman-catholic clergy, though of an exciting nature, were not calculated to make the people commit violence, 11161-11164.

Thomas, Samuel. Carpenter, Old Market-place, Cork; registered in November 1832; was valued on the supplementary valuation at 5*l.*; appealed, and was exempted, Lane 896.

Thompson, Major. Agent for Mr. Greville; he overheld several of the tenants' leases which were granted in 1828, Flood 8826, 8827—He allowed two years' rent to lay over, and then when two years' rent was due he called for one half year, Flood 8849.

Tighe, Mr. Chairman of the county of Longford; his character and political opinions, Courtenay 6664-6673—He has admitted persons who were struck out by the Committee of 1832, as well as others who had been rejected by his predecessor, Courtenay 6675-6703—He considers the claimant to be the best judge of the value of his property, Courtenay 6702, 6752—The effect of this decision has been that respectable persons will not come forward as witnesses, Courtenay 6734-6737—Cases that were struck off the register by the Committee of 1837 and re-admitted by him, Gardiner 8034-8037.—See also Beneficial Interest. Evidence. Re-registration of Voters.

Tithe Composition Act. The valutors appointed under this Act in Longford were very competent for the discharge of their duties; witness has not heard of any appeals from their decisions, Courtenay 6972.—The tithe valutors of Longford valued according to the full value of the property, Courtenay 7173-7181.—One pound per acre is charged as tithe on oats in Longford, Flood 8475.—Amount of the tithe composition varies in every barony, Rooney 11768-11774.—Total amount thereof in Ireland, Battersby 14315.—See also Granard Barony.

Tithe Valutors. The duty of the tithe valutors is to applot the sum assessed upon the parish, according to the quality of the land, having previously valued and classed the land, Flood 9428-9438.—See also Valutors.

Title. The objections made before the Committee on the Longford petition in 1832, to persons who voted at that election, and as not having a sufficient title to the property out of which they voted, were allowed by that Committee, Courtenay 6522-6523, 6525.—The objection made to voters on the ground of title was that they were registered as freeholders under a landlord who held for a term of years, Gardiner 7433.—Voters who had been struck out for want of title were allowed to re-register upon the very same leases which the Committee had decided were not a sufficient qualification, Gardiner 7439, 7440.—Supposed number of those struck out that have been allowed to re-register, Gardiner 7441, 7442.

Instances have occurred in Longford where the assistant barrister has refused to examine the lessor's title, when objections to that title were derived from the examination of the claimant, Gardiner 7897-7911.—The registering barristers never refused to receive evidence of the want of title of the landlord of the person who claimed to register; they refused to allow an illegal cross-examination, Daly 15502-15509.—Witness considers that he had as much right to inquire into the title of a person claiming to register, as he would have in cases of ejectment, Battersby 14030-14045.—It is improper to invalidate the title of the landlord upon cross-examination of a claimant, though it is not necessary for the landlord's title-deeds to be produced, Daly 15519-15536.

Under the Irish Reform Bill, no person is bound to produce the title-deeds of any landlord under whom he may hold, Kelly 14619, 14620, 14972, 14973, 14999, 15000.—But possession and the perception of rent is to be deemed prima facie evidence of the landlord's title, Kelly 14619, 14620.—This however does not prevent the cross-examination of the applicant, to ascertain whether his landlord has such a title or not, Kelly 14624-14641.—The fact of stopping the cross-examination of a witness by the registering barrister considered by witness as a proof of his refusing to receive evidence touching the title of the landlord, Kelly 14642-14656.

See also Ejectments. Leases.

Tobin, David. Lough-road, or Gallows Green-lane, Cork; he appears to be valued at 6*l.*; he registered in 1832; returned as "poor, &c.," immediately after the registration, till 1837, Lane 1146-1149.

Tobin, John. Publican, Leitrim-street; registered for Cork in 1832; his name is not in the valuations, Lane 896.

Tooney, James. Blacksmith, Cove-street, Cork; registered as a ten-pound householder in November 1832; his name is not in the valuation, Lane 896, 2019.—The value of his premises is about 6*l.*; could not have been worth 10*l.* in 1832; part is let out to lodgers, Young 2011, 2012, 2014-2018.—Registered in 1832, and voted in 1835 and 1837, Colburn 2013, 2020.—Pays a rent of 7*l.*; he has laid out 20*l.*; could get 12*l.* a year for it, Meagher 3366-3397, Gould 4403-4406.

Treasurers of Counties. Duties of the county treasurer, as regards the applotment of the county cess, Besnard 144-146, Lane 456.—Authority under which they act, and to whom responsible, Lane 458-468.

See also Valuation of Cork, I.

Tuite, Mr. Refused to go upon the lands of Granard, for the purpose of valuing them; he admitted there were no better lands in the county of Longford, Flood 8881.

Tuite, Mr. Higgins Town, Longford; was in very heavy arrears for rent; although he voted for the Conservative, he was pressed for his rent, Flood 8992-8995.

Tuite, John. Of Clóonagh; quantity of land held by him; amount of his rent; registered for Longford in 1832; his vote was struck off by the Committee of 1837, Flood 8527-8535, 8543.—He was struck off for insufficiency of value, Flood 8549.—His beneficial interest in the property occupied by him was worth at least 50*l.* or 60*l.* per year, Flood 8536-8542.

Tullamore, Town of. Amount of population; number of electors in that town, Daly 15193-15195, 15199, 15200.—Land in the town of Tullamore lets at 3*l.* or 4*l.* an acre, Daly 15298, 15299.

Turf.

Turf. Great many of the small landholders in King's county have a trade in turf; the canal running through there, many are employed in cutting turf for the purpose of having it sent to Dublin, Battersby 13733.

Turnbull, Joseph. Cat-lane, Cork; his house is worth 6*l.*; it is in very bad repair; it was never worth 10*l.*, Young 1963-1965. 1967-1978.—He registered in 1836, and voted in 1837, Colburn 1966, Meagher 3351.—Has been ejected since the election; no man could know or say what the value was when he voted from any view that can be had of it now, Meagher 3349-3362.

Uvedale, Anthony. Admitted a freeman of Cork, as the apprentice to a deputy postmaster, Meagher 4940-4943.—He was not admitted in right of servitude, but by favour; he was never sworn, and does not appear upon the roll of freemen, Besnard 4946.

V.

VALUATION OF CORK:

I. Generally.

II. At different Periods.

1. In 1828.
2. In 1832.
3. Supplementary Valuation in 1833.

III. Of the Liberties of Cork.

I. Generally:

The valuers may not have assessed all houses at 5*l.* which are worth as much, but they would not have omitted in their list any so high as 10*l.*, Besnard 374-383.—The same publicity is not afforded by the churchwardens as is given by witness to the valuation; printed copies are distributed by him, Lane 589-613.—In Cork from twenty to twenty-five per cent. under what the landlord might expect for rent, is the rate at which premises are generally valued for the purpose of local taxation, Young 1623-1630.—The county treasurer's book is a criterion of value in all cases, though it is not a criterion of payment; the valuation and the return of the constables have nothing to do with each other, Young 2712-2716.

The valuation for local taxation, as compared with the rent paid, is no criterion of value, Meagher 2810-2815.—It is the tenement and not the individual that is valued, and subject to taxation, Lane 4220.—The list delivered in by Mr. Lane of the houses registered, and not in the valuation, is no criterion of the value; they change names so frequently that it is impossible to trace them, Gould 4008. 4018-4020. 4286-4289.—Great desire for a revaluation of all description of property in Cork, from the improvements that have been made of late years, Meagher 4668, 4669.

II. At different Periods:

1. In 1828:

The last valuation of Cork before the Reform Bill was in 1828, Besnard 149-151.—That made in 1828 was made upon the principle of preceding juries, Gould 4134-4149.—The valuers of 1828 in some cases allowed thirty per cent. by way of abatement, Lane 4210.—There are a great many houses of the value of 10*l.* that ought to have been valued in 1828 which were not, Gould 4080-4090. 4100. 4105. 4225-4232.—Doubts as to the correctness of Mr. Gould's statement that the valuers of 1828 passed over hundreds of houses worth 10*l.* a year without valuing, Lane 4211-4218.—Very few houses of the value of 8*l.* solely occupied by the owner, but what were valued, Gould 4112-4124.

2. In 1832:

A valuation of Cork was made in 1832, immediately after the first registration, by order of the grand jury; that was of the city and suburbs, not of the liberties, Besnard 152-156, Lane 504-509.

3. Supplementary Valuation in 1833:

The valuation of Cork in 1833 was only supplementary to that of 1828, and included the houses newly built, Lane 469-473. 479, 480.—The valuation of 1833 was to include houses that had been built since or not included in former valuations, Lane 556, 557.—The supplementary valuation of 1833 was not correct; it brought in houses that had been improved between that and the former valuation, Meagher 3527-3530.—Supplementary valuation was made from political motives, Meagher 3544-3554.—Former valuations were made at about twenty per cent. less than the rack rent, Meagher 3531-3540.—New houses that called for valuation have not been valued up to the present time, Meagher 3562, 3563.

VALUATION OF CORK—continued.

III. Of the Liberties of Cork:

There has been no valuation of the liberties since 1822, Lane 504-509—Several complaints have been made of the valuation of the liberties; the valuation is a very unfair one, Lane 514-517—Tenements exempted from valuation, Lane 541.

VALUATORS:

1. In Cork.
2. In Longford.

1. In Cork:

By whom appointed; they are sworn before the recorder; they are paid by salaries, Lane 500-503—Copy of the appointment of valuers; it is signed by the foreman of the grand jury, Lane 542-555—Powers of the valuers to enter premises as defined by 53 Geo. 3, s. 9, Lane 620-622—There were no particular instructions given to the valuers in 1828, further than they should proceed to value all the houses fairly and relatively, Lane 4198-4200.

2. In Longford:

Those examined before the Committee of 1833 on the Longford Petition were principally persons who had been employed under the Tithe Composition Act; their valuations were made without any reference to elections, Gardiner 7420-7423.

VALUE OF PREMISES, &amp;c.:

1. Generally.
2. In Longford.
3. Opinions as to the Tests to be applied for the purpose of ascertaining it.

1. Generally:

Persons claiming the franchise frequently overstate the value of their holdings; they do not think that by that means they subject themselves to an increased rent; in Cork, Young 1469-1476—In Longford, Courtenay 7008, 7009—There is no point in which surveyors differ so much in opinion as in valuing land; surveyors brought up as witnesses generally go further than they ought for the party producing them, Battersby 14290-14295—Any investigation of value must be more or less open to this difficulty, Battersby 14295—In valuing farms witness generally allows five per cent. for the wear and tear of stock of any description, Clogher 10268-10273.

2. In Longford:

In no case can the county cess be made a criterion of the real value of property, Courtenay 6853-6859—Many of the claimants come forward under the impression that the actual value was what it was worth to the individual himself, Fosbery 13106—Repeated instances in which persons offer 10 l. profit to a claimant, without any intention of ever completing the offer, merely for the purpose of enabling him to swear that he has been offered that sum, &c., Battersby 14281-14290—In no instance could positive evidence be procured to contradict the claimant, though great pains was taken to procure such evidence, Julian 14789-14804—The evidence produced by the opposing party, as regarded the value of the claimant's land, &c. was of so vague and unsatisfactory a nature, that no judge could entertain it against the franchise, Daly 15346-15368.

Instances of persons being admitted to the register of Longford, who, on their own examination, could not prove that the land was worth more than the rent they paid for it, Gardiner 7936-7959—Instances in which persons in the Conservative interest in King's County have refused to take the affidavit as to value after they have passed the assistant barrister, Kelly 14424-14430, 14434-14437—Instances of the admission of applicants to the register not possessed of the requisite qualification in point of value, Kelly 15045-15060.

3. Opinions as to the Tests to be applied for the purpose of ascertaining it:

Payment of rates should be the prima facie test of value, Besnard 6303-6307—Sums produced by weekly lettings cannot be considered a fair criterion of the annual value Young 2639-2645—Some other test of value besides the oath of the claimant and others is very necessary; it would be preferable to take the payment of the county cess as a test than the 10 l. value, Fosbery 13106-13110—The payment of county cess, though not not a good test, would be much better than the present mode of ascertaining the value, Fosbery 13107—The least objectionable test of value is what it would let for in the market between landlord and tenant, Battersby 14295—The rating standard would unquestionably be the best test of value, Battersby 14296-14315.

Mr. Cosgreave took the value of the produce and deducted all expenses incidental to the cultivation; and if there remained a balance of 10*l.* over and above the expenses he registered the claimant, Daly 15098-15102—The same mode was adopted by Mr. Gibson, Daly 15158-15162—Witness's test of value is what the land is actually worth to the claimant over and above the rent reserved by the lease, Daly 15296-15325.

See also Cosgreave, Mr. Forty-shilling Freeholders. Gibson, Mr. King's County. Landlords and Tenants.

Vance, James. Registered for Longford out of sixteen acres, at 27*l.* a year, and two acres that he had rent-free, Courtenay 13259-13262. 13270-13273.

Vance, William. Registered for Longford on fifteen acres of land; rent 4*l.* 1*s.* 10*d.*, Courtenay 13259-13261. 13270-13273.

Verschoyle, William. Great Britain-street, Cork; description of premises occupied by him; they are worth 5*l.* a year, Young 2430, 2431. 2433, 2434.

Virchville, William. Broad cloth weaver, Great Britain-street, Cork; registered in November 1832; his name does not appear on the valuation books, Lane 896.

W.

Wages. In Longford, a man gets from 6*d.* to 8*d.* and 10*d.* per day, Clogher 9846—Average rate of, in Ireland, M'Gaver 12231—Amount of wages per day for labour in the country parts of Ireland, with and without diet, Clogher 9993-10000.

See also Labourers.

Wagget, Mr. His opinion that attornies' apprentices are not entitled to be admitted to the freedom of Cork, Besnard 4932, 4933.

Wagner, Jonas. Shoemaker, North Chapel-street, Cork; registered as a ten-pound householder; his name does not appear in any of the valuations, Lane 896.

Walker, Captain. A magistrate of Longford; he was present when a policeman fractured a man's skull, while endeavouring to enter the registry court; he did not take any notice of the transaction in the way of prosecution, Nicholls 10565-10575.

Wall, Walter. Shopkeeper, Barrack-street, Cork; valued at 6*l.* in 1828; returned as "rateable" in 1836; registered in November 1832, Lane 1115-1117.

Walsh, John. A tenant on the property of Lady Ross, in the parish of Cashel; he was dispossessed of his holding in 1833; amount of compensation allowed him, M'Gaver 12414.

Walsh, Nicholas. Slater, Great Britain-street, Cork; registered for Cork in 1832; valued in the supplementary valuation at 5*l.*; appealed, and was struck out, Lane 896.

War Leases. See Leases.

Ward, Mr. Was detained by the Conservatives at Foxhall till the election for Longford was over; he subsequently died of a broken heart; he always voted on the Liberal side, M'Gaver 12312. 12315-12318. 12322-12325.

"Waste" and "Poor." See Anne's, St., Shandon Parish, &c. &c.

Welsh, Richard. Carpenter, Beal's-alley; registered as a ten-pound householder for Cork; his name does not appear in any of the valuations, Lane 896.

Welsh, Thomas. Barrack-street, Cork; his house not worth more than 5*l.*, Young 1631-1633—Should not think it of sufficient value for the purpose of local taxation, Young 1634—His name does not appear in the valuations, Lane 1635—He registered and voted in 1832, Colburn 1636—And also in 1837, Meagher 3188-3190.

Wetherelt, Thomas Hurst. He registered for King's County as a rentcharger in June 1836; he admitted that he had only received one payment out of two years' rentcharge; he had never seen the lands, and did not know whether they were tenanted or not, Daly 15477. 15481-15485.

Westmeath. See Appeals, 4. Ellismith, Mr.

Wexford. According to the ancient usage of this borough, the mayor on going out of office appoints two freemen of his own choice; they are called "peculiar freemen," App. iii. p. 481.—See also Appeals, 4.

Whealan, William. Claimant to register for King's County as a ten-pound freeholder; he was objected to by the Conservatives; he produced no lease, but a paper so tattered, that it was impossible to judge of the purport or effect of it; it was quite illegible, Kelly 14448-14456.

White, Colonel. Of Longford; has let his lands at a much inferior value to what they were worth, for the purpose of making freeholders, M'Gaver 12666-12668.—Not more than two of his tenants were rejected; they were excellent tenants, Fosbery 13113-13115.—He did not extort from his tenants the utmost rent they were capable of paying; witness is of opinion that he gave them a good interest in their lands, Fosbery 13136-13139.

White, Mr. Evidence respecting the petition against his return in 1837; number of persons objected to on that occasion, and decisions of the Committee thereon, Courtenay 6757-6795.

White, Mr. Opinion that he lets his lands at 50 per cent. less than their value, Rooney, 11299-11316.

White, Luke. Of Longford; has let his lands at a much inferior value to what they were worth, for the purpose of making freeholders, M'Gaver 12666-12668.

White, Sheriff. Committed a billsticker to Cork bridewell, for posting up bills merely stating the state of the poll, Meagher 5089-5111.

White & Roake, Messrs. Petition against their return in 1832; objections delivered in to the Committee, and how disposed of, Courtenay 6513-6531.

Wicklow Registry Court. See Inspection of Deeds, &c., 3.

Wiggins, Jacob. Agent to Mr. Blackhall; he ought to be an experienced farmer, but it is very lately that he has had any great experience in the value of land; would not believe him on his oath, if he swore as he did to Sheridan's farms, Flood 9169-9177. 9179.

Willard, James. Stonecutter, Fair-lane; registered for Cork in 1832; valued at 5*l.* in the supplementary valuation; appealed, and was struck out, Lane 896.

Williams, William. Leather-stainer, Francis-street; registered as a ten-pound householder for Cork in 1832; was valued in the supplementary valuation; appealed against it; his appeal allowed, and he has not since been rated, Lane 896.

Wills. Mr. Gibson always required the production of the will, or an attested copy, in cases where the claimant preferred his title to registration under a will, Daly 15152-15157.

Witnesses. Class of persons who were called as witnesses on the part of the Conservatives of Longford, Courtenay 6708-6718.—Has heard that the Longford Election Committee of 1837 ordered, that some of the witnesses produced by the Liberal party should not be allowed again to appear as witnesses, Rooney 11662-11669.—Under the Irish Reform Act there is no possibility of enforcing the attendance of a witness; assistant barristers have frequently declined to compel persons in court to give testimony, Kelly 14970, 14971. 14980, 14981.—Some of those produced by the Conservatives, to contradict the claimants on the Liberal side as to the value of their farms, could not at all define the mears and bounds of the farm they were valuing, Daly 15163.

See also Daly, Patrick.

Wynne, Samuel. Baker, Cross-street, Cork; registered as a ten-pound householder for Cork; there is no trace of him in the valuation, Lane 896.

Young,

Young, John. (Analysis of his Evidence.)—Shopkeeper on the Grand Parade, in Cork, 1384—Appointed one of the valuers for Cork in 1833, 1393—Duties of the valuers, 1394-1398—Number of valuers; length of time employed, 1399-1400—District to which appointed, 1401—Evidence respecting the value of certain houses belonging to individuals who had registered as ten-pound householders, 1414-1473. 1477-1586—For election purposes, parties would most likely increase the value of their property, 1469-1476—Witness, in valuing these houses, has placed the outside value that any landlord could get for them, 1587-1596.

[Second Examination.]—Further evidence respecting the value of houses belonging to persons appearing on the register for Cork, 1597-1622. 1631-1681. 1688-1978. 1983-2285—From 20 to 25 per cent. under the amount a landlord might expect as rent, is the rate at which premises are generally valued for the purpose of local taxation, 1623-1630—Witness had no political motive in looking at the premises, in relation to which he was preparing to be examined, 1978-1983—Witness was accompanied by a person of the name of Sullivan, for the purpose of pointing out to him the residences of voters of a given value; examination thereon, 2286-2322.

[Third Examination.]—Further evidence respecting the value of houses belonging to persons on the register for Cork, 2325-2517—Witness commenced his survey after Christmas; time occupied therein, 2518-2523—Further evidence respecting the attendance of Mr. Sullivan, 2529-2541—Witness directed his attention principally to houses valued at and under 6*l.*, 2542-2545—Impossibility of valuing the forty-shilling freeholders, on account of the difficulty of ascertaining their rents, 2547—Cases of Barry and Mahony, two forty-shilling freeholders, voting out of the same house, 2548-2594—Examination respecting certain freeholders, who voted at the last election; value of freehold, &c., 2595. 2622—Case of Cornelius Kelly, 2623-2638.

Sums produced by weekly lettings cannot be considered a fair criterion of the annual value, 2639-2645—Witness would willingly take off one-third of the weekly rent, to let his property by the year to a solvent tenant, 2646-2657—Many houses in the city of Cork, above the value of 10 l., have been exempted by the grand jury under the local Act, as being let out in separate apartments to poor families, 2661-2684—Instance of the grand jury refusing an appeal, lodged by witness against the valuation of one of his houses, 2670-2676. 2688-2699—Great difference of opinion as to effect of the last Grand Jury Act, 2700-2711—The treasurer's book is a criterion of value in all cases, though it is not a criterion of payment; the valuation, and the return of the constables, have nothing to do with each other, 2712-2716.

[Fourth Examination.]—Evidence as to the respectability of the parties signing a certificate attached to the declaration of John Sullivan, denying the charge of keeping a brothel, 5142-5173.

Young, Mr. One of the valuers in the supplementary valuation of 1833; he valued houses that other parties did not consider ought to be valued, Meagher 3518-3526.
